Congress Ready to Aid Business Recovery

HUNT FOR WAYS TO DISPEL FEAR OF GOVERNMENT

Cool to Program of President.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Views of senators and representatives flocking into Washington for the extraordinary sessions of congress beginning tomorrow indicate a deepening distrust of Roosevelt social and economic panaceas and spreading opposition to further experiments in collectivism.

On every side the discussion centers not on the passage of the bills for which the President called congress back to Washington but on the formulation of other measures calculated to undo the mistakes of the Roosevelt economics, encourage private enterprise, and thereby check the new depression that is gripping the country.

Increasing demand for repeal or radical modification of the Roosevelt taxes on business, particularly the undistributed earnings tax, bids fair to force action at the extraordinary session notwithstanding the effort of the administration to postpone all tax legislation to the regular session beginning Jan. 3.

Interest in Program Wanes.

Coupled with the insistence on immediate tax relief for business is a waning interest in measures on the President's program for this session, particularly the minimum wage and maximum hour bill and the seven TVA bills. There also is stiffened urban opposition to the crop control bill with its promise of higher food prices.

Intense interest attaches to the message the President will send to congress tomorrow, a message upon which he was putting the finishing touches tonight. There is interest not so much in what he will say in recommending passage of the crop control, wage and hour, government reorganization, and nation-wide TVA bills, for which he called the session, as in what he will say regarding the steps he is taking to rescind previous radical measures and reassure the business community that private enterprise for profit is to be encouraged by the government.

In this category fall the lightening of the tax burden of business, in regard to which the President already has tacitly agreed to a retreat from Moscow, the encouragement of private capital to embark in widespread residential building, relief for the railroads, and a peace settlement with the pubic utilities which is to be discussed at a conference Mr. Roosevelt will have with utility executives this week.

Boast Impossible Now.

It will be the first message in which the President will not be able to boast of the prosperity his administration has brought the country. The new depression that has been deepening for the last five weeks has turned all such "pointing with pride" a little sour. Irreverent persons are beginning to ask if we have been visited with this new depression because he "planned it that way," as Mr. Roosevelt said of the degree of recovery a few years ago. This loss of prestige suffered by himself and his policies is widely surmised to be the reason that Mr. Roosevelt chose not to appear personally before congress tomorrow to deliver his message.

Congress will meet under circumstances far different from those that caused the President to call it into extraordinary session. Never before has there been recorded a more dramatic turn of the political kaleidoscope in so short a time. When the last session of congress adjourned the President had suffered a great humiliation in the defeat of his court packing bill by his own party. Shortly thereafter he became the butt of ridicule when Hugo Black, whom he had appointed to the Supreme court as an outstanding liberal, was exposed as a former member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Western Trip Recalled.

To repair his prestige and take the public mind off the Black affair the President set out on a tour, choosing the northwest, the population of

FASCISM FOUND RULING EUROPE IN MANY GUISES

Individuals, Small Groups Govern.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—American statesmen, politicians, students, and others who have been investigating Europe this summer have been struck by the fact that, to a growing extent, outward forms of government in European states do not correspond with what actually governs them. Government, if for and of the people, is not "by the people" in most countries any more.

Leaving aside the purely dictator states, most European states are republics or constitutional monarchies with a bicameral legislative system. But actually this is not the governing machinery.

Theory runs far away from practice and nearly everywhere there is a tendency for government to become the function of a little centralized group which pulls the strings and gets things done apart from legislative committees or machinery.

Fascist Tendency Widespread.

In other words there is a distinct tendency to Fascism everywhere. Britain is professedly a democracy with parliamentary rule. Actually it is a Venetian oligarchy. Groups of interests and a few powerful and determined men—former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, Montagu Norman, Lord Derby, and the archbishop of Canterbury, to mention a few—are more powerful than parliament. Witness the duke of Windsor's forced abdication.

In the house of commons last March opposition leaders complained that the government had gone Fascist. The government group was accused of trying to force its projects through the house without giving members time to examine or approve them, along the lines of Mussolini's practice in Italy.

Democracy here is typically English. It does not resemble the French or American brand. Democracy in England dispenses its favors more to those with claims to social standing than to intelligence, merit, or ability.

A Powerful Burocracy.

Equality of opportunity does not exist here for all alike. This is translated into the English system of government which consists of a powerful and usually efficient burocracy recruited from among "old school ties." Parliament is taking more and more a back seat in influencing public affairs. Government officials are running things as would a group of experts in the management of a commercial company. Only recently Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in fact announced that in the future government would be called upon more to give a guiding hand to business and industry.

Little groups of determined men, as President Wilson once designated them, virtually govern in a long list of other European countries, too, even where there is not an outright reversion to dictatorship or proclaimed Fascism.

Aim at Italian Model.

The Balkan group is an example. In Greece and Bulgaria you have dictatorships with kings as formal heads of the states but power resting on the army. In Greece parliament has been abolished. Laws are enacted by royal decree. Political parties are abolished. This is an interim. Gen. John Metaxas, the real Greek dictator, wants to set up eventually a corporative state, Italian model.

In Bulgaria it is much the same. Parliament has been dissolved; political parties are forbidden; laws are decreed.

Jugo-Slavia has done away with its one man dictatorship. It has a two chamber legislature. But Premier Milan Stoyadinovich's government runs to strong centralization. The diverse elements of the state perhaps would not hold together without it. In fact, political parties there are forbidden, too, if they are based on regional, tribal, or religious divisions.

In Hungary and Rumania parliaments survive, but strong Fascist tendencies are developing, and govern-

THE MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Two Princeton university sophomores have undertaken the ambitious and purely altruistic task of shortening the distressing gap which separates the "lonely hearts" of Princeton and Vassar.

It is all done by mail through the Lonely Hearts club, formed by Robert M. Brandin of Rockville Center, N. Y., and William E. Gilroy of Elizabeth, N. J., who emphasize that there absolutely is no charge for whatever might be accomplished by their heart serving "introductions" organization.

Romances Are Budding.

Three weeks ago in the columns of the Vassar Miscellany, campus newspaper, the following advertisment appeared: "Hundreds of men are lonely in Princeton. Are you lonely, too? Find your postbox lover by writing the Lonely Hearts club, 121 Little hall, Princeton, N. J. No fee. Everything confidential."

The response to the notice was almost immediate, it was said, although the number of letters received was not announced. The sophomore entrepreneurs report that "so far the plan is very successful, with several potential romances already under way."

The letters mailed to the club, after being brought to the attention of interested Princetonians, are filed for future reference with any other essential information.

Girls Describe Themselves.

The first epistle filed in reply to Vassar queries contains an introduction written by one of the club founders. In the majority of the Vassar letters the girl correspondents furnish thumbnail descriptions of themselves.

"It is not a joke, because there are too many letters," Brandin said today in discussing his organization. "However, the club is not out to make any money or anything like it. It acts as an introduction service for desirous parties in both institutions."

Inasmuch as the response from Vassar students has been "gratifying," the club within the next fortnight plans to extend its sphere of operation to include Smith, Wellesley, and Bryn Mawr colleges.

MR. FARLEY: GRAND COULEE IS A DAM SITE BEYOND WISCONSIN

Wenatchee, Wash., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Sherif Tom Cannon, who guided James A. Farley from the Grand Coulee dam to Wenatchee when the postmaster general dedicated the postoffice here, had a letter today from Farley addressed to "Sherif Tom Cannon, Wenatchee, Wis."

Slightly puzzled, Cannon remarked: "I wonder where Mr. Farley thinks the Grand Coulee dam is located."

"It was a real pleasure to meet you on my recent trip to Wisconsin," quoted the letter writer.

To which Cannon replied, "I'll bet it was."

'MEAT STRIKES' IN MICHIGAN PERPLEX C. I. O.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 14.—(AP)—"Meat strikes" by members of the women's auxiliary of the United Automobile Workers' union in several Michigan cities brought dissension today in the ranks of the C. I. O.

In Flint, where auxiliary members started an "eat no meat" campaign yesterday protesting the cost of meat, members of the United Food Handlers' union, also a C. I. O. affiliate, charged the U. A. W. was attempting "a reversal of the laws of economics."

The plea of Homer Martin, U. A. W. international president, to U. A. W. locals throughout the country to follow the example of the auxiliary members brought a sharp retort from R. K. Thompson, president of the Food Handlers' union in Flint.

"The fact that any such cut in prices necessarily would mean still lower wages is of course unimportant," Thompson said. "Wages and prices rise together . . . they gradually adjust themselves to each other. Remember, they decrease together also."

CLOSE MICHIGAN AVE. TODAY NEAR LOOP FOR PAVING

Michigan avenue from the Chicago river to the north line of Ohio street will be closed today for resurfacing. Otto K. Jelinek, park district trafic engineer, said the work will take about five days.

Automobile trafic will be detoured over the outer drive or over streets west of Michigan avenue. North side buses will be detoured over the Wabash avenue bridge.

Flyers Aid Sea Rescue of 15 from Sharks

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—After a 30 hour fight against raging seas and a school of sharks which had surrounded the wreckage to which they were clinging, thirteen sailors of the lost Greek freighter Tzenny Chandris were rescued today by the coast guard cutter Mendota. The Greek vessel foundered early yesterday in the "graveyard of ships" off Cape Hatteras.

So far 21 of the crew of the Tzenny Chandris, including the captain, have been found alive. The bodies of four others have been recovered and three, believed to be almost certainly dead, are missing.

Navy Flyers Sight Sailors.

To a navy aviator, Lieut. A. C. Keller, belongs most of the credit for the rescue of the beleaguered thirteen. One of seven naval aviators sent out to search for the crew, he first sighted the wreckage late in the afternoon.

"I noticed," he said, "that the sailors were splashing the water at intervals. There seemed to be no sense to their actions. But as I dropped lower I saw the reason. The sharks were charging up close to the wreckage and apparently were waiting eagerly for some of the sailors to fall into the water. I power dived several times, going close to the water, in an attempt to frighten the sharks. Perhaps it worked."

The lieutenant then turned back to the Mendota, which was twelve miles away, and led it with smoke bombs to the scene. He said that he saw the sharks eating pigs and poultry that had been carried by the freighter for fresh meat supplies.

Crew Composed of 28 Men.

Two members of the crew and the bodies of several others were found by another aviator, Lieut. R. L. Burke. They also were taken on the Mendota. Six of the crew, in a lifeboat, previously had been taken from the sea by the Mallory tanker Swiftsure. The crew, naval authorities learned, was composed of either 28 or 29 men.

The story of the sinking of the Tzenny Chandris was told by the mate. He said that a ventilator was carried away by high seas early Saturday and that as water poured into the hold the crew fought desperately at the pumps. Their efforts were futile and the vessel, loaded with scrap iron, began to sink slowly. Then the cargo shifted and the order to abandon ship was given.

Nearly 200 students of Beloit college, Beloit, Wis., were imperiled and terrified and a railway fireman was fatally injured last night when a football special train of the Milwaukee railroad crashed at high speed into a stalled automobile just south of Lincoln avenue, in Morton Grove.

The heavy train plowed on for more than 200 feet, digging up ties and tearing rails. Then the locomotive and tender overturned. The baggage car, immediately behind the tender, and two of the attached four passenger coaches left the rails. The fireman, Henry G. Timmer, 31 years old, 4835 Ferdinand street, was pinned under the tender.

Tossed About in Coaches.

The Beloit students, most of them girls, who were going home from Saturday's football game with the University of Chicago, were tossed about in their seats and in the ailes, but slight bruises and a five minute panic was the extent of their injuries.

A few minutes before the train entered the crossing, Elmer Fortney, 30 years old, 6535 Woodlawn avenue, a painter, started to drive his automobile west in Lincoln avenue across the Milwaukee tracks. With him were Mr. and Mrs. John Parker, 2840 North Albany avenue, and the Parker children, John and Marylin.

Tire Blows Out.

As Fortney reached the crossing, which is protected by signals, a rear tire blew out, and his car, out of control, shot south on the northbound tracks, turned around and came to a stop 100 feet south. Mrs. Parker and the children got out and Fortney and Parker tried to push the car off the rails. Robert Bohn of Glenview tried to help them, but the car was wedged too firmly.

Suddenly the three men saw the Beloit football special come up from the south. Fortney saw the danger to the train, and yelled for another last minute effort. This effort failed, and with only seconds to spare, the men leaped to one side.

Hasn't Time to Stop.

Engineer Edward Bickel, 3015 Logan boulevard, had made out the dim red taillight of the stalled car from several hundred feet away, and he applied the emergency brakes, meanwhile warning his fireman, Timmer, to hold fast. There wasn't time to avoid a crash, and with brakes screeching the heavy train swept into the stalled machine, knocked it to one side, and bounced along the ties.

The train jolted across Lincoln avenue and came to a banging stop as the locomotive and tender overturned. Timmer was scalded and crushed; Bickel was bruised and dazed. The four coaches carrying the Beloit students were scenes of confusion.

"The shock was terrific," said Ell Henry, a Beloit senior. "We were going at a good clip when suddenly

CITY IS ASSURED $4,500,000 TO IMPROVE PARKS

Lincoln District to Get Million.

BY HAL FOUST.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, announced from New York last night that Washington government officials had informally approved a Chicago parks improvement program calling for a Works Progress administration expenditure of $4,500,000, of which $1,000,000 will go to Lincoln park. He predicted official confirmation of his announcement shortly.

Robert J. Dunham.

The huge program will give employment to 10,000 men on relief rolls, include a general rehabilitation of small parks and landscaping of Burnham park, and insure major improvements for motor trafic.

Street to Be Cut Across.

Lincoln park, as the chief beneficiary of the program, will undergo a decided change at the south end. According to Ralph H. Burke, park district engineer, La Salle street is to be cut across the park to a grade separation at Lake Shore drive, and a new pavement for Lake Shore drive will be laid from this separation in the old lagoons to North avenue.

Lake Shore drive farther north, between Belmont avenue and Byron street, is to receive an additional slab, making three driveways, the one to the west for two way local trafic and each of the others for one way express trafic.

Remove Trafic Obstacle.

The new pavements for the north side will remove serious bottlenecks from Chicago's lake front express highway. Also, it will open up the north end of La Salle street to give motorists their first full benefits from this $12,000,000 widening of eight years ago. The Lincoln park program may also remove the present handicap to through trafic at the intersection of Oak street, Lake Shore drive, and Michigan avenue.

"Almost as important as the benefits to trafic from this revamping of Lincoln park," said Mr. Burke, "will be the benefits to recreational usage of the park. There will no longer be a heavy stream of trafic in Stockton drive, on the west edge of the park, hampering accessibility to playgrounds, flower gardens, and the zoo. Winding driveways designed in horse and buggy days are to be removed, increasing the area for recreation."

Expect to Correct Flaws.

From North avenue to Byron street, where Sheridan road turns west from Lake Shore drive, control of rush hour trafic has been eccentric since May of 1935. The volume of the trafic has been too great for normal regulation to move the automobile over the inadequate pavement. These difficulties will be ended when the new pavements are opened.

These eccentricities aid southbound trafic in the morning rush and northbound trafic in the evening rush, but at the expense of damming trafic bound against the rush. In Lincoln park this counter movement is detoured to narrow and winding Stockton drive, already overcrowded with its load from La Salle street.

Plan to End Blockade.

Farther north, between Belmont avenue and Byron street, in morning and evening rush hours, eight lanes are given over to the heavier travel demands, leaving only two lanes for automobiles and passenger cars to creep in the counter movement. The daily blockade at Byron street will be eliminated by carrying the turn from the express drives a block farther north to Irving Park boulevard, where there is a grade separation.

With the opening of the new outer link bridge the Oak street intersection has throttled Michigan avenue and choked the new express routes, Mr. Burke said that this problem may be solved, or at least relieved, with next year's construction. The grade separation located at Lake Shore drive and the extension of La Salle street might also provide a connection between the outer drive and local Lake Shore drive pavement leading to Michigan avenue, reducing the use of the Oak street connection by express traffic or possibly eliminating it entirely.

On the south side Jeffery avenue is to be widened south from Jackson park as a new arterial connection with Indianapolis boulevard by way of South Chicago avenue. This will relieve congestion on Chicago's gateway to Indiana via South Shore drive, Burley, Mackinaw, and Ewing avenues.

Parks to Be Landscaped.

The landscaping of Burnham park includes laying a water system for drinking fountains and for sprinkling. Black dirt, grass, shrubbery, and trees will cover the scars left by A Century of Progress and the rocks, gravel, sand, and dirt from the fill which raised this land from the waters of Lake Michigan.

On the west side the many small parks merged into the consolidated district in 1934 are to be brought up to the standard of Lincoln, Jackson, and Garfield parks. Field houses are to be built and trees, shrubs, and lawns planted. Swimming pools are to be completed in Garfield and Humboldt parks.

SPECIAL SQUADS HUNT KILLERS OF 2 BUSINESS MEN

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan last night assigned special detective squads to the west and south sides to hunt the members of robbery gangs who killed two business men and wounded a third Saturday night.

Harry Rubin [top] and J. T. Parker.

John T. Parker, 57 years old, 3618 65th place, was killed when he resisted three robbers in his filling station at 523 South Oakley boulevard. Harry Rubin, 31, of 6220 Eberhart avenue was killed and his brother, Sam, his partner in a poultry store at 118 East 51st street, was wounded when Sam resisted a holdup by two colored bandits just after they had left their store. One of the robbers started shooting, killing Harry and wounding Sam.

LAST BRADY GANG GUNMAN TO FACE U. S. COURT TODAY

James Dalhover, only survivor of the notorious Al Brady gang, will be arraigned today at Hammond, Ind., before Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick on an indictment charging him with the murder of State Policeman Paul Minneman during the robbery of the Goodlands, Ind., State bank last May 25.

James Dalhover.

Guarded by 3 carloads of heavily armed Indiana state police and department of justice agents, the gangster will be taken from Indianapolis to Hammond early in the morning.

Dalhover last week was reported to have announced that he will plead guilty. Should he enter that plea Judge Slick may impose sentence after a brief hearing.

The court may mete out the death sentence under the recent enactment of congress, which provides that penalty for murder in connection with the robbery of a bank insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation. Minneman was fatally wounded while pursuing the gang after they had robbed the bank of $2,668.

Rerouting Lincoln Park Trafic for 1938

This third pavement to be laid in Lake Shore drive will eliminate the eccentric rush hour system now in operation.

OWNER TO NAME NEGOTIATOR FOR LAND AT AIRPORT

Another step in straightening out the tangle which has prevented enlargement of the Chicago airport will be taken today.

Raymond E. Herman, owner of property needed in relocating tracks of the Chicago and Western Indiana railway so that the airfield can be extended, said yesterday that he will name a negotiator today in his interests. This man will join with the city's negotiator, John R. O'Connor, real estate broker, in choosing a third man—the three to agree on a price for Herman's rights.

Herman owns a tract of 105 acres now bisected by the Indiana Harbor Belt line. The C. & W. I. has agreed to move its tracks northward from 59th to approximately 54th street on the Herman property and paralleling the Indiana Harbor Belt line. This would permit enlargement of the airport to a full square mile.

Car Rams Its Way Through House; Wakes 6, Hurts 1

Youngstown, O., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The household of James Stafford, in nearby Hubbard, was aroused from its Sunday morning sleep by an automobile. The car plowed through three rooms of the house, then came to a stop against a bed where three persons were sleeping. When the six members of the Stafford family took stock of the situation, they found—a badly damaged home, but only one injury among them, a broken rib suffered by James Stafford, 17.

WEST SIDE FIRST TO BENEFIT BY TRACTION PLAN

Randolph St. Highway to Be Initial Step.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

(Maps on Back Page.)

The first section of elevated superhighway provided for in Mayor Kelly's traction program would be completed within two years after the adoption of the plan, city engineers at work on the construction schedules announced yesterday. Construction would be started in Randolph street—one of the superhighways designed to serve the west side of the city.

The program, under the 157 million dollar transit plan, calls for completion during the first twenty-four months of a six lane Randolph street elevated highway extending from Jefferson street, just west of the Chicago river, to Paulina street, where connections are to be made with Warren avenue and Washington boulevard.

Nearly three-quarters of the twenty mile network of west side elevated superhighways would be completed during the third year and the remainder by the end of the fourth year.

Report Ready Nov. 22.

A report on the full details of Mayor Kelly's plan is to be ready by Nov. 22. It is being prepared by Philip Harrington, special engineer for the city council's local transportation committee and will contain the following schedule for construction of elevated highways and subways:

FIRST TWO YEARS: Construction of the Randolph street elevated highway and two street car subways under Jackson boulevard and Washington street from points west of the Chicago river to terminals in Grant park.

THIRD YEAR: Conversion of the Douglas park, Paulina street, Logan Square, and Humbolt park branches of the "L" lines into superhighways and construction of additions to coordinate the system.

FOURTH YEAR: Discontinuance of the elevated railway on Lake street and its conversion into a superhighway.

FIFTH AND SIXTH YEARS: Construction of the State street subway to carry the north and south side elevated lines under the downtown business district. This would be followed by removal of the Lake street and Wabash avenue sections of the union loop.

Call Relief Need Greatest.

City engineers explain that the west side improvements are scheduled first because the west, southwest and northwest districts are in the greatest need of transit relief. Although construction of the State street subway is not scheduled until the fifth and sixth years it can be undertaken earlier. Engineers say that too much of the city might be inconvenienced at one time if work on the north and south subway were started before the west side projects are completed.

It is necessary to construct the street car subways in Jackson boulevard and Washington street before converting west side elevated structures. Unless this is done east-west street cars could not be removed from the surface in the downtown business district to clear the streets for new bus lines from the western part of the city.

A major street paving program would be undertaken on the west side simultaneously with building of the Randolph street superhighway and the street car subways. This would make possible adequate bus service for present west side elevated riders while the structures were being converted into highways.

Modernization to Go On.

The major part of the rehabilitation program to be carried out by a new company operating a unified transit system would be completed during this period of public construction. The company program calls for total expenditures of 99 million dollars. The public program would cost 58 million dollars.

Immediately after a settlement is reached between the city and the companies operating the present traction properties, the new unified company would begin a huge modernization program to be carried out over a nine year period.

Rehabilitation of the north and south side divisions of the elevated and the Garfield park branch, the only west side elevated line to be retained in rail operation under the Kelly plan, would begin at once.

New rolling stock for the elevated is an important part of the program. Gradually, wooden cars would be replaced with modern steel equipment.

The surface modernization program would be going on at the same time. Buses would be substituted for street cars on many lines and new express bus lines would be established to provide fast service to regions now without rapid transit facilities. Street car equipment would also be brought up to date.

MAYORS TO ASK FOR LONG RANGE RELIEF PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—City officials arriving for the annual United States conference of mayors, which begins tomorrow, predicted that the representatives of 150 cities would advocate a national long-range relief program.

A permanent relief administration, to coöperate with cities, is necessary, officials of the conference said. They expressed belief that members of congress would support the proposal "because they are sick of having to fight over relief every year."

Some of the mayors said they would favor any federal program that set up a stable policy to be followed in handling the needy. Early arrivals said the relief problem in the country is "spotty" now. While some sections are much better off than they have been in recent years, several cities face "a serious relief problem."

PRESIDENT ASKS CO-OPERATION IN JOBLESS COUNT

Cure for Unemployment Is Goal, He Asserts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The permanent cure of the unemployment problem lies in finding jobs in industry and agriculture and not in unemployment relief, President Roosevelt declared tonight.

In a fireside chat to the nation from the oval room of the White House, Mr. Roosevelt urged the nation's unemployed to help make the jobless census, which the postoffice department will undertake Tuesday, complete, honest and accurate.

"When we have ascertained the full facts of unemployment, we can extend the voluntary and neighborly character of this effort to the task of finding the solution to the perplexing problem," he said. "Its importance justifies a national approach, free from prejudice or partisanship and warants the coöperative endeavors of business, of labor, of agriculture, and of government."

See Word of Assurance.

In pointing toward a permanent cure of the unemployment problem through industrial coöperation rather than by continued federal spending, Mr. Roosevelt was seen to be offering a word of assurance to business, groggy under the burden of federal punitive taxes and uncertainty of the administration's programs.

To some extent the President was believed to have set himself in line with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, who, during the week, called for an end to pump priming and balancing of the federal budget through a 700 million dollar slash in federal expenditures.

However, the President said, it is still the policy of his administration that no one shall starve. And he emphasized that America will not solve the unemployment problem as many countries are doing—by huge armament programs.

"Galling Problems."

"Enforced idleness, embracing any considerable portion of our people, in a nation of such wealth and natural opportunity is a paradox that challenges our ingenuity and national opportunity," he said. "Unemployment is one of the bitter and galling problems of mankind.

"It has been with us, in a measure, since the beginning of our industrial era. It has been accentuated by the complexity of business and industry, and it has been made more acute by the depression.

"It has made necessary the expenditure of billions of dollars for relief and for publicly created work; it has delayed the balancing of our national budget and increased the tax burden of our people. In addition to the problem faced by the national government our states and local governments have been sorely pressed to meet the increased load resulting from unemployment."

Opposes Arms Solution.

After blaming unemployment for the nation's ills Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that the problem is not this country's alone, but one which confronts every civilized nation. He held solution by starting a huge armament program to be un-American and unemployment relief to be merely a temporary cure.

"The permanent cure lies in finding suitable jobs in industry and agriculture for all willing workers," he said. "It involves coöperative effort and planning, which will lead to the absorption of this unused man power in industry. Such planning calls for facts which we do not now possess.

In the past few years various estimates of the unemployed have been made, Mr. Roosevelt said, but none has provided sufficient factual data on which to base a comprehensive reëmployment program. He urged coöperation in the coming census because it is being conducted in the American way.

He called on all the unemployed or partly employed to fill out the 14 question postcard which mail men will leave at the doors Tuesday morning and return it by Nov. 20.

Believes Way Can Be Found.

"I am confident that this nation of ours has the genius to reorder its affairs, and possesses the physical resources to make it possible for every one, young or old, to enjoy the opportunity to work and earn," he concluded. "There is neither logic nor necessity for one-third of our population to have less of the needs of modern life than make for a decent living.

"Endowed as our nation is, with abundant physical resources, and inspired as it should be with the high purpose to make those resources and opportunities available for the enjoyment of all, we approach this problem of reëmployment with the real hope of finding a better answer than we have now."

EDNA DUNHAM PLANT.

MARJORIE KING.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edna Dunham Plant will charge in her pending divorce suit that one of the largest fortunes in America has been juggled out of her grasp. She contends that her husband, Phil Plant, has transferred several million dollars to his mother, Mrs. William Hayward. Edna asks Mrs. Hayward what has happened to the money.

As recently as last Friday night, Edna was willing to settle out of court for $250,000. Plant's offer was $150,000.

An so, on Saturday, Edna went back to her original demand of a million and filed one of the most spectacular documents ever entered in a divorce case—an eighteen page bill of particulars accusing her playboy husband of being more than friendly with actresses, of plotting to take her life, of conspiring with his mother to humiliate her and of indulging himself in a perennial binge that lasted most of their three years of marriage.

Among others she named Marjorie King, who gave up a Hollywood career to wait for Plant's freedom.

RABBI DECLARES HIS RACE OWES DEBT TO CHRIST

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A noted rabbi last night appealed to American Jews to acknowledge their gratitude to the founder of Christianity for having made the ancient Hebrew God available to the whole world instead of the property of Israel alone. The rabbi is Dr. Ferdinand Isserman of St. Louis, who spoke before the Sunday Evening club.

It was believed by leaders of the club over which Clifford W. Barnes presides that not since Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York startled the American synagogue with his tribute to Jesus several years ago, has an accredited Jewish teacher expressed publicly such a favorable appraisal of Christianity's founder. Rabbi Wise, despite his great popularity, was severely criticised for his statement.

Rabbi Isserman told his Christian hearers that he was speaking on his own authority as an individual Jew and added that no doubt many leading Jews would disagree with him even though his opinion was based on extensive studies.

"Only in a land of freedom and democracy is it possible for me to say that, as a Jew, I am proud of Jesus," he said. "Therein lies the beauty and grandeur of America; that I can stand here today in a service of worship and speak before Christians what I feel about Jesus."

Rabbi Isserman declared that Jesus' teaching embodies the religious ideals of the ancient synagogue, and he appealed for coöperative action of both faiths in overcoming godless dictators.

"In these days of godless dictators the church and synagogue cannot afford the luxury of quarreling, said Dr. Isserman. "Jesus carried on in his life and teachings the prophetic heritage of the synagogue. Let church and synagogue interpret the life of Jesus as they will, but let them unite in the religion of Jesus.

"His religion was the faith in one God, a religion of love and justice, of peace and brotherhood, of noble prayer. It is the spiritual property and legacy of both Jew and Christian. Every Jew should be grateful to Jesus. If it had not been for him, who knows what the fate of the God-idea of Israel would have been."

BRITISH OFFICIAL GIVEN ORDERS FOR TALK WITH HITLER

Nazis Deny Seeking Deal for "Free Hand."

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain interrupted the week-end calm tonight to consult with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, just back from Brussels, and the lord president of the council [vice premier], Viscount Halifax, on the latter's projected visit to Berlin this week.

Lord Halifax will leave England Wednesday despite suggestions that the trip be postponed and angry comment in the German press over reports in London that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler was prepared to keep quiet on the question of colonies for ten years in return for a free hand in central Europe—a situation which would bring to the fore Hitler's aims toward Czechoslovakia.

Significantly it was recalled that a similar outburst occurred before Sir John Simon, then foreign secretary, planned to go to Berlin in 1935. The sequel was that Hitler was seized with a "diplomatic" cold and Simon postponed the visit.

The German press statements, although understood to be inspired by Nazi party authorities, were held by officials here to require no change in arrangements for the Halifax visit. The discussions between Chamberlain, Eden, and Halifax were designed to instruct Halifax on just how far he can go when he meets Hitler and German Air Minister Colonel General Hermann Wilhelm Goering in Berlin.

Has No Power to Negotiate.

It is emphasized that Lord Halifax will not have power to negotiate with the Nazi chiefs and will merely "explore" the problems hampering Anglo-German relations. He will report to the British cabinet on his return.

At the same time it was revealed that Lord Halifax accepted the invitation to Goering's hunting exhibition as a pretext for diplomatic talks at the direct bidding of Chamberlain, who saw in it a chance of establishing a closer personal contact between Hitler and the British government without unnecessary formality. Goering, who is the reich master of the hunt, has arranged an exhibition of hunting trophies.

It was understood the idea of a similar visit by Capt. Eden or another high personage to Rome has been received coolly and that the trip is not likely to materialize at once. The British bait there was to have been dangling the possibility of recognition of the Italian conquest of Ethiopia before Mussolini's eyes.

Czechoslovakia in Hitler's Plans.

The British had got into such a state of nerves over Germany's demands for a return of colonies that something had to be done.

Whether the British could consider such a bargain as Hitler was reported to have offered is another matter. There is little danger they would do anything if Germany marched into Czechoslovakia. But if it involved France, as it almost undoubtedly would in the end, the British would have a hard time to keep clear.

Czechoslovakia, which for a thousand years has been the battle ground of Teutons and Slavs, has nonaggression pacts with both France and Russia—the latter pact being a point the Germans might seize upon in their campaign against communism.

Moreover, the largest minority group of Germans in Europe is in Czechoslovakia. The 15,000,000 population of the nation born of the Versailles treaty includes [by the 1930 census] 7,450,000 Czechs, 3,320,000 Germans, 2,310,000 Slovaks, 720,000 Hungarians, 569,000 Ruthenians or Ukrainians, 100,300 Poles, 33,000 gypsies, 14,100 Rumanians, and in addition to smaller groups.

The German press has maintained a persistent campaign against Czechoslovakia and Nazi agitators have been busy building up the Sudeten German [Nazi] group within Czechoslovakia.

There are a number of points which the British want the Nazis to clear up. Chief among those answers which Halifax will be after is just what the three power anti-communist pact means. [Germany, Japan, and Italy have joined in an agreement against communist internationale.]

It might mean nothing more than that Germany, Italy, and Japan would help each other in case of war with Russia. But the wording allows it to mean they could turn on France in case the communists gained strength there or even on the British if the innocuous British Labor party returned to power.

Then the British want to know just why Hitler intervened in Spain when, obviously, the Spanish civil war did not directly affect Germany.

The chief reason the British resent German aid to the Spanish rebels is that they always felt the real object was to help weaken Britain in the Mediterranean.

The greatest obstacle to an Anglo-German agreement is Germany's friendship with Italy. The British feel Premier Mussolini deliberately is threatening their "empire lifeline."

Czechoslovakia Again Pawn of Desires

Czechoslovakia again has become the object of diplomatic dickering in central Europe. Her four provinces—Bohemia, Moravia, Slovakia, and Ruthenia—contain a population of 15,000,000, including several minority groups, of which the largest is the 3,320,000 Germans. Czechoslovakia lies across the path of nations of north Europe to Austria and Hungary as well the Balkans to the south.

YOUNGHUSBAND ABED; STRICKEN BY PNEUMONIA

St. Petersburg, Fla., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—J. Leslie Younghusband, Chicago cosmetics manufacturer, who took his fifth bride here in the early hours of Saturday morning in a ceremony delayed for four hours by two fights, a swimming party and general hilarity, tonight was abed, suffering from "the first stages of pneumonia."

Reports on the condition of Younghusband came from his bride, the former Mary Louise Uhlman of Grand Rapids, Mich., known in Chicago as Louise Lane, a dancer.

Younghusband is under $200 bond for trial next Saturday on a charge of assault and battery made by William Snyder, a reporter, who swore Younghusband smacked him on his face and injured his ear shortly before the wedding ceremony. Another reporter, P. C. Phillips, said Younghusband blacked his eye with a blow after he had been thrown into a swimming pool by one of the wedding guests.

Mrs. Shirley Stoller, who was Mrs. Younghusband No. 2, was a guest at the wedding with her father and mother. She said she saw no fighting and Younghusband earlier today said he had a recollection of having punched the reporters.

150 Film Monkeys Escape; Boys Join Hunt at $1 Head

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Schoolboys swarmed into the Belmont High school district of Los Angeles today for a monkey hunt at $1 a head. About 150 simians "working" in a Bing Crosby picture broke loose. Forty of them had been captured four hours later, but tonight most of them still were chattering away from high branches of trees in the neighborhood.

7 SLAIN, 14 HURT IN NEW RIOTING IN JERUSALEM

JERUSALEM, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Seven persons were killed and 14 injured today in renewed rioting between Arabs and Jews in Jerusalem as word came from northern Palestine that a call for an Arab revolt had been issued.

Six of those killed in the rioting here were Arabs. Eight Arabs and six Jews were injured. The disorders began early when two Arabs were killed and one Arab and four Jews injured in a clash between labor gangs.

Three Arabs were killed and five wounded when a Jerusalem to Jaffa bus was ambushed in the Mahneh Yehudah quarter. Two Jewish girls were wounded by shots from the bus.

Seize Painter on Florida Charges He Is Bomber

Victor Durbin, 43 years old, a painter, was arrested last night at the request of Miami, Fla., police, who forwarded to Chicago authorities a copy of an indictment charging him with bombings of apartment buildings there. Durbin, who admitted that he was in Miami from October, 1936, until March of this year, was taken to the detective bureau on crutches. He was seriously injured several weeks ago in a fall from a scaffold. Since his release from a hospital he has been residing with a brother at 2019 Seminary avenue.

JAPANESE CLOSE IN ON CAPITAL OF RICH PROVINCE

Take City in Shantung on Yellow River.

PEIPING, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Swift columns of Japanese infantry and cavalry were reported tonight to be closing in on Tsinan, capital of wealthy Shantung province and the only capital in North China that remains uncaptured.

A Japanese army statement said expiration of a thirty day period of grace, extended Shantung's governor, Gen. Han Fu-chu, in which to surrender, was the signal for resumption of warfare in the province.

The statement reported hard fighting along a fifty mile front had resulted in the capture of Tsiyang, a walled city on the Yellow river twenty miles northeast of Tsinan, and an advance from the northwest down the Tientsin-Pukow railroad to within fifteen miles of the capital.

The fall of Tsiyang, on the north bank of the river, came after three flying Japanese units breached the walls and fought four hours hand-to-hand in the streets.

Chinese Forced to Flee.

The Chinese defenders finally were forced to flee. They crossed the half mile expanse of river in ferries under a hail of Japanese machine gun fire.

Along the entire line of operations in Shantung, the Japanese army statement said, Japan's warriors averaged an advance of twenty miles in the last twenty-four hours.

Japanese infantry units following the Tientsin-Pukow railroad circled a strong Chinese garrison at Yucheng, thirty miles northwest of Tsinan, and sped on toward the capital. They were last reported within fifteen miles of the city.

Japanese Take Key City.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 15.—[Monday.]—(AP)—The Japanese army today announced that columns driving westward along the Shanghai-Nanking railroad had captured Kunshan, a strong point near the center of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's famed "Hindenburg line."

The reported fall of Kunshan, 35 miles west of Shanghai, came as the forces of Japan, in their first major thrust against the main Chinese defenses, threatened to cause the collapse of the entire system.

Foreign military observers believed the capture of the city would enable the Japanese to march rapidly along the railway toward the Soochow front, 20 miles distant.

Aim to Turn Both Flanks.

With the tip of the Shanghai peninsula in their control, the Japanese appeared in a position not only to breach the center of the defense line but to turn both flanks. The system stretches some 50 miles west of Shanghai from the Yangtze river south into Chekiang province.

Troops freshly landed along the lower Yangtze at points 40 to 60 miles from Shanghai drove at the northern end of the Chinese defenses. Still others advanced along the Kiangsu-Chekiang border, 40 to 50 miles southeast of here, in an attempt to turn the southern flank.

Japanese officers said the general advance west of Shanghai was merely a prelude to a drive against Nanking.

Japanese air forces raided the Chinese rear, heavily bombing twenty towns considered to be concentration points. Among these was Soochow.

Create Havoc at Soochow.

Meager reports said the bombers had created havoc at Soochow. Other towns heavily attacked from the air were Wusih, Kunshan, Kashing, and Changshu.

Another landing further east at Paimaokou enabled the Japanese to advance inland 15 miles and seize Chihtang, 40 miles northwest of Shanghai, and other towns.

In Nanking an army announcement told of the heroic stand of four Chinese battalions from Hunan province near Nanziang, west of Shanghai. All the 2,000 men in the four units died, said the announcement, but not before they had inflicted 1,300 casualties on the Japanese.

Near Shantung's Capital

(Story in adjoining column.)

Japanese troops last night were closing in on Tsinan, capital of rich Shantung province and the only uncaptured capital in North China. One column seized Tsiyang. Another column, moving down from the northwest, sped to wtihin fifteen miles of the city.

FRENCH UNIONS SLAP BOYCOTT ON JAPANESE GOODS

PARIS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The General Confederation of Labor today proclaimed a boycott of Japanese goods for its 5,000,000 members in a series of national demonstrations "for defense of peace." The confederation, one of the elements of the Popular Front which supports the present government, also demanded France aid the Spanish government in the civil war.

The unions displayed their strength in 20 massmeetings in the provinces after Paris workers set the pace with a demonstration Saturday.

J. LIVERMORE JR. WEDS DIVORCEE OF BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Jesse Livermore Jr., son of the noted Wall street speculator, today married Mrs. Evelyn Sullivan, a divorcée, daughter of a former prize fight promoter, at a Maryland "Gretna Green."

Mrs. Henry L. Bletzer said her daughter and Livermore were wed at Bel Air by the Rev. G. A. Ogg.

Livermore's mother, Mrs. Dorothea Wendt Longcope, who shot and wounded the youth at a drinking party in Santa Barbara, Cal., two years ago, accompanied him to Bel Air. Both the bride and groom gave their ages as 20.

BOYCOTT OF JAPAN URGED BY CHINA AT PEACE PARLEY

Argues Economic Penalty Will End War.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Nov. 14.—Encouraged by the unexpectedly strong stand taken yesterday by the United States, the Chinese delegation today submitted to the conference powers seeking a settlement of the war in the far east a fifty page plea for sanctions [penalties] against Japan.

This document proves, according to the Chinese, that economic sanctions, which failed so miserably against Italy in her Ethiopian campaign, would succeed against Japan because of their extraordinary economic vulnerability.

Trade Statistics Cited.

To justify this conclusion the Chinese memorandum cites statistics on Japanese trade. These figures show that it would be sufficient for five countries—the United States, Great Britain, France, The Netherlands, and China—to apply sanctions against Japan in order to wreck her.

The Chinese document points out that not only do the five countries take about 65 per cent of Japanese exports, but they supply her with raw material which she cannot obtain from other sources—at least in sufficient quantities.

If Japan's four biggest customers, not counting China, boycotted her, the Chinese say that her gold reserve, now estimated at $363,250,000, would rapidly be exhausted.

The Chinese note contends Japan's total exports upon which she depends for foreign currency to make her purchases amount to only $782,585,800 and a boycott would lop off around $435,900,000. As Japan already had an unfavorable trade balance for 1936, she would use up her gold reserves within a few months, the Chinese insist.

See Quick End of War.

If in addition to a boycott on Japanese exports the powers should clamp down on raw materials, Japanese military operations in China would come to a halt in a few weeks or months, the Chinese say.

Among the raw materials essential to war for which Japan is entirely dependent on foreign supply are, say the Chinese, lead, nickel, aluminum ore, zinc, manganese, chromium and tungsten.

When one adds to this list iron ore and scrap iron, cotton and, above all, oil which Japan gets largely from the United States, the Dutch East Indies and Borneo, it is evident, the Chinese declare, that no big power in the world is so entirely at the mercy of foreign supply as Japan.

WATCHDOGS OF CITY'S ART TREASURY WILL BE EXHIBITED AT SHOW

Billow and Bellow, German Shepherd dogs, who bark at suspicious strangers in the Art institute for their living, will be exhibited this week-end at the Western Special Clubs' association dog show, which opens Saturday at the Coliseum and continues through Sunday.

Billow, who succeeded Sherlock Sentry, the institute's first dog detective, has spent three years prowling through the institute's marble halls. Bellow, his mate of a week, already has exhibited nervousness when familiar objects are moved from their places, Supt. J. Francis McCabe has observed.

BELLOW.

Nothing has been stolen from the institute since the first dogs were brought into it fourteen years ago. Before that time thieves were able to snatch art treasures, secrete themselves in the building all night, and slip out with the crowds in the morning.

EXPECT FRANCO TO STRIKE ON ALL FRONTS AT ONCE

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Spanish rebel officers declared today that Gen. Francisco Franco might decide on "a general offensive on all fronts" for his long expected effort to crush the government before winter sets in. The officers at Irun said "troops, guns, planes, warships, and everything are ready."

Observers noted rebel confidence the coming offensive would overwhelm the government and end the 16 month old civil war.

Rebel dispatches said the government was building a second line of defenses at Madrid with principal fortifications around the old royal palace on the western edge of the city.

Prisoners reported the government was massing five international brigades on the Aragon front as well as a number of mixed brigades.

ROB PEDESTRIAN, THEN SALOON.

Two bandits took a topcoat from Martin Murphy, 5735 South Carpenter street, at 57th and Morgan streets early today and a short time later took $50 from Mrs. Anna Washkelis in her saloon at 2643 West 71st street.

PASTOR ON TRIAL AS SLAYER OF HIS NEIGHBOR'S WIFE

State to Ask Death in Electric Chair.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsfield, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Rev C. Ellsworth Newton sat somberly in his cell here today, his gaunt frame doubled over the Bible. Between furious puffs at a cigaret he read his favorite author: Job.

Rev. C. E. Newton.

Tomorrow the Rev. Mr. Newton, a gangling Baptist minister from Missouri, goes on trial for the murder of his lifelong friend and parishioner, Mrs. Maybelle Kelly, whose body floated to the surface of the Mississippi river on July 13. The state will ask the electric chair, but the minister is calm.

Pittsfield's population is expected to be doubled when the trial opens, as the Rev. Mr. Newton's defense is being financed by half the Baptists in the state of Missouri. He has been a preacher for 30 odd years.

Three Attorneys from Missouri.

Contributions have been so numerous that three attorneys have been imported from Kansas City, Mo. They are Daniel P. Johnson, Martin F. Turner, and James McPheely.

The story of the pastor and Mrs. Kelly, a postman's wife, has stirred the countryside for many months now. Long before Mrs. Kelly's body was found and long before Mr. Newton's alleged confession that he beat her to death "with a hammer, or dumbbell, or something," their association had been common gossip in Paris, Mo.

Mrs. Kelly was 45 and the mother of two children. She lived about a block from the parsonage. The Rev. Mr. Newton is 71, but looks 35. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 125 pounds. He was pastor of a Baptist church in Paris until 1936, when a rift came in his congregation. Despite the ardent support of Mrs. Kelly, he had to resign.

$1,950 Withdrawn from Bank.

At the trial State's Attorney Merrill Johnston of Pike county will bring out the full story of Mrs. Kelly's disappearance on July 12, of the $1,950 she withdrew from the bank, and of the 14 page letter she left for her husband, Dennis; of the charred remnants of her luggage found 31 miles northwest of Paris.

The state's evidence includes stains and wisps of red hair found under the floor mat of the minister's automobile, four loaded revolvers found in his house, and a pair of stained trousers, as well as the iron dumbbell fished up from the floor of the Mississippi river beside the Mark Twain bridge, over the railing of which the minister tossed the body.

41 INVOLVED IN MINE STRIFE GO ON TRIAL TODAY

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Elaborate precautions were planned today for the trial of 41 men on charges resulting from four years of inter-union strife in the Illinois coal fields.

U. S. Marshal Paul Ruppel assigned a force of 15 deputies and bailiffs to duty about the federal court room where the proceedings were scheduled to open tomorrow.

The defendants—the majority of them allied now or at one time with the Progressive Miners of America—were accused of conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust law and to obstruct the mails during the tempestuous period when bombings impeded trains hauling coal from pits worked by rivals.

Among them were William Keck of East St. Louis, former P. M. A. president; John Fancher of Springfield, P. M. A. vice president; and Earl Evans, Saline county sheriff.

Judge Charles G. Briggle will preside over the trial, expected to continue for six weeks.

BURNED KINDLING KITCHEN FIRE.

Coldwater, Mich., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hazel Ernsberger, was in a critical condition in a hospital here today, the result of burns incurred when she kindled a smoldering kitchen fire with kerosene.

COLLEGE SPECIAL TRAIN WRECKED IN MORTON GROVE

200 Students Imperiled and Terrified.

the crash came. Dozens of us were thrown out of our chairs and the girls screamed."

"We seemed to slow down, slide, bounce, and stop," related Jack Eddy, another senior. "There was lots of screaming. I was thrown into the seat in front of me, but I wasn't hurt."

The students were stranded about two hours before another special train picked them up to continue the trip to Beloit.

Among those on the train were several football players and Irving Maurer, president of Beloit college.

Accident Called Unavoidable.

Milwaukee railroad officials said that the accident apparently was unavoidable, and that the only person injured was Timmer, the fireman. He was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where he died early today.

All the coaches and the baggage car of the wrecked train are of the newest steel welded type, and this, it was pointed out, probably saved many lives. They said the train's speed was about fifty miles an hour —not considered excessive at that point.

Fortney, the automobile driver, was technically charged with reckless driving on complaint of a railroad detective, but police said that he had done all that was possible to avert the accident. His case will come up before Justice Alex Falk in Morton Grove on Nov. 20.

SWITCHMAN KILLED IN YARDS.

George Dillinger, 2328 Monroe street, a switchman for the Chicago and Great Western railroad, was fatally injured Saturday night when he was thrown from the pilot of a switch engine as it struck the rear of a freight train in the yards at Laramie avenue and Lexington street.

An autoist driving west in Lincoln avenue, Morton Grove (1) last night lost control of his car when a tire blew out. The machine swerved off the avenue (2) and came to a top 100 feet south of the Milwaukee crossing, straddling the rails. Attempts to push the car off failed when the Beloit college football special forced the driver and helpers to flee. The derailed train pushed the auto 200 feet past the crossing (3).

J. D. WOLFSOHN NAMED TO U. S. LAND OFFICE JOB

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Ickes today announced the appointment of Joel Davis Wolfsohn of Illinois as assistant to the commissioner of the general land office, effective immediately. Mr. Wolfsohn, who at present is executive secretary of the national power policy committee, also will continue in that position, which he has held since 1934.

Mr. Wolfsohn will take the place left vacant by the retirement of Charles A. Obenchain, who for many years served the government in the general land office.

Prior to coming here, Mr. Wolfsohn was superintendent of reports for the state of Illinois, and before that was a lawyer and newspaper editor in Chicago. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri and the Chicago Kent College of Law.

BOY, 9, WOUNDS BROTHER, 8, WITH FAMILY SHOTGUN

Thomas Wetherall Jr., 8 years old, was wounded critically yesterday afternoon when a shotgun in the hands of his brother Robert, 9 years old, was accidentally discharged as they were playing in the basement of their home at 1216 North Menard avenue.

Most of the charge took effect in the boy's right shoulder and right arm. He was taken to St. Ann's hospital. Thomas Wetherall Sr., father of the boys, told Austin police that he had been hunting on Saturday and had left the gun in a basement workshop which he forgot to lock.

ROBBER ROUNDUP REVEALS CRIME ENDING IN DEATH

Gang Member Tells Part in Fifty Holdups.

There was a robbery in the gambling house back of Mike's barber shop at 540 St. Clair street on June 27, 1936. But the true story of what happened during and immediately after the raid was not learned by the police until yesterday.

It was told by Frank Green, 28 years old, 1254 North Oakley avenue, one of four ex-convicts who were taken to the detective bureau showup as leaders of a robbery gang.

"I was in that gambling house stickup," he said. "I'm going back to prison anyhow, so I might as well get that clear for you. I was the driver of the getaway car, and perhaps you remember that a messenger boy was killed by it at Wabash and Grand. That was an accident, of course, but we couldn't stop. A police squad was chasing us."

The youth killed by the robbers' car was Albert Klautsch, 18 years old, 3651 Wabansia avenue. Police reports at the time merely showed he was struck by a driver who fled after the accident. The police squad chasing Green and his car were unaware he was a robber; they wanted him for speeding.

Green identified as his companions in the holdup Walter Baclawski, 30 years old, 2128 North Moody avenue, who is under arrest, and a man he named only as Charley, who is serving a term in the Jackson, Mich., prison for robbery.

Finds Robbers in Place.

"We had picked on that gambling house at the wrong time," Green said. "When we got in front of the barber shop, Walter and Charley went in with their guns and I stayed outside in the car. But they didn't stay in very long. Another gang of robbers had beaten us to it. They had twenty gamblers lined up and were taking their dough."

Baclawski got back into the car with him, Green said but the careless Charley forgot which car was waiting for him. He leaped into one already occupied by Duke Eyre, reputed owner of the gambling house. This, it turned out, was worse for Eyre than for Charley. The owner had entered his place about the same time the tardy robbers did. He also ran out and got in the car when he was confronted by gang No. 1.

"Eyre was just unlucky that day," Green said. "Charley put a pistol on him and made him hand over his keys. And then Charley kicked him out and broke his leg. There was nobody in our car but Baclawski and me when we hit the kid."

Confesses Fifty Holdups.

Questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Gordon Nash and Detective John Hanrahan, Green also admitted that his gang had committed more than fifty holdups, mostly in gambling houses over the city. More than a score of victims identified members of the gang at the showup.

The other convicts held with Green are Raymond Rubin, 31 years old, 4069 Kenmore avenue, a parolee from Pontiac reformatory; John Kill, 47 years old, 1552 North La Salle street, and Edward Duchant, 28 years old, 1109 North Sacramento avenue.

Also in custody as members of the robber band are eight men who have not served time in penitentiaries. They are, in addition to Baclawski, James Thompson, 48 years old, 1703 North Rockwell street; Edward Rubin, 20 years old, 3250 Evergreen avenue, brother of Raymond; Morris Kreitzman, 33 years old, 4810 North Avers avenue; Bernard Richman, 23 years old, 2652 Potomac avenue; Thomas Maxwe.l, 34 years old, 1807 North Karlov avenue; Julius Leavitt, 21 years old, 2646 Crystal street, and Bernie Bonkoski, 25 years old, 2706 Haddon avenue.

Twelve members of bandit gang rounded up by police last week. Besides a parolee, three of them are ex-convicts. One of them admitted the gang had committed more than fifty holdups.

BOY, 10, ADMITS PART IN NORTH SIDE SCHOOL FIRE

Questioned by the Summerdale police and Fire Attorney Earl Downes, a boy of 10 years admitted yesterday that he was present when a companion set fire Friday to a portable school building at 1123 Berwyn avenue.

The lad is Francis Denham, 5206 Winthrop avenue. His first story was that a boy whose name he did not know told him of the fire. Later he said that the second boy persuaded him to look on while he piled papers under the teacher's desk and set them off with a match.

Mr. Downes said that Francis would be taken to view the students of schools in the neighborhood in a search for the other boys.

RYAN IS GAINING, BUT BRIDE STILL CAN'T VISIT HIM

Hickory, N. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—A hospital bulletin today announced an improvement in the condition of Basil Ryan of New York, who nine days ago wed a Morganton girl he had known two days.

Visitors were not permitted to see the grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan, whose bride, the former Miss Martha Barkley, visited the hospital twice yesterday. She was not permitted to see her husband.

Ryan was admitted to the hospital 12 hours after he and the girl were married by a justice of the peace.

BOOM IGOE FOR DIETERICH SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

Federal Judgeship Talked of for Downstater.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—During the next week, according to reports reaching here today, there will be a definite movement started to bring Michael L. Igoe out as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator in the primary next April.

Downstate sentiment for Igoe began to take tangible form over the week-end with the circulation of seemingly well founded reports that Senator William H. Dieterich will not run for a second term if he can obtain a lifetime federal appointment which, it is said, is within his reach.

Calls for Salary of $12,500.

The post mentioned is that of presiding judge of the United States Court of Customs and Patent Appeals. It was left vacant by the death last Wednesday of former Congressman William J. Graham of Aledo, a Republican, who had held it since 1924. The position carries a salary of $12,500 a year and it is contended that as a matter of patronage the place belongs to Illinois.

Leadership in the impending activity, which may become a "draft Igoe" movement, is being assumed by his former associates in the legislature who followed him enthusiastically as minority leader. One of them, Thomas P. Sinnett of Rock Island, said that "things will start moving" this week.

Former Representative David H. McClugage, now mayor of Peoria, will be another leader. And it is understood that Howard L. Doyle of Decatur, now district attorney for the southern district of Illinois, will go all the way for Igoe if Dieterich is not a candidate. He is loyal to his sponsor, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, whom he once served as secretary, and Lewis is friendly to Igoe.

One reason for Dieterich's reported willingness to take a bench appointment is the stone wall opposition to his renomination recently declared by Gov. Horner. This is said to have thrown Dieterich's friends in Chicago into doubting whether a downstater with the downstate organization against him could win with Cook county votes as his chief mainstay. The further question was raised whether, regardless of Horner's opposition, Dieterich had not weakened himself fatally as a candidate by his support of the Roosevelt Supreme court plan.

See Dieterich Step Aside.

With the increasing belief that Dieterich will step aside, downstate sectional and district leaders began a new canvass of the situation to find a candidate who could receive the support of both Gov. Horner and the Nash-Kelly organization in Cook county. Up to this time Horner has refused to place his O. K. on any of the several hopefuls whose names have been submitted and the Chicago leaders are said to have been proceeding on the theory that Dieterich would be a candidate.

It is accepted here that the governor is extremely friendly toward Igoe. Because of his present office as United States district attorney at Chicago Igoe took no active part in the factional war of 1936, but what little he did quietly was considered an aid to Horner. He has been a frequent guest at the executive mansion and when Horner was in Chicago last week he called on Igoe.

Strong Following Downstate.

It also is understood here that the Cook county organization has considered Igoe as in the fold for several years. Although he ran an independent race for governor in 1932, the Cook county organization sponsored him in his successful race for congressman-at-large in 1934 and later placed its O. K. on his appointment as district attorney.

Although he is a resident of Chicago, it is agreed downstate that the customary anti-Chicago feeling does not exist in Igoe's case. He has had a large personal following downstate for years. It was this nucleus that enabled him to pile up a larger downstate vote than did Horner in the governorship primary in 1932 and to lead the victorious Democratic state ticket two years later.

ESTATES TAXES OF U. S., STATES EATING CAPITAL

Increased Until Maximum Is 70 Per Cent.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—While the Roosevelt administration these days is toying with the idea of moderating the tax burden on corporation surpluses and capital gains as a stimulus to business there is no disposition to lower the taxes or "death duties" on estates which are rapidly dwindling under federal levies.

Taxes on estates have been boosted periodically since 1932 until under the present rates the federal government can extract a maximum of 70 per cent of the total wealth of a decedent. Piled on top of this federal levy are the inheritance and estate taxes of the various states.

States Also Levy Taxes.

Some states have estate taxes duplicating the federal tax such as New York while others have both estate and inheritance taxes such as Maryland. The federal government, however, takes by far the biggest chunk of the fortune whether it be small or large. An estate tax is levied on the entire net estate of the decedent regardless of how it is distributed while an inheritance tax is computed on the legatee's share, a levy on the right to receive property, so to speak.

Government tax experts lament the fact that drastic increases in the state tax rates have failed to produce a corresponding jump in the number of dollars siphoned into the treasury. Unlike the income tax which is productive of revenue year after year, the estate tax cannot be repeated. It is levied just once, the estate is milked dry and capital that might feed into private enterprise is drawn into the government's coffers instead.

Estate Tax 20 Years Old.

The federal estate tax is roughly twenty years old. A survey of its performance during these two decades discloses a dwindling number of estates and a stream of revenue which has been kept trickling only by enormous boosts in rates and the lowering of exemptions to catch the little fellow.

Levying the highest estate taxes in history and with values soaring upward, the government collected $281,635,983 from this source last year. The amount is equivalent to less than one per cent of the nation's public debt.

The lowest point in the history of the tax was reached in 1933 when only $29,693,061 was collected. Then the Roosevelt administration in the 1934 revenue act sliced the $100,000 exemption for each estate down to $50,000 and raised rates all along the line, the maximum jumping to 60 per cent applicable to the $10,000,000 bracket. [The maximum in the 1926 act was 20 per cent.]

Boost Rate to 70 Per Cent.

Again in 1935 the administration, competing with the "share the wealth" proposals of the late Senator Huey Long, enacted the "soak the rich" law boosting the maximum rate to 70 per cent on estates over $50,000,000 with enormous increases in other brackets. The tax was doubled on net estates of $10,000, the minimum, raising the rate from 1 to 2 per cent. The exemption was shaved to $40,000.

The momentary effect has been to increase collections but it is any body's guess as to how long the geese that lay the golden eggs can stave off extinction. There were 738 fewer estate tax returns filed during the last year than in 1926 despite the lowered exemption, which was designed to catch a greater number.

Million Incomes Dwindle.

This drying up of estates compares with the downward trend in the number of millionaire income tax payers whose pockets have been dug into by higher rates in recent years. In 1927 there were 601 individuals with incomes of a million dollars or more. In 1928 the millionaires increased to 1,109 and in 1929 the number reached 1,212. The millionaires shrunk to 360 in 1930 and today they number a scant fifty.

The government under the late President Coolidge took the unprecedented step of substantially reducing estate taxes in 1926. At first there was a sharp drop in revenue but then the curve turned upward and climbed for three years. The number of returns also spurted. The number was arrested, presumably by the stock market decline, in 1931.

Comparative Figures.

A table setting forth amounts collected in estate taxes and the number of returns filed in the fiscal years from 1926 through 1937 follows:

Year.	Amount.	Returns.
1927	110,339,851	12,538
1928	60,087,233	9,373
1929	61,897,141	9,719
1930	64,769,625	10,308
1931	48,078,326	9,816
1932	47,422,313	8,183
1933	29,693,061	8,504
1934	103,985,588	11,210
1935	140,440,682	13,133
1936	215,780,753	13,252
1937	281,635,983	15,244

The first federal estate tax was enacted in 1916 and rates were advanced to a 25 per cent maximum on estates exceeding $10,000,000 in 1917 as a war measure. There were decreases after the war until 1932 when rates went up again.

Slain by Suitor

BERENICE STANDAROWSKI.

John Kobos, 24 years old, 2923 Lock street, was arrested by Sergt. Michael Hanrahan of the Deering street police yesterday for questioning in the shotgun murder of Mrs. Berenice Standarowski, 25 years old, widowed mother of a boy of 5 years.

She was slain in front of her home at 3227 South May street early yesterday by a man who sprang in front of her and her escort and cried: "What's the matter, Berenice? Don't you love me any more?" The escort, Edward Zulkey, 28 years old, 3310 Aberdeen street, was slightly wounded.

Kobos, according to the police, was a former admirer of Mrs. Standarowski and threatened to shoot her after she refused Saturday night to renew their friendship.

NO TAX PUT ON NEW INDUSTRIES BOOMS LOUISIANA

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Closing the first year under a "do unto others" policy toward industry, Louisiana today was counting its many blessings, chief of which is 36 million dollars in new investments in 69 manufacturing plants in the state and a start toward solution of the unemployment problem. In the year 20,000 men have found work in the building trades and permanent employment will be given to 15,000.

Louisiana's lure to new industry is tax exemption for the first 10 years in the state and positive guarantee against political meddling. Coming into office, Gov. Richard W. Leche, 39 years old, espoused the policy:

"If we take care of industry, then industry will take care of Louisiana."

"Results of the first year of the fair play to industry policy have demonstrated this to be true," said the governor today.

"The man with the weekly pay roll had been pummelled by legislation and ridden by mounting taxes until he no longer knows where to turn," the governor said. "Louisiana guarantees incoming industry that there will be no political meddling with its affairs. The Louisiana state government stands pledged to protect industry against unreasonable legislation and stifling taxation.

The governor's proposal to exempt new industry from taxation was placed before the people of the state in a referendum that carried and a constitutional amendment containing the provision became law in 1936.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

No. 2

By CALEB

THERE are many answers to this question. Astrologists, numerologists, and students of Shakespeare have their answers. Customers of national advertisers who have favorite brands have other answers.

But something else can be in a name.

A pair of glasses was found in a park in Aurora, Illinois. The case was stamped with our name. The man who found the glasses returned them to us at his first opportunity, explaining that they had been found.

One of our many customers in Aurora, or from almost any part of the country, might have been in an Aurora park. This is a traveled country.

There seemed only one way of finding the owner. The lenses were put in an interesting and remarkably accurate instrument which enabled us to tell precisely to what prescription they had been ground. This can be done with even a small piece of a broken lens.

Once having determined the prescription, we faced the simple but possibly long drawn-out task of going through our alphabetical file of many, many thousands of customers of the optical section whose prescriptions appear on their cards. We had gone through only a few thousand cards when we came upon this prescription in the "C" file! We called up that customer and asked him if he had lost a pair of glasses.

He answered, "Yes, as a matter of fact, I was just coming in to order another pair."

In good humor, we said, "Well, perhaps we have worked ourselves out of a sale. We have called to tell you that we have your glasses." And when we told him how we had discovered his identity, he said, "Well, I really need a duplicate pair of glasses, anyway, so I am coming in to get an extra pair to repay you for your splendid service."

WHAT'S in a name? In this particular instance, a name on a spectacle case was the trigger for releasing a chain of efforts which made possible the location of a needle in a haystack.

While we have never advertised the value of the Field name to you on your purchases for this specific advantage, this customer will no doubt recall many times what's in a few gilt letters on a black spectacle case.

HUNT FOR WAYS ON SESSION EVE TO UNDO ERRORS

Distrust of Rooseveltian Program Grows.

which had benefited tremendously from the relief and pump priming expenditures of the Roosevelt régime. The tour became a progress of triumph. Mr. Roosevelt came home so elated that he judged the psychological moment had arrived to carry into effect the legislative program that had failed in the last session because of the occupation of congress with the court packing battle.

He summoned congress in the middle of October and went on the air in a fireside talk in which he made it clear that it was his intent to re-establish through crop control and wage and hour legislation the collectivist structure which the Supreme court demolished in the NRA and AAA decisions.

Democratic Split Widens.

For months there had been signs of slackening business, but with the call for the special session to enact new social and economic controls the recession set in apace. Within a fortnight the President was brought to a realization of the crisis. He immediately undertook to woo business with fair promises, culminating in the pledges of the Morgenthau speech to reduce business taxes, reduce expenditures 700 million dollars, balance the budget, and encourage expansion of private enterprise.

The split in the Democratic party over the court packing bill has been widened by the impact of the new depression. The tide is running strongly against the President on the question of his economic experiments. It is difficult to find a Democrat today who stands for unqualified retention of the Roosevelt tax on undivided profits. The conservative Democrats are in a militant mood, reflecting the tone of Senator Pat Harrison's [D., Miss.] telegram saying that the tax "must" be repealed.

Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.] said he believed that modifications should be enacted at the extra session to allow exemptions for purchases, plant construction and improvement, and payment of debts. In addition, he said he was considering an amendment which would permit deductions from taxable income of 10 per cent of the money thus spent.

"Business believes the undistributed profits tax is an unfriendly gesture, and business is frightened," added Senator Adams.

Demands Tax Revision.

Senator Dennis Chavez [D., New Mex.] demanded immediate modification of the tax to give business "a chance."

Representative Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.], ranking minority member of the ways and means committee and also a member of the tax subcommittee, said the current studies of the latter had shown that the treasury "recognizes" that both undistributed profits and capital gains taxes are unjust.

"The undistributed profits tax," said Representative Treadway, "is really a penalty tax, working the greatest hardship on those least able to pay."

Promoting Milk

Peter of St. Vincent's orphanage.

Chicago's observance of National Milk week will begin today with a luncheon of the Chicago Milk Fund association at the Stevens hotel. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, and Dr. C. N. Johnson, editor of the American Dental Journal and past president of the American Dental association, will address approximately 150 civic leaders and members of the association.

The fund was organized a year ago to supply milk to the needy and to families of patients at the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium. The association will sponsor a benefit circus at the Coliseum from Nov. 27 to Dec. 5.

COLLISION KILLS WOMAN AUTOIST IN NILES CENTER

Husband Hurt in Suburb's 2d Fatal Crash in Day.

Mrs. Anna Kips, 68 years old, was killed and her husband, C. L. Kips, was seriously injured yesterday when the car in which they were driving north in East Prairie road was struck by a car westbound in Oakton street in Niles Center. It was the second fatal accident in Niles Center in twenty-four hours.

Miss Ingeborg Jorgensen, 48 years old, 408 Ridge avenue, Evanston, a nurse for the infant welfare center in Evanston, who was driving the car in Oakton street, told Niles Center police that Kips failed to stop for a trafic sign. Mrs. Kips died in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where her husband was also taken. The Kips home is at Austin and Lincoln avenues in Morton Grove.

Car Overturns; One Dead.

James Kozelka, 21 years old, 1528 South Keeler avenue, was fatally injured yesterday and Robert Prochaska of the same address was seriously hurt when their automobile turned over several times on a curve in Skokie road, just north of Illinois route 173, six miles east of Antioch in Lake county. Kozelka died in St. Therese hospital in Waukegan.

Alex Lundell, 635 Wrightwood avenue, was fatally injured by the automobile of Dr. William Wolavka, 5935 Nina avenue, in front of 2902 North Clark street. Wolavka, an intern at Columbus hospital, took Lundell to that hospital, where he died.

Killed When Ca Skids.

Andrew McMenemy, 212 North Hamlin avenue, was killed when the automobile in which he was riding skidded on wet street car tracks and struck a light post at Chicago and Central avenues.

Charles Alexander, 66 years old, a relief client, died in County hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by the automobile of a hit and run driver in La Salle street at Grand avenue.

Allen Ramsey, 36 years old, of St. Charles, was fatally injured when his car skidded on the wet pavement and struck a tree.

Michael Schwab, 74 years old, 5654 South Albany avenue, was fatally injured yesterday when he was struck at 59th street and St. Lawrence avenue by an automobile driven by Claude Kaysen, 21 years old, 5658 South Seeley avenue.

Ira Craigimile of Hogkins, Ill., was fatally injured last night by an automobile in Joliet road near La Grange. Lloyd Hoelle of Peru, Ill., was the driver.

Seymour F. Kulwin of Chicago, a salesman, died yesterday—his twenty-third birthday—in Creston, Ia., from injuries suffered in an automobile collision on Saturday. W. A. Pike of Marshalltown, driver of the other car, was seriously hurt.

Hit and run cars also injured three persons. Erwin Hansen, 2030 Burling street, was seriously hurt by a hit and run car in Burling street at Armitage avenue. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital.

Hit-Run Car Injures Three.

In a second hit and run case, in which Frank Teschner and his wife, Caroline, were seriously injured, Irving Park police held Mrs. Amelia Barnes, a cost accountant, 1058 North Pulaski road, and her brother, William J. Mathews, a clerk, 1621 Division street. Mr. and Mrs. Tescher, who live at 3412 North Oak Park avenue, were struck early yesterday in front of 5931 Irving Park boulevard. Harold Cornwall of that address told Lieut. William Lang that he overtook the car that struck them after a two mile chase. He gave police the number of the car he had chased and it was traced to Mrs. Barnes.

In a freak accident on the Harrison street bridge, Theodore Klett, 35 years old, 15 East 9th street, a watchman at the new postoffice, was struck by a skidding automobile, knocked through a guard rail on the south side of the bridge and hurled twenty-five feet down to a railroad embankment on the west side of the river. The automobile, west bound, was being driven by Laurence Young, colored, 4850 Langley avenue, who was charged with reckless driving.

Matt J. Kenefick, 50 years old, prominent attorney of Michigan City, Ind., was killed yesterday in a collision in Michigan City between his car and one driven by Wallace Solum, 16 years old, 5037 North Lavergne avenue, Chicago. The boy and his parents were visiting relatives in the Indiana city.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 935 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 710 were killed in Chicago, where 20,105 were injured in the same period.

Stop Thinning Hair

to Avoid Baldness

BALDNESS warns you when it is approaching. Your scalp is laden with dandruff, it itches, and your hair becomes thin and scraggly at the temples, crown and frontal point. Disregard these warnings and you'll soon be bald. Heed them and consult a Thomas expert if you want to avoid baldness.

More than a quarter-million other men who noticed their hair becoming thin consulted Thomas. They saved their hair—ended dandruff, stopped abnormal hairfall and actually re-grew hair on the thin and bald spots.

You, too, can have a good head of hair. Call today for a free scalp examination. The Thomas expert will tell you frankly what can be done in your particular case. If benefits are improbable—you will be told. No charge is ever made for consultation or complete scalp examination in a Thomas office.

DO GOLFERS APPRECIATE CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS?

IT means a lot that famous golfers—like Gene Sarazen, Helen Hicks, Tony Manero, Lawson Little, and Ralph Guldahl—agree in their preference for one cigarette—Camel. They have found... as you'll find too...that the costlier tobaccos in Camels do place this great cigarette in a class apart. Listen to Ralph Guldahl, National Open Champion: "The fact that I've stuck to Camels for 10 years speaks for itself," he says. "I smoke lots of Camels and I've never known them to jangle my nerves. That partly explains why so many golfers are loyal Camel smokers."

And not only golfers, but people in all walks of life—millions of Americans—prefer Camels day after day after day, making them the LARGEST-SELLING cigarette in America...or the world.

SALESGIRL Elsie Schumacher says: "When the rush gets me 'worn out'—it's me for a Camel, and I get a quick 'lift.' Practically all of us girls in the store prefer Camels."

SPORTS WRITER S. Cameron: "I know many great athletes intimately. It's impressive how champions agree on Camels. I'm glad as any athlete that Camels don't get on my nerves."

BANK TELLER John McMahon: "With Camels I get a lot out of smoking. I'm handling money by the thousands. Jangled nerves just don't fit in that kind of work. So it's Camels for me."

WATCHMAKER I. C. Gorkun says: "Say, every Camel I smoke seems to be tastier than the last. Camels don't leave me feeling 'smoked out' no matter how many times a day I light one up."

DRAFTSMAN B. T. Miller: "I smoke steadily. Camels never tire my taste. I often feel used up during long hours before the drawing board. Camels give me a 'lift' when I feel I need it."

AUTO MECHANIC Al Patterson: "In the garage business you catch your meals on the run. Camels seem to smooth the way for good digestion. The Mrs. smokes Camels too because they hit the spot."

CHIEF SIGNALMAN on the N. Y. Central, John Geraghty: "You don't have to be a railroad man to know that speed and safety call for healthy nerves. Do Camels jangle my nerves? No sir!"

CAMELS THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

No speaker, perhaps, but what a listener!

...if you have something worth while to say or sell

HE may be tongue-tied, but his eyes, ears, and brain are on the job.

He's a businessman, yes, but he's more than that—he's a market. He's a buyer of $10 shoes for himself—and $40 tires for his truck fleet. Of typewriters for his office and turret lathes for his plant, a stoker for his home and a boiler for his factory.

Being a businessman he's a listener. He's learned that you have to know the answers—if you want to stay in business.

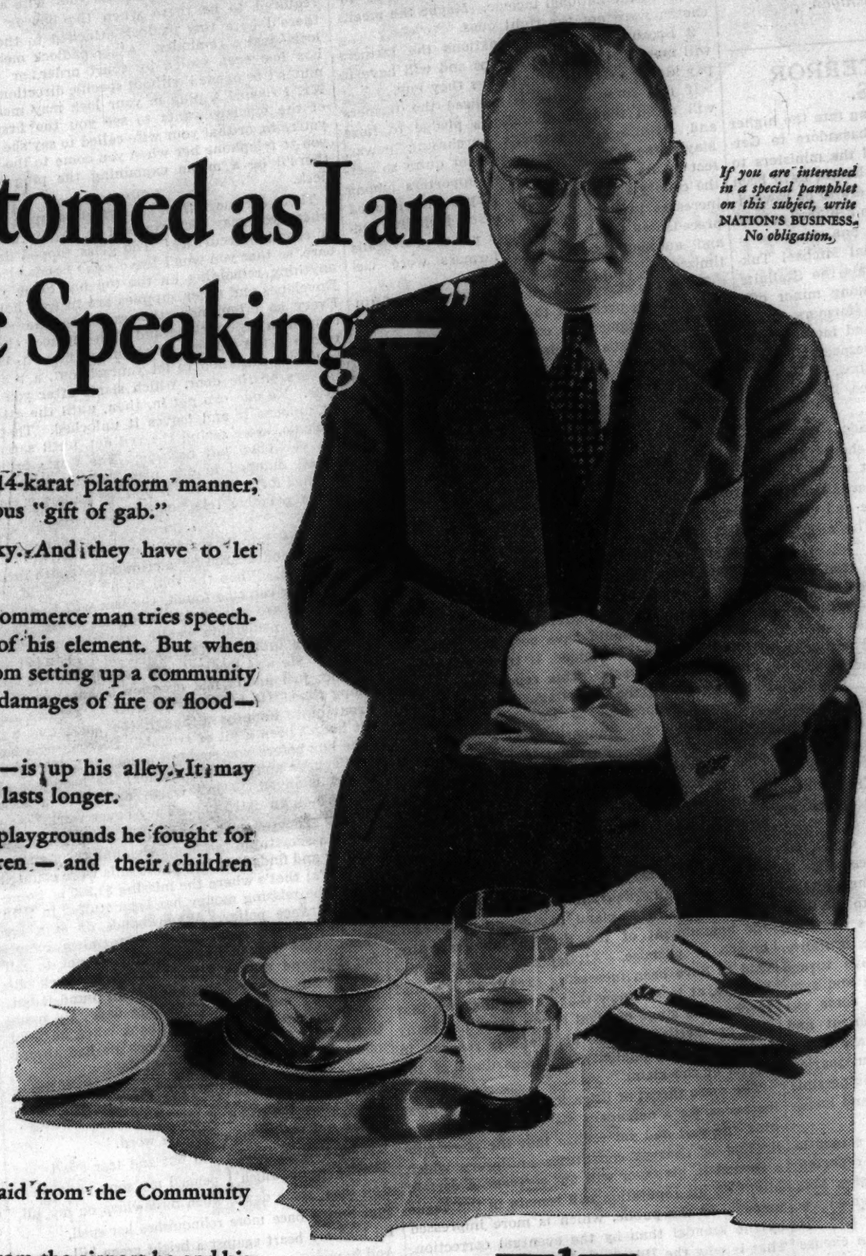
He's a builder and a buyer, whether he lives in Hagerstown, Md. or Hagerstown, Ind., in Troy, N. H. or in the 26 other Troys in the United States with their packing plants, blanket mills, brick and hydraulic cement works, paper mills and pipe organ factories. He makes them good towns and good markets for you, because he and the alert businessmen who live and work there keep them that way.

This doer reads Nation's Business—he must, because the world of business is a world of change. Nation's Business anticipates these changes for him, particularly wherever government touches his affairs. It is, moreover, a magazine which proclaims his point of view, as it does in this page from The Saturday Evening Post.

Naturally Nation's Business has a larger following among businessmen than any other business magazine—twice as many subscribers as the next largest!

If you want sales in New York City or Newton, Kansas...in Pittsburgh, Penn. or Pittsburg, Texas ...in Wall Street or Main Street...Nation's Business alone in the business field reaches enough of the right men everywhere to create upswinging curves on your sales charts.

"Unaccustomed as I am to Public Speaking—"



If you are interested in a special pamphlet on this subject, write NATION'S BUSINESS. No obligation.

SOME men are born with a 14-karat platform manner, a pipe organ voice, a precious "gift of gab."

But most men aren't that lucky. And they have to let their deeds speak for them.

When your typical Chamber of Commerce man tries speech-making he is likely to be out of his element. But when there's a job to do—anything from setting up a community Christmas tree to repairing the damages of fire or flood—then, watch things happen!

Demonstration—not conversation—is up his alley. It may not hold you spellbound, but it lasts longer.

Years from now the parks and playgrounds he fought for will be enjoyed by your children—and their children in turn.

Hospitals for which he raised funds will be functioning in their work of mercy.

Smokestacks silhouetted against the sky will be as monuments to his energy and zeal in bringing new industries—and their payrolls—to town.

Some hungry family will seek aid from the Community Chest—and get it.

Skyliners will land and take off from the airport he and his fellow Chamber of Commerce members helped establish.

In countless ways through countless days ahead his work will be making your community a happier, healthier, wealthier place to live.

Being a business man he is a busy man. Meeting bills and payrolls, managing a business, working for community welfare does not leave much time for elocution.

You'll have to excuse him if he doesn't talk much or answer the soap-box critics—he's got work to do!

NATION'S BUSINESS

MERLE THORPE, Editor

Nation's Business is the magazine to which 300,000 alert and able businessmen look every month for the latest news, views, and developments of business. The swift-shifting relationship of government and business, the new demands of labor, the tax situation—all the vital, fascinating phases of business cram its pages. 12 issues, $3.00, (3-year subscription, $7.50). One little thought in one article may save—or earn—100 times the subscription price. A letter to Nation's Business, Washington, D. C., will start the magazine on its way to your desk.

Nation's Business reaches 80% of the largest firms in every industry, gives you almost as many manufacturer subscribers alone as the total circulation of any other business magazine.

It guarantees 240,000 net paid circulation, but actually delivers 298,000! And its "pass-along" circulation exceeds a million.

And here's the climax of the story! You can reach these businessmen buyers through Nation's Business at about half the cost of the next business paper!

P. S. (Proved Sales-successes.) This list of leaders have been taking advantage of the sales opportunities Nation's Business offers for fifteen years—and longer! The average for all advertisers is more than seven years!

THE SOVIET TERROR EXPANDS.

The Stalin blood purge is going into the higher regions again. The soviet ambassadors to Germany, Turkey, and Poland, and the ministers to Persia, Finland, Lithuania, and Latvia have been recalled and no one thinks they are to be rewarded or pensioned. If they go into a higher sphere it is expected to be the eternal one.

Since the execution of Marshal Michael Tukhachevsky and the seven generals the Stalinite executioners have been busy among minor officials and chicken raisers, dairy farmers, grain growers, miners, railroad men, and factory foremen. The score runs up to the respectable total of about a thousand known victims. It is now the turn of the diplomatic service, it seems, to supply heads for pistol shots.

Washington friends of Ambassador Troyanovsky there would regret it if he should go. He has been a lavish entertainer, but many a comrade has suffered much for doing less than losing the third Russian polar flight here and allowing John Lewis to deflate himself. That's Trotzkyism if anything is.

Meanwhile nothing comes of the trial of Bukharin and Rykov, arrested and hidden away many months ago. These two are the most illustrious of the old right wing revolutionaries remaining, Bukharin the most notable publicist and philosopher of communism since Lenin and Rykov the former president and heir apparent. They were accused of the crimes for which their associates Zinoviev, Kamenev, and other old bolos of the revolution lost their lives. They have been arrested and have disappeared. Apparently Stalin does not dare bring them to public trial without the confessions his prosecutor and police are unable to extort.

Since the one flash of illumination which was briefly turned on the terrorist proceedings in the January trials of this year with their alleged confessions, Stalin justice has gone into the dark, and although the sound of executions has been heard, nothing has been seen. The brutality, butchery, torture, and repressions have turned the stomachs of formerly enthusiastic and sympathetic foreign observers who have come out of Russia to record their disillusionment and disgust in bitter terms. Two of these are Pierre Herbart and André Gide, French revolutionaries. Herbart says: "It has now become impossible to defend the U. S. S. R. without lying and knowing that one lies."

The purge will reach one of its last stages in Stalin's liquidation if it is to include, as reported, the wily old commissar for foreign affairs, Max Litvinov. The Stalin syllabus of the conspiracy against his person, the communist order and the soviet union makes so little sense as an excuse for the internal terror and the international collapse of Russia that it can hardly be given consideration. One must suppose that the fugitive Trotzky, who has not seen Russia for more than ten years and who is now in a Mexico City suburb, guarded by the Mexican police, has been able to organize a revolt, direct assassins, influence thousands of bolshevists, including the most prominent, and continue to do so over a period of years without meeting any of the conspirators and doing his work solely by communications over which Stalin should have absolute control.

This mail order conspiracy in which in over five years there is only alleged to be one meeting of Trotzky with any high ranking official, and that allegation fraudulent, must be supposed to have corrupted the commissars and the high command of the army, to have penetrated the Kremlin and the homes not only of engineers but the humblest workers, to have commanded zealots to betray their cause at the cost of their lives and to have wrecked industry, transportation, and agriculture. If such a thing is to be believed, something monstrous even in the tortured life history of Russia has been made possible in a land where the secret agent is at every other man's elbow.

It is easier to believe that there is some madness in the Kremlin and that an egotism darker than that of anything ever before revealed in a land of bloody events has control of a great nation. With every revelation of internal convulsions in the soviet union its enemies tighten the cordon around it. Russia accepted a gage of battle in Spain and there it is losing. It has been challenged by Japan in China and there again its influence and prestige are being defeated. Its Fascist enemies, Germany, Italy and Japan, are obviously hoping that the huge bulk which was so threatening fifteen years ago is about to cave in and sink under the weight of its own internal weaknesses.

Bolshevism is now eating its young.

PAROLE RELIEF.

Although the attempt to limit the powers of the parole board under the indeterminate sentence provision was vetoed, it had at least the effect of inducing the board to exercise its authority with more caution. In September the superintendent of parole supervision announced that 889 convicts had been returned to prison for violation of parole, more than twice the number returned in the same period in 1936. In October the crime commission noted that only 232 paroles were granted from Cook county in the first nine months of 1937, as compared with 1,294 for the full year of 1936.

Agitation on behalf of parole reform has therefore been compensated in some measure, for which the public will be grateful. But it should not encourage any relaxation of the effort to bring about permanent correction of the parole system in Illinois. The Loesch-Schnackenberg bill to vest in trial judges authority to fix maximum-minimum sentences in serious felony convictions should be reintroduced at the next session of the assembly. This measure was passed by a substantial majority after full consideration and debate and it is to be hoped will receive approval upon renewed consideration. The governor's veto, we are confident, did not satisfactorily meet the arguments supporting the bill and certainly did nothing for parole reform. The Loesch bill was not offered as a panacea but it is a step in the direction of practical relief. It should be passed by a vote sufficient to ensure its enactment.

SOMETHING'S WRONG SOMEWHERE.

Three findings of the bureau of agricultural economics in Mr. Wallace's department at Washington are of particular interest.

1. A decline in the national income next year is to be expected.

If this forecast is realized it will throw added doubt on the ability of the New Dealers to redeem their pledge to bring about a steady increase in the national income. Maybe the means chosen were not the right ones.

2. Because of price fluctuations the farmers will receive less for their crops and will have to pay higher prices for the things they buy.

If this forecast, too, is realized the farmers will recall the administration's pledge to raise and stabilize the farmer's purchasing power. Maybe the farm program was not quite so perfect as its more enthusiastic supporters among the county agents believed. Maybe the enforced increases in manufacturing costs, including unprecedented taxation, so raised prices of overalls and automobiles that the farmers were victimized.

3. We are experiencing a recession but are still in the rising period of the business cycle.

If this judgment is correct, what remains of the brain trust's promise to put an end to the business cycle? Obviously there has been a slip-up somewhere. If the improvement in business and employment since 1933 was solely or largely the result of a planned effort ["we planned it that way"] is it not fair to conclude that the present recession was also planned that way?

It might be added that the bureau of agricultural economics is not a recent creation. It has been in business in Washington for many years and its judgments have long commanded the respect of farmers, business men, and professional economists. It is the same bureau which a few years ago reported the failure of the Wallace-Bankhead program to benefit the cotton farmers; they would have been at least as well off, the bureau concluded, if there had been no production controls. This report was promptly suppressed by the department of agriculture and remains suppressed to this day. Subsequent events have only emphasized the accuracy of the bureau's finding. Fortunately the bureau itself has not been wiped out. It continues to function as one of the few agencies in Washington which still can be relied upon for impartiality and candor.

HEART BALM IN ENGLAND.

An especially flagrant example of the heart balm racket in England has energized demand for amendment of the English law respecting breach of promise. Attempts at extortion are said to have been increasing greatly of late and lawyers, at least, know that for one instance that reaches the stage of legal action there are many that are settled before this stage is reached in order to avoid publicity and regardless of the merits of the claim.

The mere threat of litigation is enough in most instances, for a defendant may be certain of winning the suit and yet realize that the mere publication of charges constitutes an injury which a verdict in his favor will not correct. A certain blight on his reputation will remain in the vague memory of the public, which is more impressed by the scandal than by the eventual correction. That is why the Illinois legislature has abolished the heart balm suit altogether. The amendment suggested in England to keep the name of the defendant secret will fall far short of protection. It follows the analogy of the law providing that the name of the complaining witness in prosecutions for blackmail shall not be revealed under penalty for contempt of court. But it is obvious that this will not prevent its leaking out, and therefore the pressure on the victim, though it may not be as great as it is now, will be sufficient for the purposes of the extortionist.

The evil is inherent in the suit and will remain until the suit has been abolished, as it has been in Illinois and other states.

Editorial of the Day

LOOKING AHEAD.

[Detroit News.]

In one of the New Yorker's admirable profiles a biographer of Burgess, the boat designer, remarked that Burgess could not be present at the cup races off Newport to see his Ranger in action, as he was busy then in Bath speculating on uses for a new metal.

This restlessness of mind and spirit is a prime characteristic of Kettering of General Motors, who might very well settle down to refining his many inventions which have contributed so vastly to the convenience and comfort of the age and to the stature of modern Detroit were it not for an insatiable curiosity about things to come.

At New York last week he talked Diesel engines, and if any among his motor-minded listeners supposed the car of today is the ultimate in design he was soon relieved on that score. While there are Ketterings in the industry there can be no illusion that the latest word is the last. In Detroit now a plant is going up where his dreams of an ever wider employment of the Diesel engine will presently materialize. Industrial Detroit is covered with similar monuments to dreams.

In other directions pioneers have just begun to work fields whose extent is only limited by man's power to imagine. Air conditioning, the possible application of which includes every habitation on earth to which electricity is accessible, is on the threshold of a career which should surely equal, if not exceed, that of the automotive industry. It is in a line in which the Ketterings, ever dissatisfied with things as they are and always moving on to new interests or new treatments of old problems, will figure largely tomorrow. Tomorrow is a challenge which finds them ever ready and p[illegible] to spirit

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

IF YOU KEEP YOUR SECURITIES in a $4.50 safety deposit box, you may be interested in knowing that for $500 a year you may have one almost tall enough for you to stand up in, with a combination lock. There are a number that large at the First National bank, into whose safety deposit vault, called the largest in the United States, we take you today. The 46,123 boxes come in twenty-two different sizes.

Walls, floor, and ceiling are twenty-four inches thick, of concrete and steel. Even if you could cut through them you'd touch an alarm wire every three inches, and though you were clever enough to disconnect a whole system you'd find yourself up against three more, each with wires three inches apart. The two round front doors, thirty inches thick and seven feet eight inches in diameter, weigh fifty tons each. The two rectangular rear doors, thirty-five tons each. Every door's time lock has four clocks, each of them wound every day. Unless sixteen clocks stop running all in the same evening the safe will open at 9 a. m.

You may walk right in if you have a deposit box or know Mr. John W. Brown, the manager. Then, if you know the number, your signature's O. K.'d, and the attendant in the aile recognizes you, you can unlock your box. The attendant must insert his key, too, although it doesn't unlock anything; it merely enables the mechanism to respond to yours. If you and your wife are both required to be there when the box is opened there'll be a tiny padlock attached to the other lock—just a reminder. A big padlock means the box has been sealed by court order, or that it mustn't be opened without specific directions from Mr. Brown. A plug in your lock may mean one of the officials wants to see you the first time you're in, or that your wife called to say she wants you to telephone her when you come to the vault; there'll be a memo explaining the plug at the desk.

There are more than 200 private coupon rooms, where you may lock yourself in to clip coupons or examine securities. The glass topped desk is bare, so that you won't leave some bonds or cash; anything remaining on the top has to be yours. Envelopes and other supplies are in wall holders. Every so often, nevertheless, some one puts a coupon in an envelope and then replaces the envelope in the holder. An attendant finds it. When you turn the knob to let yourself out, a red dot appears on the door, which slams after you and locks. No one can get in, then, until the attendant unlocks it and leaves it unlocked. That he won't do, after seeing the red dot, until satisfied that you have left nothing. The waste baskets are all dumped in one place, and the contents searched for valuables. If you need a larger room, with a portable telephone plugged in, you may have it.

Drilling into boxes isn't uncommon, although an occasional search for a criminal's wealth makes it seem so. When the rent hasn't been paid, and the renter can't be found, the box will be drilled. Valuables are seldom found in such cases. Once, though, considerable wealth was inside. A scrap of paper indicated the owner had changed his name. He was located with ease under the new name; just hadn't had occasion to come in for a long time. He paid for the drilling, repairs, and rent quite happily, although the bank told him it hadn't been a bit of trouble. Persons who had the box before you couldn't unlock it if they kept their keys and had the chance; the locks are always changed. Don't waste money at a locksmith's on an extra key. They never work.

Mr. Brown doesn't get excited when some one reports something missing. He runs through the money and finds that two $1,000 bills were counted as $100's; that's where the missing $1,800 is. Sometimes the missing money has been stuffed in with an insurance policy. When bonds or cash are left in a coupon room the attendant always finds them. One woman implored officials not to tell her husband of the $10,000 worth of stock she forgot to put away. The gentleman found it out, but hasn't mentioned it to this day. He made the discovery from the claim book when he went in to claim $15,000 worth of stock he had absentmindedly left out the very next day.

SONGS WILL OUT.

I fold away the pages of my heart.
I shall not read another line or word.
Let no strange hand reach out and tear apart
The leaves on which I penned my song unheard.
And then, some dawn, when birds chirp on my sill,
And Spring once more relinquishes her spell,
I'll hurl my heart against a bright green hill,
And hear my song take voice in last farewell.

WHEN THE BILE GOES ASTRAY.

SOME of us may think of the red cells of the blood as everlasting—that is, as long as life endures. If so we would be in error. The fact of the matter is that these cells live for only four to six weeks. New corpuscles must be formed constantly to replace the worn out warriors.

Our interest at the moment lies in the fate of the red coloring matter [hemoglobin], for when a cell is destroyed this substance is converted into bilirubin. This in turn is conveyed by the circulation to the liver where it is changed somewhat and excreted with the bile.

If anything blocks the bile capillaries, or the channels connecting the liver and the intestine, this altered bilirubin will find its way back into the blood stream and the victim will soon notice that his skin is becoming sallow.

When we say that so and so has an attack of jaundice we mean, as a rule, that the skin has become tinged with bile. The usual cause is some obstacle in the ducts which lead from the liver to the bowel, although other factors must be considered, such as a rapid destruction of blood and hence a greater output of bilirubin than the liver can care for. Sometimes—in association with any severe illness—there will develop what is known as a toxic or infectious variety of the affection.

The obstructive type comprises about 85 per cent of all cases and the question arises, where does the difficulty lie? The liver channels, of course, can be plugged by gallstones, dried bile, or even parasites. Furthermore, the walls may become inflamed so that bile cannot pass or they may close because of pressure from the outside. This latter situation may be likened to stepping on a garden hose to stop the flow of water.

How does the jaundiced person look? The whites of the eyes are so conspicuous that if bile exists in the blood in too high a percentage it will be observed in this area rather promptly. Soon, however, the skin takes on this yellow color. As the deposits increase, itching—which is particularly annoying—will be complained of. Then—in an effort to get rid of the unwelcome material—the kidneys will attempt to eliminate it and, in consequence, the urine may vary in shade from a deep yellow to a greenish brown.

The digestive tract, however, shows the greatest effect. Because of the "dam" the stools are clay colored and symptoms include nausea, formation of gas, and loss of appetite. There is occasionally mental depression, headache, drowsiness, and that "all in" feeling.

If there has been a previous history of gallstones they may well be suspected. But signs of "stone" are so clear cut that little doubt need be entertained. Furthermore, special X-ray methods now permit us to visualize these deposits and determine their approximate location.

There remains, then, the so-called catarrhal jaundice, which by all odds forms the largest proportion of cases. Some mild laxative to empty the digestive tract is prescribed and the patient is kept quiet in bed. The diet is liquid, and fats are eliminated, inasmuch as in the absence of bile their digestion is interfered with. As soon as the swelling in the ducts subsides and the flow is reestablished, evidences of trouble begin to recede, although one or two weeks may be required for recovery.

Whenever the blood contains an appreciable quantity of bilirubin its clotting power is interfered with. This means that hemorrhage is far more likely to occur and continue at such a time. Injuries, therefore, should be guarded against and surgical measures undertaken only when absolutely necessary.

TREATING ANEMIA.

C. D. T. writes: I have had pernicious anemia for five years. I have been given liver capsules and liver shots, but do not get along very well. I am under the care of a physician who says there is no cure; that liver helps to prolong life, if taken persistently. I have heard that liver cures pernicious anemia and am wondering if I am taking the right treatment.

REPLY.

Liver is only a part of the treatment, although a very important factor. Hydrochloric acid and other dietary elements may be needed. Some cases are quite stubborn and you may belong to that group. Blood transfusions are of great value in starting improvement.

MAY BE DIETARY.

A. R. writes: In the last six months my fingers, toes, heel and ball of one foot swell at different times. This swelling lasts for three or four hours. There is little discomfort. The afflicted parts sting and become numb. I am 19 years of age. Could diabetes be the cause?

REPLY.

This suggests hives or some disturbance caused by food. Chilblains should be considered also. If this latter condition is present, you will need to protect the parts against chilling and use heat to stimulate the circulation. Not diabetes—no.

MAKING MILK SAFE.

R. M. writes:

1. Is milk from cows which have Bang's disease safe for human beings?
2. What are the physical effects of the germs?

REPLY.

1. Not unless it is boiled or thoroughly cooked.
2. Undulant fever. This is a long drawn out infection caused by an organism known as the Brucella abortus. The "bug" is similar to Brucella melitensis, which is responsible for Malta fever.

MIGHT TRY WALKING.

REPLY.

REPLY.

MODERN ALADDIN AND HIS MAGIC LAMP

From Across the Sea

BY HAROLD TATAM.

BUENOS AIRES.—A truculent "deck delegate," who styled himself as "chairman of the National Maritime union committee aboard the 'Southern Cross,'" took advantage of that ship's stay in this port to throw his weight in several directions.

Deck Delegate John O'Sullivan's main achievement was to call upon the shipping editor of the Buenos Aires Herald, accompanied by a bodyguard. He informed the shipping editor authoritatively that certain articles published in the Herald, although they did not mention names of persons or ships, had so closely described conditions on some American vessels as to cause annoyance and disquietude to himself and his colleagues.

He added that if the Herald continued to print such comment his union might find it necessary to boycott the paper and to prohibit its sale aboard American ships entering the port. He said it also might be necessary to oblige American shipping companies and other American entities to cease advertising in its columns.

His visit was chronicled in the news columns of the Herald together with an exposition of his views on shipping matters.

Editorially, however, he virtually was told to go to the devil. Under the caption of "Impertinent Delegates," he was informed exactly where he had failed to click, together with a summary of the disservice which he and his like are doing to American seamen as well as to American shipowners.

BANKRUPTCY.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Your legal department has helped me quite a bit in the past. I would appreciate help again.

1. If a firm [owned by one man] goes bankrupt what recourse have the people who hold the postdated checks? What recourse have the people who hold current checks that didn't clear prior to bankruptcy and for which there was no money in the bank at the time of bankruptcy?
2. Does it make a difference if the check is for salary? If the check is for merchandise purchased in the regular course of business?
3. Is a creditor holding a judgment note a preferred creditor?
4. Are personal debts wiped out during bankruptcy?
5. Are loans on furniture, etc., wiped out during bankruptcy? A chattel mortgage covers furniture, etc. If the loan company pick up furniture, etc., [6] is the bankrupt person still responsible for balance due?
7. Are there any deductions for a married man, with children, going bankrupt?

S. D.

1. They are in the same position as other creditors. Their claims will be barred.
2. Wage claims have a qualified preference. Merchandise payments have not.
3. No.
4. Yes, if properly scheduled.
5. Yes, as to the personal liability of the debtor; no, as to the lien on the pledged assets.
6. Yes, in absence of bankruptcy or other release, but his liability could be discharged by bankruptcy.
7. The personal property exemption under Illinois law is $400 worth.

ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATE.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An administrator handling a small estate consisting of some cash and a vacant lot for which one inadequate offer has been made and refused by me [to whom the estate is indebted], [1] sends me a final report on the cash only and notifies me—through his attorneys—of his discharge.

2. No mention is made of the real estate. My letter asking what disposition had been made of it and why it was not included in the report remains unanswered, although that was a month ago. A telephone call brought the same result. I wrote the clerk of the court for names of his sureties and he said there were none. What action can I take? I have no means to go to court. C. N.

1. This is the common procedure. Where the personal property is adequate to pay the debts, the administrator does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate.
2. The real estate descends to you by virtue of the statute of descent.

MEMORANDUM FOR CHICAGO HUNTERS.

De Kalb, Ill., Nov. 12.—Considerable publicity is being given Chicago hunters, and this year restrictions are tighter than ever. A "No Trespass" sign is a thing to fear and heed. If the Chicago hunter is displeased about this condition [and the "warning" signs seem to be directed at him particularly] he has only himself to blame. Farmers do not take kindly to stock shot and killed, pigs and sheep carted away, fences cut and gaps left open, and these and worse misdemeanors are all chalked up against the Chicago hunter, possibly not against the Chicago sportsman. And so the "warning" signs grow greater and greater in number and stiffer in action each year, until every corner post carries a "No Trespass" sign.

On top of this, in a great many counties in the state, sportsmen are organizing into units in each town and through the coöperation of the state game conservation department are raising birds in great quantities and liberating them on farms where feed is plentiful and the cover is good and where game economy can be practiced. And all this costs money, time and work, and though I may be selfish I don't think I am alone when I say that I do not care to go to all this work and expense to rear and liberate birds for Chicago guns to mow down, for a Chicago hunter to come and take away and contribute nothing to the cause and leave nothing behind but an irate farmer, a crippled horse or cow and maybe a local sportsman's good hunting dog missing, also.

And so when the Chicago hunter learns some manners and field courtesy, and how not to impose on the farmer whose fields he desecrates, then and only then will he be tolerated and find easier sailing. At present he seems to think that a pint of cheap whisky will buy him the right to go anywhere, shoot anything that wiggles, flies or climbs a tree. Just imagine what would happen if some of us from the sticks would come to Chicago, pitch our camp on your front lawn, leave the "empties" in the gold fish pond, cut the wires to your radio and go south with the cut glass knob from your apartment door.

It seems easy for Chicago to organize from soup to nuts; let Chicago hunters organize their own sportsmen's clubs, rear and liberate your own birds, then you can shoot 'em in your own back yard, hens and all, as you do out here. Get in touch with Mr. McConaghy of the state department. He will call on you and explain the wonderful propagation program and tell you how it is being done all over the state to perpetuate the game of the state for future generations and future sport. He also will be able to discover if you are a meat hunting hoodlum or a sportsman who has the interest of game and the rights of others at heart. L. B. UNGER.

KEPT BOOKS.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 6.—'Member when the federal deficit for the year was announced as $400,000,000? Then in October reported as $695,000,000? Now admitted to be in excess of $1,000,000,000, which leads some of us to wonder what the deficit really is, anyway. S'pose they keep any books? C. L. CLARK.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—This won't get me anything, but after reading Kermit Eby's reply to my letter regarding teachers' salaries I feel I must correct some of the implications in his letter.

Is not pension fund money part of one's salary? Why should that be deducted in figuring the monthly average for a twelve month period any more than any other expense, insurance for instance, which is practically what it is? We stenographers have to pay into pension funds, too, and that is not one of the things we can claim exemption for in computing income tax.

Mr. Eby draws a comparison between salaries, saying that the stenographer receives $1,980 per year while a teacher may receive as low as $1,566 or even $1,409.40 per year. He is comparing minimum teachers' salaries with almost the top salary of a stenographer, for, unfortunately too, not all stenographers receive $140 a month. A few receive more, but those with limited experience receive as low as $900 or $1,000 per year, and they work 11½ months for that money, not 9 or 9½ months, as is the case with teachers. I daresay a large proportion of teachers are receiving the maximum salaries, while stenographers who receive as high as $200 a month are few and far between.

As to training, in the case I referred to in my letter both girls were college graduates and had spent the same amount of time and money for education. Not all college graduates choose teaching as their career. More and more of them go into business offices. Moreover, a teacher with a limited certificate very likely has limited training too.

However, all this is beside the point. We do not begrudge teachers their higher pay. The point I made is that teachers should pay income tax, and I still think they should, Mr. Eby's letter notwithstanding. E. M.

HE WASN'T WARNED.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Last night at 5:45 I double parked on Oak street and a police car with a loud speaker on the top was parked almost across the street. Capt. Flynn was in the back seat with microphone in hand. It was his pleasure to watch me leave the car and enter the drug store for not more than three minutes. No word of warning.

But as I got into the car he boomed directions to Officer Byrne—star 3680—"Get that car—don't let him get away." I received a ticket. It is true I had broken or violated section 24, but are we, the public, to expect the police to watch us park, allow us to leave a car and then issue a ticket when we return?

I have only made my home in Chicago for three months. In Connecticut, where I have driven for over ten years, I have never felt that the police were trying to irame the public. Is it their duty to allow parking right in front of their eyes, and then when you return issue a ticket? IRVING PRITCHARD.

OLD STUFF.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—In view of official and other explanation of how the government may spend social security funds and still have them, I wonder what has happened to the old saying that you can't eat your cake and still have it.

FASCISM IN MANY GUISES IS FOUND RULING EUROPE

Austria cloaks a strongly centralized rule by a little group under a new corporative state system. The Austrian republic and the parliamentary system were abolished in 1934 and Austria became what is known as a federal state. Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and appointed advisers run the country. Parties are forbidden. All must belong to one—the Fatherland Front.

In the Scandinavian countries theory really does run close to practice in government. Democracy such as Americans conceive it actually characterizes governments in Norway and Sweden, even though both keep up their monarchical trappings. Extreme democratic tendencies, in fact, prevail in both countries, with social democratic parties dominating legislatures.

Some Fascism in Finland.

Finland, too, runs to democracy and follows democratic forms in its mode of governing. Social democrats dominate the one chamber legislature. There is, however, also a strong Fascist tendency in parliament and a group of fourteen which wants to make the country Fascist.

In the Netherlands again you see a strong departure from outward form in the actual practice of government. The legislature is of two chambers. But the cabinet, which now is called a national council, is almost independent of parliament. Premier Hendrik Colijn, chief of the so-called anti-revolutionary party, combats the principles of the French revolution.

Ireland, under its new constitution, exhibits augmented tendencies to interfere in all aspects of private life along Fascist lines. The new Irish senate has a distinctly corporative tinge.

In most of these countries government actually devolves about the personality of one man or of a little group of men and the direction of change is to modify government forms so that these strong men or strong groups of men may manage and direct without being encumbered too much by constitutional forms.

Portugal stands apart. There you have a pure dictatorship, too, in the person of Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar. The cabinet is a military and civilian directorate. Under the new constitution of 1933 elections are held on a single ticket. A voter can approve a government slate. Gen. Antonio Oscar de Fragoso Carmona, who has been president without opposition in elections since 1928, appoints the prime minister and the prime minister appoints the cabinet. There is no parliamentary responsibility.

But what stands out even there is the care which is taken to give a constitutional adornment even to government by dictatorial authority.

The outward forms of constitutional practice are maintained even though the actual business of running the country is conducted in a far different way.

Powers Behind British Parliament

WALLACE MAPS A LONG RANGE FARM PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace today sketched a long range farm stabilization program in which compulsory crop control—a major issue among farmers and members of congress—would be employed only as a "last resort."

The program was outlined in a report on the agricultural industry laid before President Roosevelt on the eve of a special session of congress pledged to enact new farm legislation.

Citing an advance in the national farm income to an estimated $9,000,000,000 this year from $4,328,000,000 in 1932, the agriculture secretary declared nevertheless that it should be higher and free from disastrous ups and downs.

Must Be on Even Keel.

"The time has arrived," he said, "when the farmer can begin to build for the longer future . . . on a program that will keep the agricultural industry on an even keel."

The principal feature of Wallace's program was an "ever normal granary" system in which surpluses of good years would be stored for release in years of crop failures.

"Ever normal granary legislation," he declared, "besides helping to smooth out the swings of agricultural production and prices and to regulate the marketing processes also would tend to promote a balanced increase of industrial products because it would give manufacturers some assurance of a steady agricultural market."

Other Features of Program.

Other provisions of the Wallace program:

1. More flexible adjustment of production, year by year, in line with domestic and world market conditions.

2. Continuation of payments for "soil conservation."

3. Price stabilizing commodity loans.

4. Price adjusting payments, or subsidies, financed by a "moderate" processing tax for cotton.

5. Retirement of submarginal land and crop insurance for the wheat areas.

6. Government purchase of surpluses, which then would be distributed to the needy.

7. Marketing programs providing facilities for adjusting the volume of shipments and eliminating low quality products from commercial movement.

TURKEYS TO COST MORE, BUT THEY WILL BE BETTER

Turkeys for Thanksgiving dinners may cost slightly more than last year, according to present wholesale prices compared to those of a year ago, but the birds are fatter and better quality. Quotations on No. 1 young dressed turkeys in carload lots here Saturday were 26½ cents a pound for hens and 25½ for toms, about 2 to 3 cents a pound higher than last fall.

Dealers say they expect the turkeys to be plentiful. The birds are reported to be heavier this year than last because of more abundant feed supplies. The average weight of those coming from Illinois farms is said to be more than fifteen pounds per bird.

Chicago gets many of its best turkeys from Illinois flocks. There are 8,500 turkeys now finished for market at the Ault turkey farm near Kirkland, about eighty miles west of the loop.

DON'T BE AFRAID to get venereal disease treatment for fear it won't be confidential!

Neither your family physician nor this clinic will tell anyone that you're under medical care, so why turn to dangerous self treatment?

Many a venereal disease sufferer is making the tragic mistake of trying to cure himself because he is afraid that—if he goes to a doctor or clinic—his employer, family or friends may learn about his infection. This is an utterly groundless fear, for no reputable physician or clinic will ever be guilty of betraying a patient's confidence!

Thus the man who consults a good doctor or clinic, and who continues treatment faithfully until pronounced cured, need never have his name or the nature of his disorder revealed to anyone. Even the city health authorities do not require the names and addresses of venereal disease patients who report regularly for treatment.

When competent medical attention can be had in absolute confidence, it is the height of folly to resort to self treatment. For regardless of what you may have been told, such treatment does not cure but only paves the way for dangerous complications later on. Speaking of it, a former Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service declared: "Improper treatment of a venereal disease may wreck a person's health beyond repair!"

Why you need a doctor!

The need for a skilled physician's services becomes obvious when you realize that improperly-treated syphilis may lead to heart disease, blindness, deafness, apoplexy, paralysis or even insanity! And that improperly-treated gonorrhea may result in a sight-destroying eye infection, sterility, stricture, crippling rheumatism, or serious prostate, bladder and other troubles.

Therefore, take no chances with either syphilis or gonorrhea, but immediately consult your family physician or come to the Public Health Institute! Not only will you begin getting the kind of treatment you must have to get well, but you will be assured of complete privacy.

In fact, the Public Health Institute goes to great lengths to insure privacy. Every new patient is given a number, and thereafter is known by that number rather than by name. Also, as the Institute does not treat patients in groups, each patient is individually attended in a private room.

This emphasis on privacy, plus specialized medical attention of the most advanced type, has made the Public Health Institute one of the largest clinics of its kind in the world. Since its inception in 1920, its friendly, sympathetic men and women physicians have given almost 5,000,000 examinations and treatments!

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute offers treatment for venereal diseases at the lowest possible fees consistent with specialized medical attention. An examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including blood tests, urinalysis and smears, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea even less.

Hence there is absolutely no reason why any venereal disease sufferer should run the risk of wrecking his health by resorting to ineffective self treatment. For not only is the best of medical attention available in complete privacy and at very low cost, but even persons temporarily pressed for funds can arrange to be cared for!

PRE-MARRIAGE EXAMINATIONS, including all necessary tests, cost $3.00 per person. Those examined before 2 P.M. can have their certificates the next morning.

Chicago "L" outspeeds New York subway!

GIVES CHICAGO PEOPLE RAPID TRANSIT THAT REALLY IS RAPID

● Fast trains, coupled with train CARRYING CAPACITY, make the "L" the backbone of Chicago transportation . . . the only means of Rapid Transit within the city.

And you travel at speeds that no other form of city transportation can offer. The fastest Elevated Trains actually travel at higher speeds than the fastest New York subway trains!

When you ride the "L", you streak across the city. No street traffic lights. No jammed intersections. No slow-moving traffic. You travel on a private right-of-way free from all obstructions . . . above the hazards of treacherous streets.

RELIEVES RUSH HOUR CONGESTION

The part played by the "L" in easing the rush-hour congestion of Chicago streets can hardly be estimated. But here are some rather startling facts.

It would take seven 100-foot super-highways to accommodate, in private automobiles, the people now carried on the North Side "L" alone! Twenty-five more such highways would be required to accommodate, in automobiles, the maximum number of passengers that could be carried in one direction on a four-track elevated structure over the "L" divisions as they now exist.

KEYED TO THE NEEDS OF CHICAGO AND ITS SUBURBS

With its 5,383 trains every twenty-four hours, its fast, comfortable, all-weather service, and its more than 200 protected stations, the "L" gives Chicago and the north and west suburbs a transportation system keyed to the needs of the times . . . and to the convenience of the hundreds of thousands of people it serves each day.

Ride the ELEVATED RAPID TRANSIT to your work tomorrow. Once you use it, you will never be satisfied with anything less.

GET THERE! Ride the "L" THE FAST, COMFORTABLE WAY

Adelaide Ball Is Engaged to Davis G. Kirby

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a tea at their home in Winnetka yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Young Ball announced the engagement of their daughter, Adelaide, to Davis Greene Kirby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Kirby of Newtown, Conn.

The announcement came as a pleasant surprise to all of the young people invited to the party, for they came prepared to felicitate another bride-to-be, Miss Carol Bullard, at whose wedding, Nov. 27, to Richard H. Howland, Miss Ball will be a bridesmaid.

Miss Ball and Miss Bullard were classmates at Wells college. Miss Ball prepared for college at Roycemore school and is an active member of the Chicago Junior league. Mr. Kirby, who is a graduate of Dartmouth and of the Harvard school of business administration, is engaged in business in Chicago. The wedding will take place in the spring.

First Prenuptial Party Given for Carol Bullard.

The tea Miss Ball gave yesterday for Miss Bullard, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sellar Bullard of Santa Barbara, Cal., formerly of Highland Park, is the first of a series of parties that will be given for her and her fiancé, who is a son of Carl B. Howland of Providence, R. I. Mr. and Mrs. Bullard have come back to Highland Park for their daughter's wedding, and have taken the Malcolm D. Vail home until next month.

The wedding reception will be given in the Vail home following the ceremony at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at Trinity church. Mrs. Charles A. Storke II. [Barbara Bullard] will be her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Clari-Jean Bullard will be the maid of honor. Miss Ball, Miss Margaret Smith, and Miss Janet Bard of Highland Park, and three New York friends, Miss Leigh Fletcher, Miss Elizabeth Ridgely, and Miss Janice Sprague, will be bridesmaids.

Mr. Howland's brother, Carl Jr., will be best man, and the ushers all will be eastern friends. Mr. Howland landed in New York last week from Europe and is coming to Chicago Friday. He and his bride will make their home for the next year in Greece, where he is a fellow of the Agora excavations in Athens.

Harry G. Wilmerdings to Be Entertained Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson have planned a cocktail party for Friday for the Harry G. Wilmerdings, who were married in England recently. That same evening Mrs. Mahlon Ogden West is giving a dinner party for the Wilmerdings, later taking her guests to the debate and symposium conducted by Aldous Huxley and Gerald Heard that the English Speaking union has arranged. It will be held in the auditorium of the Lake Shore Athletic club, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Numerous other dinner parties have been planned to precede the symposium, among the hosts being the Charles S. Deweys, Miss Joanna Fortune, the Howell B. Ermingers, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Welles, the Walter S. Carrs, the Alan Dixons, the Mitchell Follansbees, John J. Finlay, and Mrs. John Crerar, who is entertaining for her guest, the Hon. Mrs. Christopher Freemantle of London.

The P. E. N. club is giving a luncheon at the Casino on Saturday for Mr. Huxley and Mr. Heard, who are arriving Thursday evening from California. The visiting gentlemen have been invited to be the guests of honor at the Tavern club's tally-ho breakfast on Sunday.

Thanksgiving Sale at St. James's Nov. 23.

The date of the League and Auxiliary of St. James's church Thanksgiving sale has been set for Nov. 23 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the church. Mrs. Clarence McCarthy and Mrs. George Wilson are co-chairmen of the sale, which is one of the most popular Thanksgiving time events.

The famous mincemeat, made by members of the league after Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson's recipe under the direction of Mrs. Albert Morrell, is one of the delicacies to be found on that day, and mince pie will be on the menu for the Thanksgiving dinner to be served that night at $1.25 a plate. Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, wife of the rector of St. James's, is in charge of the dinner, which the committee prides itself on serving piping hot.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris and Mrs. Orville J. Taylor will be in charge of the tea tables the afternoon of the sale. Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. and Mrs. Alan Dixon are in charge of a "touch and take" table. Miss Lila Woodruff and Mrs. Dudley Buck are in charge of a novelty table. The mincemeat will be mixed today, to-

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

A FRIEND who started out twitting us about what he called our "antiquarian interests" ended by contributing a nice little antiquarian tale himself. Recently he stopped at a lodge in the Shenandoah valley which has been operated for some fifty years by the same proprietor. In chatting with him the old gentleman told of a visitor to the lodge some years before the world war who evinced great interest in civil war battle topography. He had spent several days going over the locale of the Shenandoah valley campaigns and had evinced particular interest in the maneuvers of Gen. Stonewall Jackson throughout the valley campaigns and at the decisive battle of Antietam.

Training School—Case Stater.

The old lodge proprietor had not known the visitor's name, nor whence he came. It was some years later, in 1915, to be exact, when the newspapers were filled with stories of the German offensive against the Russians in Galicia, that drove them out of Poland, that he saw a familiar face staring at him from the columns of a newspaper. He recognized the man as his visitor at the lodge who had been so interested in civil war battle maneuvers and topography. He looked at the caption. It was Field Marshal August von Mackensen, Germany's greatest strategist in the world war.

LETTER from a foreign-born former bus boy at the Hotel La Salle, to the manager of the coffee shop:

Dear Miss

"From your employment in which was deeply attached, I resigned voluntarily with my own free will decision. With the idea in mind to seek for another employment with a little bit more money, I am glad that I acheived to that purpose. After weighing the action I followed, I found out that I made a little mistake, a mistake which I am now presenting to you for your kind consideration. I should have brought you this matter before I quit my work, but frankly speaking I was ashamed for I know I was asking you a little too much favor for me.

"I am ready to come back at any time to assume my former work if only you will grand my request for a little increase considering my financial point of view, which I presented to you when I came to your office. Miss —— upon considering my request for a little increase please bear in mind that I am not asking more so that I am financially equip for a better good time. That is not my point of view. I am requesting you this so that I may be able to finance myself in order to fulfill my purpose of coming to your country, the home of highly educated people. Therefore I must try my best to learn and get the best of you before I will go back again to my humble native land. But how can I fulfill my promise if I am financially week? This question can only be solved with your kind aid by granting my request.

"I know I am no better than any of the boys still working in there. I know they can work as fast as myself, or even faster. But there are those workers, who just do the work that are told to them and still there are those, who are just watching for the time to go by. There are also employees, who worked as though what they are working are theirs, and therefore, they must work as such. To which category I belong, I know you know where to place me for I had been working for you for more than a year already.

"Hoping to recieve for your kind consideration, I am

"Yours very respectfully."

ENGAGEMENTS

At a luncheon Saturday at the Union League club Mr. and Mrs. William M. Stuart of 10943 Longwood drive announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Lenore, to Edward Alden Goble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Goble of 10520 Longwood drive. Miss Stuart was graduated in June from the Loring School for Girls and has been attending Lindenwood college in St. Charles, Mo. Mr. Goble was graduated from St. John's Military academy, and attended Dartmouth college. He is engaged in business in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. William Ohman of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriett, to Rex Leslie Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin of Wilmette. No date has been set for the wedding.

Kreutzberg's Merest Nods Sway Audience

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Simply by a nod of his famous shaven head, Harald Kreutzberg can render an audience of dance enthusiasts speechless with excitement. The great German came to the Civic theater yesterday afternoon to display his many sided art and to accept the homage of his followers.

Kreutzberg is more than a dancer. He is a large minded man with wide sympathies who is extraordinarily aware of the subtleties of the world and who has succeeded in achieving such plasticity of body and face that he is capable of conveying extremely fine nuances of meaning. This he does by means of motion, posture, and grimace, which fact classifies him among the dancers and mimes of the world.

The technique which permits him to ornament a meter so intoxicatingly is less important to the total effect than the frequent archness and mock insouciance of the performance. Kreutzberg's sly humor crops up in the shape of a pat bit of caricature or a wondering glance by which he identifies himself with the members of his audience, and laughs with them at the character [or even the mood!] with which he is dealing.

In his entirely serious moments Mr. Kreutzberg works honestly and successfully at the task of translating into terms of his art the realities hidden beneath the outward forms of such emotions as pride or sorrow.

The audience applauded frantically, compelling the dancer to repeat a portion of "Dance Through the Streets," "Vagabond's Song," and the "Till Eulenspiegel." Mr. Kreutzberg brought his hidden pianist, composer, and arranger, Friedrich Wilckens, to the stage to share the ovation.

Mae Doelling Schmidt, resident pianist and teacher, exhumed the Tschaikowsky Concert Fantasy and performed it yesterday afternoon at the Great Northern with the Illinois Symphony orchestra, Daniel Saidenberg conducting.

The soloist's technical ability and authority of style endowed the ageing measures with temporary life, at least. And her tone was persuasively beautiful in the excited work's more tranquil episodes. Mr. Saidenberg conducted with a knowing ear for the possibilities of the music.

WAGNERIAN SINGERS

BY CECIL SMITH.

The Wagnerian Festival singers, a quintet of excellent vocalists of assorted nationalities now touring the United States under the guidance of Richard Hageman, appeared in the Auditorium theater yesterday afternoon before an audience far smaller than they deserved.

Alexander Kipnis, the basso of the group, found that his friends here had not forgotten him. In the five seasons that have elapsed since he left Chicago he has become an even greater artist, if that was possible. He gave a glorious demonstration of the way in which Wagner's music becomes charged with fresh vitality when it is enlivened by really smooth singing, delicate nuances of color, and sensitivity to the meaning of the text.

Marta Krasova, mezzo-soprano from Prague, is one of the few singers who can accurately be called willowy. Her disposition is one of glowing, sunny warmth. The voice is concentrated and edgy at the same time that it is sweet and fresh, and she sings with commanding line and power.

Hilda Konetzni belongs in the conscientious class of German sopranos. Intelligent, painstaking, musically sound, she has neither great flair nor a class A voice. Her associates, Joel Berglund, baritone, and Henk Noort, tenor, both have good voices, but not much spark.

Richard Hageman, who originally rehersed the group, now plays its accompaniments, aided on a second piano by Karl Young. I have never heard more superlative support.

Charles Henry Manney, Negro lyric baritone, sang in Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the Good Shepherd community center. His voice is meltingly beautiful. He must now develop a sufficient breath support to keep it from losing quality and wabbling off pitch. Properly directed, he can have a fine career.

Looking at Hollywood

The Week's Wash

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 14.—M.-G.-M. loses about $9,000 a week on its radio broadcasts. . . . Coast movie executives knew first that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau had gone to President Roosevelt with an S O S for private business hours before it hit the papers. If Morgenthau's recommendations are carried out millions of dollars wil lstart flowing out here; Twentieth Century-Fox, for instance, will go through with its $27,000,000 deal for the west coast theaters chain, which had been abandoned. That's only one company. . . . Phyllis Brooks will become Mrs. Cary Grant before Jan. 1. . . . Add Resemblances: Mrs. Vincent Astor and Wendy Barrie. . . . The late Ogden Mills' stepson, John Fell, is here for a few days. Yesterday Director Frank Lloyd was telling him about Seabiscuit's phenomenal winnings for the year. "Don't tell me," moaned young Fell. "I sold that horse to Mr. Howard for $8,000." To date Seabiscuit has won about $150,000. . . . Studio raving over Connie Bennett's nice behavior in current flicker. She's a different gal. . . . If Evelyn Laye and Frank Lawton call it a day, his next will be a member of the Marshall Field clan of Chicago.

GLATT AND WEISS ARE WINNERS IN WHIST TOURNEY

The American Whist league closed its tournament at the Hotel La Salle last night with the playing of the finals for the All-American contract pair championship.

The winners were Arthur Glatt and Albert Weiss, who scored 437.5 points. Right behind them were Paul Smith and Elmer Berkenfeld with 437.3 points. Third place went to Allyne Paris and Robert F. Rubel, last year's champions, with 432.5 points, and fourth place to Ralph Kempner and Walter Jacobs, with 425.5 points. Champions Glatt and Weiss and the others are Chicagoans.

The nonmasters' championship was won by Mrs. Catherine S. Lewis and Mrs. A. A. Day. Behind them, in order, were John Halpin and Al Wolfe and Mrs. W. L. Folds and Mrs. H. Bridegroom. All are Chicagoans.

Light Hearted Screen Drama Has Laughs and Touch of Tears

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This is a light hearted little drama—full of exaggerations—but lightened by laughter, and, if you weep easily, tenderized by tears.

Under smooth direction an able cast depicts the following story:

A starving artist, Bob Graham, falls in love with and marries an idealistic Long Island social girl, Julie Stoddard, who joyously gives up a life she loathes to share his garret.

Spurred on by Julie's devotion, Bob starts out to do fine work—but, once famous, falls into the toils of an energetic siren who sets out to manage his affairs so that he shall coin money. This he does by painting flattering portraits of the wealthy.

He grows to care for the luxuries he'd scorned before. . . . Julie—to make a long story short—finally deserts him for his own good—and it proves the ultimate making of the lad.

Until the last few scenes, which slap on too much slapstick, the piece is interesting and brightly dialoged. Lovely Rosalind Russell gives one of her characterful characterizations. She makes you believe in Julie every minute.

Robert Montgomery is slick as Graham. Robert Benchley as his amiable, drinking, loyal sidekick is immense. Other players were what the rôles called for.

"Live, Love and Learn" is laudably brief. It should keep the pennies dropping on the box office sill.

See you tomorrow.

SYNOPSIS.

When rich old Caleb Winter died his wife, Isabella, once his housekeeper, wires her daughter, Sally Lee Keyne, at school in Maryland, to come home at last. Because Caleb had demanded a housekeeper without family ties Isabella had never told him about Sally. Sally bids good-by to wise Mary Culpepper, school headmistress. En route she meets Robin Ashe, whose family live near the old Crewe mansion, Sally's new home—he falls in love with her—and has an unpleasant encounter with an arrogant tramp called Vincent. The morning after Sally's homecoming Joseph Marr, his lawyer, reads Caleb's will and her mother has a stroke. Informed of his wife's deception, Caleb left everything to his first wife's nephew, Obadiah Crewe. Mrs. Winter, if she stays on as housekeeper, to have shelter and an income. The new heir turns out to be the tramp—Vincent Obadiah Crewe. Though she hates and fears him, Sally serves him as housekeeper in her mother's place. Vincent inherits Caleb's tricky West Indian valet, Manchi. Gossip reaches Robin that Sally is the new heir's mistress. Vincent surprises Sally when he tells her he loves her and asks her to marry him. He shocks her by harboring an evil looking tramp who is ill. When Robin calls to beg Sally to marry him she announces that she is going to marry Vincent. Vincent is told by Manchi that he is not Caleb's nephew, but the illegitimate son of Caleb's first wife. Vincent takes the evidence, forced from Manchi, to the lawyer.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

A FORTUNE RELINQUISHED.

Marr looked up from the papers at Vincent and saw with amazement that he was younger, freer, and more open of eye and face and smile than ever before in the lawyer's acquaintanceship with him.

"If you remember Winter's will, it was kind of explicit about me being heir only as Jessica's nephew," said Vincent. "Seems like he and Manchi had a sort of consultation before he got you to draw up that will and fixed it between them that if punishing the poor living wife brought into Crewe House a mighty undesirable citizen, Manchi had the power to oust him. If the little fool hadn't lost his head, he'd have taken a dismissal and carried his proofs to Mrs. Winter or to you. But he was physically scared of me and fear made him lose his nerve. Anyway I guess he'd have rather kept me on as owner under his thumb, see? But he spilled the beans and I picked 'em up. I admit I had to give him a sort of third degree, but he was able to quit Crewe House last night and will likely bring suit against me for assault and battery."

Marr made no further comment, asked no further questions until he had carefully digested the papers in the envelope and carefully consulted a copy of Winter's will. After perhaps half an hour of this silent study and fifteen minutes of a sort of humming in his throat and desk tapping . . . an interval which Vincent spent in patient smoking and an apparent study of the floor between his feet . . . Marr leaned back, sighed deeply and spoke.

"Mr. Crewe, sir, your honesty does you credit. I am rather at a loss to understand why, when you were to make the identical use of this evidence, you troubled yourself to use a third degree to get possession of them."

Vincent's color slowly rose.

"This may well mean," Marr continued with a certain sternness, "the loss of your recently acquired fortune."

"I tell you what," the young man spoke with surliness, "there was a little time in there when I wasn't, maybe, so sure I was going to show any particular honesty."

Marr hummed and hummed. "It is not easy to face such a loss, sir."

"That's how Monkey figured it out. He reckoned that I'd be scared to kick him out."

"This might well mean, sir" . . . Marr took up his former phrase, but knowing that this young man seated before him was the child of Jessica and Peter Gale, had changed and softened the expression of the old man's eyes. He was, moreover, moved as a lawyer is apt to be, by an act of honor and of sacrifice, the more strongly, perhaps, by the blunt admittance of temptation. "I fear that it must mean that Mrs. Winter is the legal inheritor of the estate. That, of course, is merely an ex-cathedra opinion. You might make out a case for yourself. The phrasing is clear enough, but a lawyer can create ambiguity, can pick flaws."

"Hell, I'm not going to hire me a lawyer. I'm going to get out. I've had three months of being a Virginian gentleman and that's about all, I reckon, I'm good for."

Marr rose. He leaned down on his hands and spoke with emphasis.

"If you will allow me to express my considered opinion, Mr. Vincent, it is to the effect that you have had about twenty-five years of being a Virginian gentleman and it is my hope that you will have at least twice as many more."

After a brief pause, in which Vincent's face reachieved its copper hue, he muttered, "Looka here, will you go and tell the ladies? . . . It'd come easier from you, I reckon."

"Well, sir, if you insist."

So he went out of the office and down into the sultry street, nor, in the interview with his lawyer, had he mentioned the fact of his recent matrimonial engagement to the young woman who was now again about to become the mistress of Crewe mansion and of Caleb Winter's large estate.

This young woman had herself on the hot July morning taken definite action. She had breakfasted alone in bed, but as soon as this meal was finished, and she dressed, she went to her mother's bedside and sat down there, smiling and shaking her bright hair.

"Well, mother, you'll probably be glad to hear that I have subdued the tyrant's rage."

"What do you mean, dear?"

"I have promised, in the Victorian fashion, my hand to Mr. Vincent Crewe."

At that Mrs. Winter cried out harshly and loud and put her own free hand quickly to Sally's shoulder.

"O, Sally, Sally . . . is that true?"

"O-hum." The bright hair danced in vigorous nodding.

"But . . . are you happy? Can you be? Only yesterday you said . . ."

"Yesterday is one thousand years ago, mother. So much has happened to me since then, inside and out."

"But, darling, do you . . . have you been able to tell yourself that you love Vincent?"

"That will be all right. I know it will be all right. If he is all you think he is. What was it? Honest and humble and gentle . . . then the other will come."

She stood up, cool and smiling, as Vincent himself looked at that same moment in Marr's office, lifted her mother's sick hand, to fondle and kiss it and to put it down again.

"So I am 'still the Lady Claire' and you are no longer the ex-housekeeper, sweet, but the mother of the house. And Vincent thinks so highly of you we will spoil you terribly."

"But what about the things that troubled you so? The secrets? The difference in his past life . . .?"

Sally made her eyes huge and her mouth tiny . . . a face which no one could look at without laughter. "O-o-o-o I shall get his secrets from him the way Beauty got the Beast's . . . and I'll educate him . . . he hasn't had a chance yet. And I think he will do for me the things I ask. There are a few things that he will have to do." Then she smiled again, spoke of an interview with the cook and went out.

For all her great eyes and her mobile face, Sally had never imagined that she had the makings of an actress. But no comedy queen with the proverbial heartache of the clown could have suffered a change of countenance more complete at the fall of a curtain than did Sally at the closing of her mother's door.

When a dreamer of dreams is sharply stabbed awake, when a romantic is cut by the harsh edge of fact, he is widely awake and is, for the nonce, more bitterly practical than any worldling. Sally's face within the door had been the face of happy, careless, and triumphant girlhood; outside the door it had become quite straight and set and pale and even almost stony. A resemblance to her mother emerged, a look, that is, of patience and a firm resignation to her own convinced will. For it is possible to rebel in secret against one's own decisions or to be to them utterly resigned.

GASOLINE ALLEY—ONE WORRY AFTER ANOTHER

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Television Will Ruin Lots of Alibis

Home Courtesy a Preventive for Impudence

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"How's everything with the houses?" I asked.

"O, terrible since old John went back south. He was so faithful and so polite to all the tenants. But this Joe I've got is a trial.

"I went away for the week-end, and when I got back I heard the furnace fires had all gone out and that Joe had been on the rampage.

"So I went right over to see my pet tenant. And incidentally I'd like to tell you the conversation. I said to Mrs. Benton: 'I hear that the house was freezing and Joe was very impudent to you—I'm so sorry.' She looked at me and smiled rather quizzically. 'Well, the fires did go out,' she said, 'but Joe wasn't impudent. I'd never allow myself to speak to him in a way that would give him an opening to be impudent.'

"You know—I liked that. She's one of the gayest, jolliest women I know, and yet she has a native dignity."

I have complaints from mothers frequently that their children [of almost any age] are impudent and talk back. And I wonder often whether the way in which they are handled or spoken to may not be largely responsible.

You may joke and be nonsensical and free and easy with your children—but, if an atmosphere of friendly courtesy and underlying respect for them permeates your relationship with them, they're not going to be impudent.

But if you argue and quarrel back and forth with them, if you don't behave in a way that merits their regard, what can you expect? If you go further and lose your temper and stamp your foot and shout: "How dare you disobey—go to your room!" and they answer: "I won't—try to make me!" can you blame them? Can you expect them to have more poise and self-control than a grown person? You "set the tone."

No child is really impudent if his parents have an inner dignity of their own and treat him not with a silly stiffness but with real courtesy.

The Housewife

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

The housewife who does her own ironing ought to invest in one of the handy hangers we saw recently. This gadget consists of two 15-inch, chromium plated rods that swing in any direction and that are fitted to a holder which, in turn, you attach to the wall, or the door, or to any smooth surface. No screws or nails are needed, as the work is done by rubber suction cups, which means this hanger can be moved whenever you need it.

For use when ironing the rods are most convenient for hanging up lingerie, stockings, shirts, blouses, youngsters' frocks and play suits to dry and cool before folding. You just slip them on hangers and hook these over the rods.

"Orange Baskets" Is Old Standby Applique Quilt

Orange Baskets.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Just as we have made May baskets and cherry baskets to be filled and left surreptitiously at sweetheart's doorsteps, so do we make and fill "Orange Baskets." The "Orange Basket" applique block is one of the old standbys of quiltdom. It is one of those patterns which allow wide range in the choice of colors which harmonize or contrast with a rich, mellow shade of orange. This block also is one of the difficult applique jobs, since the oranges must be set together with utmost accuracy. The diagonal applique blocks are set together in an alternate arrangement with plain blocks, and the edges are finished with plain half and quarter blocks, surrounded by a three inch border and a one-half inch bias binding.

Too Rapid Reducing Causes Wrinkles in the Face and Neck

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Quick reducing is one of the greatest mistakes a woman can make when she sets out to take off poundage. It causes wrinkles. When she reduces too rapidly she loses in the wrong places. Usually the face and the neck are the first places to show the loss, and because of it years are added to the countenance. Reducing should not be greater than two pounds the first week, after which the loss may be from four to five pounds.

You can lose two pounds a week without adding an extra wrinkle to your face if you are willing to exercise consistently, plan menus which provide the proper amount of strength yet do not contain too large a number of calories, get the required amount of rest and sleep, and allow yourself an occasional massage to keep the muscles and tissues in condition. Exercise and massage improve the circulation, and tone up the skin.

When you've lost the desired amount of weight you don't want to turn around and disregard all the reducing measures which have made the present weight possible, or you'll find the weight piling back on again.

Plan meals that are not too full of calories. It's not difficult. You'll have enough food to satisfy your appetite and yet you won't be adding pounds. Have fruit juice, a slice of toast and black coffee in the morning; luncheon of clear soup, a sandwich or salad, and a fruit dessert. Have a dinner of lean meat, several green vegetables, and a fruit dessert.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The "femininity in fashions" rage is, if we're any judge, here to stay for quite a long time. Women are finding that it's fun to swoosh around in veils and plaited gowns and to have la-de-da touches to all their costumes. All is softness and sweetness.

Even the nail polish shades have gone feminine in a big way. Fingertips, to be in the mode, should be polished these days in soft shades.

There are exciting new shades carefully blended to set off the natural ivory tones of the skin. Nothing of the "flaming Mamie" about these! They're to make the hand look softer, whiter, and more ladylike and fragile.

There are deep shades, but they're not the fire engine variety. Two are in the blue-red class, two are golden red with a dusting of brown. But softest and, we think, prettiest of all, is wistearia, which is faintly violet-rose in tone. It prettiies up the hand and blends beautifully with most of the fall costume colors. Then there is clover, a bit deeper than wistaria. Either of these is good with purples, blues, or black.

Nasturtium is a golden red with enough brown to tone it down to softness. Thistle is a suave pinkish brown—good with browns and greens and mixed tweeds.

These all deserve your attention if you want your hands as well as your clothes to be in fashion.

"O, it's nice to get up in the morning; but it's nicer to lie in bed." It won't be nicer if there's enough breakfast appeal to lure lingering sleepers from out the downy coverlets.

Toast and coffee with perhaps oatmeal and fruit haven't enough pulling power to disperse the sandman's handiwork in all cases, but breakfast eggs usually will do it. And they needn't always be fried or scrambled. There are dozens of ways to fix breakfast eggs without monotony.

SHIRRED EGGS.

Place a tablespoon of cream in each egg cup or muffin pan. Break an egg into each, sprinkle with salt, and bake at 350 degrees, moderate oven, until the egg whites are firm, about 15 minutes. The salt may be added just before serving the eggs, if desired.

SUNDAY MORNING EGGS.

Dice one-half slice bacon for each egg to be cooked. Fry until about half done. Scrape the diced bacon into little piles, one for each egg, and drop the eggs over the bacon. Sprinkle each egg with fine cracker crums and moisten the crums with milk, about one teaspoon for each egg. Sprinkle salt and pepper over the eggs, cover, and cook over very low heat to the firmness desired. Transfer to a hot platter. A little grated cheese may be added to the crums before they are sprinkled on the eggs.

EGGS ON APPLE RINGS.

Core and slice crosswise enough apples to allow a slice per egg. Slices should be about one-quarter inch thick. Fry in bacon fat for several minutes on each side. Then drop an egg over each apple slice, season, and cover. Cook over low heat until eggs are as firm as desired. Transfer to hot platter with broad spatula. Extra rings of apple may be cooked to serve as garnish. This is a good way to combine fruit and main course in the breakfast.

HAM AND EGGS, COUNTRY STYLE

Gash the fat on the edge of a slice of ham half an inch thick. Brown quickly in a frying pan on both sides, using no additional fat. Reduce heat and cook ham slice slowly for ten minutes or so longer. Remove to a hot platter and keep warm in the oven until eggs are ready. Break eggs one at a time into a saucer and slip into the hot ham fat. Cook over low heat until whites are firm, basting occasionally with the fat. Season and transfer to the ham platter.

Parsley Scrambled Eggs.

[Serves Two to Three.]
4 eggs
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon minced parsley

Beat eggs slightly and combine with other ingredients except butter. Melt butter in top of double boiler and pour in the egg mixture. Stir and cook over hot water until the eggs are firm but not dry. Transfer to hot platter and serve with buttered toast. Eggs may be scrambled in a skillet if the heat is kept very low.

Wife of Van Nuys to Play in National Bridge Tournament

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Outstanding among the contract bridge players in congressional circles here is Mrs. Marie Krug Van Nuys, wife of Indiana's senior senator, Frederick Van Nuys.

Mrs. Frederick Van Nuys. [Bachrach Photo.]

Mrs. Van Nuys will play on the Washington Bridge league team in the national bridge tournament which will get under way here on Nov. 29. The senator's wife, one of the most popular hostesses in the congressional social set, is also intensely interested in social welfare work.

Born at Sullivan, Ind., Mrs. Van Nuys first took up music as a career, singing as soloist at several of the leading churches in Indianapolis, then later branched into business as a domestic and foreign buyer for a large Indianapolis store. After her marriage Mrs. Van Nuys devoted much of her time to charity hospital work in the aid of crippled children.

The senator and Mrs. Van Nuys are not regarded as socially ambitious, but their apartment here in the capital is a popular gathering place for the members of the senate and leading officials of the administration. The guests have termed the atmosphere at the Van Nuys' apartment one of "Hoosier hospitality."

Simple, Becoming Day Frock

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This simple and becoming daytime dress, ideal for all types of afternoon events, is one which suits debutante and matron alike. The original is fashioned of black dull crêpe, with contrasting bands in two shades of green at the neckline. Lighter shades, of which there are many pretty ones now fashionable, also will be seasonally smart.

The embroidery pattern, No. E-11175, which is a grand one for the collar trimming, is available for ten cents extra.

Style No. 2030 is designed for sizes 16, 18, and 20 years, and 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 39 inch light and dark contrasting.

The REASON WHY!

FRESH cranberries should be served often.

ECONOMICAL—one pound of fresh cranberries makes 2½ pounds of sauce.

Ten-Minute Cranberry Sauce
(Stewed Cranberries)

1 pound or quart (4 cups) cranberries — 2 cups water, 1½ to 2 cups sugar

Method: Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes; add cranberries and boil without stirring (5 minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins pop open. Remove from the fire when the popping stops, and allow the sauce to remain in vessel undisturbed until cool.

Tweed Skirts and Sweaters Match Exactly

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some people go mad about gloves, others clank with costume jewelry, some sink their all on hats, plenty of shoppers go on a buying binge when they're low and acquire wicked nightgowns, still others spend the last penny for bags that are different, but the sweater collectors go on forever.

They think nothing of owning too many sweaters to count, or of having so many different colors that they spend hours gloating over the assortment, so a few new finds will be just the more tempting.

We have found some prize soft winter sweaters that are matched to skirts of nonstretchable tweed the exact color of the sweaters. Long sleeved slipons and matching cardigans are available in mouth watering colors. Mint green, soft chalky yellow, a stunning rust, two shades of blue and the cornflower tone [a color to make history] are only six of the famous shades. There's a natural tint capable of starting a good shopping riot, too.

The sweaters are soft, equal to the trip through-the-ring test for bulk, and launder beautifully. The skirts are made of sturdy yet soft tweed of a blurred and faint herringbone pattern. They are simple, slightly flared, and stitched three times around the lower edge in lieu of them. They are gored to fit smoothly and each distinctive tint of any sweater can be matched with a skirt.

For the rebels, the contrast stunt offers unlimited mixups, with skirt, cardigan, and slipon offering chances to achieve daringly different color combines. Prices are well within the limits of an average clothes allowance.

Women of Rotary Party to Aid Crippled Children

The University of Chicago's Home for Destitute Crippled Children and the Illinois Research Hospital Surgical Institute for Crippled Children will benefit from the annual charity party of the Women of Rotary club, Wednesday at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Mrs. C. N. Cahill, general chairman, has arranged a fashion show, bazaar, card party, and other activities.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The question that appeared last Friday was:

Question 40: You are South, and vulnerable. Opponents are not vulnerable. West, your left hand opponent, deals and the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Pass	Pass	?

You hold:
♠ A K J 9 8 5 ♥ 2 ♦ A 10 8 3 ♣ 6 4
What call do you make?

Answer: You should bid two spades. You must express that you are not merely "protecting," nor reopening tentatively, but that you have definite game aspirations. [Three demerits for passing, two demerits for doubling, for bidding one spade or four spades; one demerit for bidding three spades.]

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 41: Both sides vulnerable. Your are South. The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 6 4 3 ♥ 7 ♦ K J 10 9 8 6 ♣ Q J 9
What call do you make?

Question 42: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Double	3 spades	?

You, South, hold:
♠ Q J 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ A K Q J
What call do you make?

TODAY'S HAND

Match point duplicate:
North, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

♣ A Q 4 3

EAST
♠ J 10
♥ K 7 2
♦ Q 10 9 4 3

SOUTH
♠ K Q 8 3
♥ 10 9 6
♦ A J 7 5
♣ 9 8

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 spades	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened a small trump. Declarer won and did not make the mistake of taking out trumps before establishing side suits. He immediately played a club toward dummy's king. West won and led another trump. Declarer won and finessed against the heart king. East, on winning, had no trump to lead, hence shifted to a diamond. The ace won, the club king was cashed, and a club ruffed. A heart to dummy, the ruffing of the last club, then the reëntering of dummy with the diamond ruff, to draw the opponents' last trump, gave this declarer the good match point score of five odd.

Tomorrow's Hand

Alliance Francaise to Have Novel Program.

The Alliance Française is having what promises to be a very interesting affair on Thursday afternoon. The program will be given by Edwin Gordon, 6 year old pianist, and Alta Warsawska, dancer. Mrs. Walter R. Kirk will be hostess at the tea that will follow the program, assisted by Lady Cheatle of London, Mrs. Alden Swift, and Mrs. Orville Taylor. Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, president, and Mrs. Daniel Taylor, chairman of the membership committee, will receive.

At the causerie Mrs. Allen C. Howes will be presented with the decoration of officer d'Academie by Rene Weiller, the French consul general.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr. [Frances Wood] are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Calvin Fentress III., at Michael Reese hospital Friday morning. The baby's maternal grandparents are Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, and his paternal grandparents are the senior Mr. and Mrs. Fentress.

Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy left last Friday for an eastern trip, but she expects to be back in time to pour at a tea to be given in the gymnasium of the Chicago Latin school on Nov. 23 for friends, parents, and alumni. Lawrence Whiting will speak at the tea, which is being given by the trustees to discuss a proposed campaign for a fiftieth anniversary fund. There will be no solicitation at the meeting, however.

Cenacle Guild Committee to Attend Tea Today.

Mrs. Henry Murphy, Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody, and Mrs. George D. McLaughlin are giving a tea at the Casino at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for the committee in charge of the Cenacle Guild card party to be given Nov. 27 at the Stevens hotel. Mrs. John B. Drake and Mrs. Charles A. Schreiner Jr. are in charge of a group of young women who will be assisting at the benefit.

Mrs. Edward V. Platt is entertaining at tea this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at the Quest Art Galleries in Tower court for her brother, David Leavitt. A two weeks' exhibition of Java and Bali paintings, drawings, and water colors by Mr. Leavitt will be opened at the tea. Among those assisting Mrs. Platt in receiving and pouring will be Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. Philip Maher, Mrs. John Root, Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr., Mrs. George Senseney, Mrs. Sydney Heap, Mrs. Robert Pyzel, and Miss Frieda Foltz.

Mrs. Hill Blackett of Winnetka will entertain fifty guests for luncheon at her home today, initiating the membership drive of the Woman's Republican club of New Trier township. Mrs. Blakett will be assisted by Mrs. John P. Hooker, Mrs. Lewis B. Ermeling, Mrs. Alfred H. Taylor, and Mrs. Walter Marx. Mrs. Edward B. Hall, president of the club, has announced that the public is invited to attend a meeting tonight at the Winnetka Community house, at which William Hood will speak.

Critic, II, Finds Play Abstruse for Tiny Tots

[At the first performance of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" Saturday morning by the Children's theater of the Junior League of Chicago, questionnaires were passed out to the children so that the league could find out how children like their productions. Here is an 11 year old girl's account of the performance, which will be repeated the next three Saturday mornings at the Grand Opera house.]

BY JUDITH CASS JR.

This morning I saw "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." I enjoyed the play very much, but I think it was a little too advanced for the younger children. There was so much about holy matrimony. The small children moved about so much and asked so many questions about things that had nothing to do with the play.

Mrs. Wiggs [Mrs. Richard Gambrill Jr.] was quite a character. She was such a motherly lady and always ready to comfort some one, and she never bothered any one with her own troubles. I liked the opening scene with every one getting dressed for the Stubbins-Hazy wedding. The bride's costume was very amusing with a black dress and an old, holy [there is an e missing] curtain for a veil.

I liked Billy Wiggs [Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr.] because he was such a real boy. So was Chris Hazy [Virginia Hart], who was always teasing. Lovey Mary [Mrs. Harry McLeod] was very pretty. It was very disappointing never to see Little Tommy. He was afraid to come onto the stage. [The Roger Whites' Quinny had stage fright to such an extent that he never appeared before the audience.]

It was very funny when Mrs. Wiggs and Lovey Mary and Billy tried to lose Mr. Stubbins [Mrs. Roger Shaw] by putting him in a fraight car. Miss Hazy's [Mrs. Charles Brantingham] and Mr. Stubbins' wedding cake was quite a cake, but it was surprising there was any left for the wedding, for the children were nibbling at it all the time.

The costumes were very good. [Mrs. Francis Stanton did them], but I did not like the scenery very much. I hope the Junior league will have another play soon. I wish they would give "Little Women."

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks and the powerful and fast Toronto Maple Leafs last night battled to a 3 to 3 tie at Chicago Stadium. A crowd of 13,000, scarcely expecting the Hawks to put on the great performance they did, roared approval of their revived heroes throughout the entire engagement, in which the Chicagoans thrice tied the score.

The Hawks, in their one earlier home game, had appeared uninspired and devoid of skill or purpose. Then they went on the road and played a 2-all tie with the Canadiens and socked the Rangers, 3 to 0. But all the exhiliration these road successes had produced chilled off a bit when the Hawks Saturday night met these Leafs in Toronto, and absorbed a 7 to 3 drubbing. Nevertheless, those 13,000 loyalists showed up in the big red hall last night. And they were glad they did.

No Let Up Here.

From the starting whistle to the finish of the overtime period there was no evidence that the two teams had played a vigorous game in Toronto twenty-four hours earlier. Speed and more speed characterized almost every second of last night's engagement. Buzz Boll scored the first goal of the evening in the first period, but a few minutes later Mush March tied it up after taking a pass from Doc Romnes.

The second period was half over when Charley Conacher scored a goal. The period ended with the Leafs leading, 2 to 1.

Then came the third period, which the dyed in the wool bugs will put down as one of the fastest of the season.

Earl Seibert tied the score on a shot from the blue line, pandemonium ensuing. Then came a glum interval when Conacher cashed again, but in a little more than two minutes Bob Davidson was put off the ice for one of the two fouls of the evening. Then the Hawks laid down a power attack which clicked in 32 seconds after it was launched, Johnny Gottselig scoring with stellar assistance from Paul Thompson and Cully Dahlstrom.

Everybody Was Happy.

The tie, which most of the customers seemed to accept as being as good as a victory, enabled the Hawks to remain at the head of the American division, though Boston moved up for a tie in the standings.

Both sides skated zealously from the outset but the goalies were equal to all emergencies until Boll of the Leafs broke through for the first score of the evening in 8:58 of the first period.

Gottselig and Thoms engaged in a struggle in front of the officials' box on the Leafs' right boards and Thoms succeeded in jabbing the rubber out to Boll, who advanced on his right side of the rink to a point 30 feet inside the goal line. Then he let loose

Fenwick and St. George, unbeaten leaders in the north section of the Chicago Catholic High School league, battled to a 7 to 7 tie yesterday at Mills stadium. Six thousand shivering fans watched the game, which was to determine the sectional title.

The winner was scheduled to play Leo, south division champion, next Sunday for the league title. Fenwick and St. George officials, meeting last night, decided that the game should be replayed Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d and Cottage Grove avenue.

Decide Against Flip of Coin.

The playoff game was agreed to after representatives of both schools expressed a reluctance to decide the winner by the flip of a coin. The champions of the Catholic league will play the Chicago Public High School league winners in Mayor Kelly's charity game at Soldiers' field Nov. 27.

St. George, in earning a tie yesterday, scored its touchdown in the fourth quarter after marching from its 35 yard line. John Leys, half back, went across on a twenty yard run. Leys fumbled as he crossed the goal, but recovered for the score. Jim McPartland, half back, kicked the extra point.

Fenwick Scores on Pass.

Fenwick, 1936 Catholic league representative in the charity game, scored its touchdown in the second quarter after recovering a St. George fumble on the Evanston team's 42 yard line.

Donald Kruger faded back on second down and passed fifteen yards to Roy Collins, star quarter back, who ran down the side line to score. Kruger added the extra point.

SANTA CLARA'S PASSES DEFEAT ST. MARY'S, 7-0

San Fancisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Santa Clara, one of the few undefeated, untied major football teams of the nation, maintained its unblemished record today with a 7 to 0 victory over St. Mary's, traditional rivals of the Broncos.

Some 45,000 watched the Broncos put the ball into play at midfield in the third quarter, advance to the 10 yard line with two passes, and then score as Half Back Barlow tossed over the goal line to Full Back Fisher.

Bears Show They're Still Bosses of the League

Beattie Feathers, a Bear half back, leaps to knock down a Brooklyn pass from Ace Parker that was intended for Austin. This play occurred as the Bears scored a 29 to 7 victory over the Dodgers yesterday at Wrigley field, thereby retaining first place in the National Pro Football league. A field goal, a blocked punt that was recovered in the end zone, and three passes for touchdowns accounted for the Bears' scoring. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Purple Warns Future Foes: Its Sophomores Are Good

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern's opponents next year may take Saturday's game between the Wildcats and Minnesota as fair warning of future difficulties. For against the Gophers, who now seem quite likely to win the Western conference title, Northwestern pitted an opening lineup which included four sophomore linemen, Nick Cutlich, Don Guritz, John Haman, and John Goldak, and a sophomore full back, Jay Laskay.

This by no means completed Northwestern's array of first year performers. Laskay had replaced Jack Ryan, the regular sophomore full back since the first game of the season, because Lynn Waldorf and his aides had decided to utilize Ryan as substitute for Capt. Don Heap and to send Bob Swisher to right half. Then there was Nick Conteas, sophomore replacement for Fred Vanzo; George McGurn, another sophomore full back; Frank Young, sophomore substitute tackle in place of Bob Voigts; Hal Method, sophomore guard, and Bob Daly and Ted Grefe, sophomore ends.

No conference eleven this season has uncovered as many good first year men, nor has any conference eleven been forced to use as many sophomores. There is hope for the 1938 campaign and there is credit due now for the satisfactory development of inexperienced line material. The Wildcats have lost three conference games, but each has been lost by only one touchdown. With the possible exception of the Illinois game, Northwestern has turned in surprising performances, although defeated.

Two Principal Reasons.

Competent instruction has been an important factor; team spirit has been even more important. Saturday at Minneapolis, Mike Calvano and Erwin Wegner, Wildcat veterans who could not play because of injuries, assisted as spotters for radio announcers. And Wegner's comment in the Northwestern dressing room after the game not only was expert praise of the man who replaced him, John Haman, but a tribute to team morale.

"I didn't mind watching this game from the radio booth," Wegner told his teammates, "when I saw Haman out there playing a better defensive game backing up the line than I could have played myself."

Minnesota won by its first period forward pass from Harold Van Every to Capt. Ray King. But this one touchdown fell far short of the assertion that Minnesota would be satisfied with nothing less than three touchdowns. That the Gophers did not blast through the Wildcat line also detracted from the full enjoyment of the victory for which Minnesota had waited one year.

It Might Have Been.

Minnesota might have realized its ambition except for Moore's fumble on Northwestern's 9 yard line, recovered by Tom Eby, in the second quarter and an offside penalty in the fourth period when Gmitro ran to the Wildcat 5 yard line. But Northwestern's hard tackling caused Moore to fumble, and, of course, the Gophers must blame their own eagerness for the offside penalty.

Northwestern has as much right to hold to the declaration that Minnesota might not have scored except for the confusion resulting from three players trying to tackle King as he received the touchdown pass from Van Every.

The pass was thrown short over the heads of Vanzo and Haman, backing up a six man line. It was caught just before Heap came up to knock it down. Heap crashed into Haman, and as all three of the Wildcat defenders fell, King twisted free to travel the last few yards. Even so, this failure was not as important as the preceding fourth down pass, an identical short throw from Van Every to Dwight Reed, left end, for a first down on the Northwestern 6 yard line. This was the crucial play in the series leading to the touchdown.

King Starts Drive.

This scoring opportunity opened with King's interception of Heap's forward pass and his run of forty-seven yards to Northwestern's 17 yard line. Not until the moving pictures are shown will Northwestern know how or why King, a right end, came all the way across the field and behind his own line, leaving his position entirely unprotected, to intercept the pass far to the left. To say the least, it was unorthodox defense and is justified only on the presumption that most of Northwestern's passes have been thrown this season to this side of the line.

Most surprising result Saturday was Indiana's 3 to 0 victory over Iowa, a decision unjustified on the basis of yardage gained and first downs accomplished. The Hawkeyes,

MONTAGUE, 'THE GREAT,' PLAYS AT LAST; IT'S A RIOT

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The wildest, craziest golf gallery that ever stampeded through a sand trap disrupted and finally broke up today's charity exhibition at the Fresh Meadow Country club, leaving the question of John Montague's golfing skill still a mystery.

At the end of nine holes, when everybody concerned, including the 10,000 spectators, had had enough, Montague and his partner, Sylvia Annenberg, were approximately 2 down to Babe Ruth and Babe Didrikson. Approximately is the word, for Montague was unable to play out two holes and none of the quartet managed to reach the short ninth green after having hit his tee shot.

Too Tough for Braddock.

It was wild and wooly from the start. Jim Braddock, the former heavyweight champion, left after battling through to the first two greens.

"I'm getting away from here before I get a foot in my face," he said.

Although 10,000 tickets had been sold at a dollar apiece, no provision was made to police the gallery. Practically all second shots, as a result, were hit over the crowd in the general direction of the green. For the actual putting the four perspiring players were lucky to find a spot 10 feet square. Babe Ruth, entering into the spirit of the occasion, used his putter as a billiard cue to drop a couple of short ones.

What Can You Expect?

Considering the terrific handicap they all did pretty well. The two Babes were only 2 over 4s for the eight holes they were able to complete. Montague was 4 over for seven holes, which wasn't nearly as bad as it sounds. Shooting into the crowd made his nervous, he admitted. Mrs. Annenberg, who had a special policeman to get her through to the greens, shot a string of six 5s and a deuce.

Ruth, with one shirt sleeve in tatters, finally fought his way to the clubhouse gripping a niblick desperately.

Throughout the jamboree the Babe's backers from up in the Bronx had been shouting every time he started to hit the ball: "Knock 'er out of the lot, Babe," or "Clout one for me, Babe."

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—When ship news reporters asked Eddie Brannick, secretary of the New York Giants, whether he intended to visit Italy on his European tour, Brannick replied: "No. I've seen too many Di Maggios already." . . . Notre Dame's support from subway and curbstone alumni reached new heights in New York Saturday. . . . A volunteer assistant, obviously in a high state of exhilaration, bolted out of the stands in the third quarter, shifted to the right and raced to midfield where the Notre Dame and Army players were milling in the mud. . . . Pulling his hat down on his head like a helmet, he spat on his hands and was all for tearing each and every Cadet limb from limb. . . . He was put out of the play, however, by two cops who, using the Warner double wing back, cut back to the weak side and rushed him off the premises. . . . The police were called upon to run down an Army supporter who insisted on firing his pistol every time the Cadets made more than a yard. . . . He was taken to a shooting gallery for the rest of the afternoon. . . . It's getting so a guy can't have any fun at a football game any more. . . . Why, only two weeks ago some people at Wrigley field became outraged because an exuberant customer tossed a couple of beer bottles from the upper deck, narrowly missing some Bear fans in the box seat section. . . . Tst, tst, tst! . . . This softening civilization. . . .

Clint Frank is regarded as a greater basketball player than football half back, but Yale athletic officials will not permit him to compete on the court. . . . Lefty Weisman, trainer of the Cleveland Indians, owns the candy and lunch concession in the Cleveland ball park. . . . After the University of Detroit and Boston college football teams had battled each other in the mud for two hours Roy Larson, Detroit end, found that his uniform weighed 29 pounds, eleven more than normal. . . . The United States Golf association feels it is sitting pretty in the matter of 1937 gate receipts. . . . The national open at Detroit brought a net gate of $25,000 while $15,200 was taken in during the national amateur in Portland, Ore. . . . Babe Ruth's most treasured baseball trophy is a pair of cuff links, the first gift he ever got from fans, presented by Boston rooters when he was pitching for the Red Sox. . . . Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox, will return to Chicago from Philadelphia on Nov. 28 to attend the minor league meeting in Milwaukee and major league meetings in Chicago. . . . He hopes to land a hard hitting outfielder, but is under the impression he will open the 1938 season with practically the same combination with which he finished this fall.

West Point Cadets, who are permitted to spend the night of the Notre Dame game in New York, are not allowed to take more than $5 apiece from the campus. . . . Unless you've tried to do Broadway on Saturday night, you don't realize the gravity of the situation. . . . There have been more decisive scores registered in the series between the Irish and Cadets than Saturday's, but your correspondent, who has been watching the annual battles off and on since 1919, never has seen one team assert greater superiority than Elmer Layden's athletes did yesterday. . . .

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Chicago's Bears, led by Jack Manders and Bernie Masterson, employed every method but power plays and safeties to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 29 to 7, in a National league game at Wrigley field yesterday.

Three touchdowns resulted from forward passes, one came on a blocked kick and Manders placekicked from the 35 yard line to subdue the helpless Brooklyn club. The Bears, still in first place, now face the necessity of winning their three remaining games to clinch the Western division championship.

Dodgers Score on Pass.

Brooklyn, submitting to its seventh defeat in nine starts, was a disorganized and ineffectual opponent except for two brief spurts in the second half. Ralph Kercheval and Jeff Barrett combined on a fifty-four yard forward pass play for a touchdown on the fourth play of the third period and a Brooklyn drive, featuring passes, carried sixty-seven yards to the Bears' 3 yard line in the fourth quarter.

Here the might of the Bear line, in which Guards George Musso and Danny Fortmann and Tackle Joe Stydahar were outstanding, convincingly established the disparity between the contestants by hurling back four thrusts and taking the ball on the 1 yard line.

Manders scored the first sixteen points of the game in the second quarter and gave the Bears a 16 to 0 lead at the half by taking two passes, one for twelve yards and another for thirteen, from Masterson for touchdowns, in addition to his field goal. He placekicked the first extra point, but his attempt for the second was blocked.

Wilson Blocks Punt.

George Wilson, rookie end from Northwestern, blocked Kercheval's punt and recovered in the end zone for the third Bear touchdown in the third quarter and Ray Buivid, former Marquette star, passed three yards to Dick Plasman, rookie end, for the fourth in the last minute of play.

Bronko Nagurski, under orders to curtail his wrestling activities until after the season, was the leading ground gainer of the day, setting up the first two touchdowns with long jaunts off tackle. He went thirty-three yards to pave the way for the first and forty-six yards to the 20 yard line in the march that led to the second.

Passers Are Hurried.

Brooklyn appeared to be at the complete mercy of the league leaders, making only 176 yards from scrimmage, thirty of which accrued from rushing and 146 from passing.

Brooklyn completed 8 of 19 passes and had only one intercepted. One of the completions was for interfer-

BRUNDAGE TAKES HAND IN A. A. U. ELECTION PLANS

Hint Chicagoan May Bid for Mahoney's Job.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The first break in the peace and harmony that have prevailed so far in the 49th annual convention of the National Amateur Athletic union came tonight as former President Avery Brundage called a caucus to nominate a presidential candidate.

Until Brundage, chief figure in the controversy which involved Eleanor Holm before the 1936 Olympic games, made his move, the 300 delegates had been in agreement on almost every point. They had, in addition, been agreed on naming the successor to Jeremiah T. Mahoney by popular acclaim.

Maybe It's Mr. Brundage.

The Chicagoan's candidate generally was considered to be Judge Samuel Hoyt of New Haven, Conn. Other sources indicate that Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, might be inclined to run for the chief A. A. U. office again.

Those not in the Brundage group had as their most favored nominee Col. Frank E. Lowe of Portland, Me., president of the Maine A. A. U. Fred Steers of Chicago and Lawrence di Benedetto of New Orleans, chairman of the track and field committee, also were mentioned as candidates.

Mahoney Explains Stand.

Until this break occurred, not in open meeting, but in "don't quote me" statements by various reputable delegates, the most important piece of business presented in today's first general session of the convention was the annual report of the president, New York Attorney Mahoney.

Mahoney told the convention the A. A. U.'s decision against sending a track team to Germany last summer was based on discrimination against Jews which appeared far worse than in the years preceding the 1936 Olympics, held in Germany.

As precedent, Mahoney cited to the 300 delegates resolutions taken before the 1936 Olympic games to the effect that no American athletes would be sent to Germany until that country changed its attitude on the question of discrimination against Jews.

Conditions Are Worse.

"Investigation seemed to establish that conditions were far worse in Germany in 1936," said Mahoney, "in so far as discriminations were concerned, than existed in November, 1933 [when the A. A. U. first took its stand], or in December, 1935."

At the same time Mahoney's report reiterated the A. A. U.'s professed willingness to compromise with the National Collegiate Athletic association regarding representation on Olympic games committees.

"We are very glad to give all honor and credit to the splendid athletes who as graduates and undergraduates of colleges have aided so materially in the many victories won by America," Mahoney said.

Hawks' Rally in Third Period Ties Leafs, 3-3

That's the Way to Rally.

The Leafs stayed ahead less than four minutes. As soon as the Thompson-Romnes-March line went on for its second stint, March carried the puck well into the Toronto defense zone until he was headed off by Horner. Mush then passed to Romnes, who returned to March. Mush skated across the cage and, after he was past the toes of Goalie Broda's boots, he flipped in the tying marker. The time was 12:05 and Romnes drew an assist.

The second Leaf goal was negotiated shortly after the half way point in the second period and was due in a measure to the fact that the Hawks neglected their defense in a zealous attempt to score. At nine minutes on the dial Gottselig and Thompson led a tremendous attack which Broda turned back through a stirring combination of skill and luck. With all the Hawks moved up in the big power rally, Horner got the puck in his own defense zone and got it out to Conacher. Conacher, unmolested, beat Goalie Karakas with a hard shot from 15 feet out. Horner was credited with an assist.

Then the Fun Began.

Then came the whopping third period. Seibert tied the score at 2-all in 6:37 on that shot from the blue line. He had taken the puck in Hawk defense ice, then skated down the middle across both blue lines. Just as he crossed into Toronto ice the Leaf defense got set to give him the squeeze, whereupon Earl let loose a high one, which flew past the nonplussed Broda for the counter. Romnes was awarded an assist.

The score became 3 to 2 for the visitors in 9:14. Thoms skated around Seibert, charged toward the cage and then fed the disk to Conacher in front of the nets. Conacher poked it in.

The Hawks got their tying opening at 11:32 when Davidson was tossed into the penalty box for charging Seibert into the boards.

Gottselig Ties It Up.

The Hawks promptly moved up with a power offensive. Dahlstrom and Thompson whanged tough ones, then Gottselig picked up a rebound from close in and scooped it home for the tying tally. The time was 11:32 and Dahlstrom and Thompson earned assist points.

The overtime saw both teams taking chances to break the tie, thus adding to the satisfaction the game gave the customers.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins opened their season tonight with a 3 to 2 victory over the New York Rangers. A crowd of 15,000 saw the game.

The Bruins ran up a 3 to 0 lead in the first two periods. The goals were scored without assistance by Bobby Bauer and Milt Schmidt in the opening period, and by Bill Cowley early in the second.

Clint Smith started both New York scoring moves. With less than six minutes to go, he passed out of a corner to Butch Keeling, who scored. About a minute later, Smith drove down the middle lane and passed to Babe Pratt, who slapped a closeup shot past Goalie Tiny Thompson.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A pair of third period goals gave the New York Americans a 2 to 0 victory over the Montreal Maroons tonight.

Jack Shill charged through the Montreal defense for the first goal. In the closing minutes the Americans broke away for the clinching goal. Nelson Stewart got this one with the aid of Joe Jerwa.

A brief fist fight between Hooley Smith of the Americans and Jerry Shannon of the Maroons enlivened the second period.

WINGS BEAT CANADIENS

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The champion Detroit Red Wings defeated Montreal's Canadiens, 2 to 1, tonight before 10,872 spectators for their first victory of the season.

Hec Kilrea's goal at 2:22 of the third period broke a tie and gave Detroit its winning margin after some neat stick handling by Pete Kelly had set up the score.

Detroit had to come from behind after George Mantha fired the first goal on a long drive out of a mass of players at 5:44 of the first period.

While Red Goupille was in the penalty box in the second period the Red Wings powered to tie it up, Johnny Sorrell shooting one in forty feet.

A Quick Census.

In a one horse town downstate a number of boys and old timers go to the station every afternoon to watch the train from the city go through. One day when the train stopped a passenger, obviously from the city, stuck his head out the window and shouted at one of the old timers, "Say, pop, what's the population of this burg?" The old timer paused a moment and then said, "Count 'em."

If a cave man and kitty
Make love that is witty,
What chance has a miss
Who's afraid of a kiss?

This cave man Oak Parker,
Sounds just like a "Barker"
Whose bark is much worse
Than his bite, and his purse.

A "dog" with his money,
A courting a kitty;
O my! What a pity.

A cat and dog life
They'll lead, with much strife;
And a miss he will miss,
Who's afraid of a kiss.

Leo Scores Late to Whip Catholic, 12-6

Leo, south division winner in the Chicago Catholic High School league, finished its sectional schedule yesterday by defeating Catholic High at Joliet, 12 to 6.

Leo started a reserve team and trailed at the half, 6 to 0, Hucek scoring for Catholic on a three yard plunge. All of Leo's points came in the final quarter, Brooks, left half back, scoring both touchdowns, the second in the last half minute. He terminated two marches from midfield, the first on a thirteen yard dash around end and the second on a three yard plunge.

De La Salle and Mount Carmel won their final south division games yesterday and thereby completed their schedules in a tie for second place. De La Salle beat St. Philip, 12 to 0, at St. Philip, while Mount Carmel routed St. Rita, 26 to 6, at St. Rita.

Loyola defeated St. Mel, 33 to 0, in a north section match at Loyola stadium. Loyola took third place in the division as a result of its victory. De Paul handed St. Patrick its sixth consecutive league defeat, 20 to 0, at the De Paul field.

BRUNS OPPOSES MARSHALL AGAIN IN TITLE MATCH

Harvey Woods, Kid Irish Box at Marigold.

A boxing show at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, and a wrestling card at the Coliseum, 15th street and Wabash avenue, will share the spotlight tonight.

Harvey Woods, one of the most skilful junior lightweight boxers developed in St. Paul, will try for his fifth straight victory in an eight round bout with Kid Irish, Benld, Ill., slugger, at Marigold.

Everett Marshall will defend his heavyweight mat championship in a one hour match topping the program at the Coliseum.

Vernon Patterson, 1937 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight champion, and Tony Petroskey, experienced Muskegon, Mich., fighter, will co-star in a six rounder at Marigold. Additional contests:

Tommy Howell vs. Billy Sullivan [4], 140.
Jack Stamper vs. Warren Pumphrey [4], heavyweights.
Eddie Helstrom vs. Owen Woods [4], 147.

In a previous match this season Marshall defeated Bruns at the Rainbo Fronton before an overflow crowd of 3,200. Supplementary bouts:

Orville Brown vs. Jack Claybourn.
Dorv Roche vs. Mike Kilonis.
Fritz Von Schacht vs. Pat Kelley.
Al Williams vs. Frankie Talaber.

Joe Louis, heavyweight champion, will return from California today to referee in the annual Schenley Athletic club production at Chicago Stadium tomorrow. Barney Ross, welterweight title holder, also will officiate. In addition to these present day headliners a number of old time champions will be on hand, including George Gardner, Jimmy Barry, Buddy Ryan, Harry Forbes, Johnny Coulon, and Battling Nelson. . . . The wrestling show scheduled at White City tonight has been canceled. . . .

A team of Aurora boxers will meet Chicago representatives in a series of amateur bouts tonight at Northwest arena, 3968 Milwaukee avenue.

C. Y. O. Will Hold Quarter-Final Bouts This Week

Quarter-finals are scheduled for this week in the seventh annual Catholic Youth organization Christmas fund boxing tournament.

Starting tomorrow night and continuing through Thursday evening, boxers who were victorious in the preliminary matches of the C. Y. O. meet will perform.

The quarter-final bouts will be for boys from three sections, north, south, and west. The first of these bouts will be for west side qualifiers tomorrow night at the Madison Athletic club, 4711 West Madison street. On Wednesday night the north section matches will be held at the Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, and on Thursday night the south side youngsters will be seen in action at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

A number of former and present C. Y. O. boxing champions and outstanding amateur fighters will compete. Among them are Frankie Kainrath, the O'Connell brothers, Joe and Eddie, Al Noto, Tony Motisi, Jim Diamico, Bob Wilinski, William Goldsmith, Hiner Thomas, and Stanley Murczek.

The semi-finals are scheduled for Nov. 22 and 23 at the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. Sixty-four boxers, thirty-two in the open division and the same number in the novice class, will take part in the semi-finals. The winning boxers will appear in the finals Dec. 1 at the Chicago Stadium.

PIRIE, MITCHELL EACH WIN THREE YACHT EVENTS

Lockwood Pirie and Leeds Mitchell Jr. each won three of the seven races held yesterday in Belmont harbor under auspices of the Chicago chapter of the North American Dinghy association and the Chicago Yacht club. Grover Steffen, member of the afterguard on the schooner Bagheera, Commodore John T. Snite's flagship, won the remaining race.

A one mile triangular course was sailed. Pirie won the first, second and seventh races. He is a member of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club. Mitchell was first in the third, fourth and sixth events. Steffen won the fifth.

LIONS' PASSES AND KICK BEAT GIANTS, 17 TO 0

Hand New York Worst Defeat of Season.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Detroit Lions defeated the New York Giants, 17 to 0, today before 35,790 fans at the Polo Grounds who watched the invaders stop the Giants' offensive and turn on a running, kicking, and passing attack of their own which netted a field goal and two touchdowns. It was the worst beating the Giants have taken this year in the National Professional Football league.

Led by a horde of hard running backs equipped with fast-breaking plays, the Lions started slowly in the second period. They were on their own 40 yard line when Vernon Huffman, a great back all afternoon, shot a long pass to Ray Morse, who evaded charging Giant line men. The play put the ball on the Giants' 22 yard line.

Monahan Kicks Field Goal.

Three plays later Regis Monahan, former Ohio State star, place-kicked a field goal from the 20 yard line to put the Lions in possession of a lead they never lost.

Soon after the second kickoff the Lions, led by Dutch Clark, their quarter back and coach, drove down to the Giants' 11 yard line from their own 22. On the 11 yard mark Clark faked a shovel pass that had gained at midfield and shot a forward to Morse on the goal line. The end fell over the line for the first touchdown and Monahan kicked the extra point.

Giants Put on Own Drive.

The Giants staged a drive of their own in the fourth quarter, but Del Ritchhart, Lion center, caught a pass from Hank Soar intended for Ray Hanken and raced the ball out of danger.

It was the New Yorkers' last bid. Ritchhart put the ball on the 40 yard line and Lloyd Cardwell brought it up to the 28 yard mark. Huffman then tossed a long pass to Harry Ebding, who caught it over the goal line as he fell. Lineup:

REDSKINS LOSE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Washington Redskins, their two offensive threats bottled up by a determined Pittsburgh Pirate eleven, suffered a 21 to 13 defeat today in a National Professional Football league game.

The Redskins scored in the first period. Don Irwin and Cliff Battles advanced the ball to the 3 yard line. Then Riley Smith threw a pass over the goal to Ernie Pinckert.

A moment later Bill Davidson ran sixty-eight yards for a Pirate touchdown.

In the second period, after Washington took a penalty that set the Redskins down on their 7 yard line, Baugh juggled a pass from center behind the goal and Lindy Mayhew fell on him for a safety.

Armand Niccolai kicked his first of two field goals from the 21 yard line in the third period.

Baugh's touchdown pass to Justice put the Redskins ahead, 13 to 12, in the fourth period, but Niccolai then kicked his second field goal from the Redskins' 41 yard line, putting the Pirates in front, 15 to 13.

TORCHY PEDEN'S CAR STOLEN, BUT SOON RECOVERED

It required only a short time yesterday for the police to determine who stole the automobile of William [Torchy] Peden, six day bicycle racer, from the Palmer house garage at 30 West Quincy street.

Employes reported that it had been taken by Donald Jones, 1314 Devon avenue, who formerly worked in the garage. When Jones, who is 22 years old, was arrested he admitted the theft and disclosed that he left the car parked at Lake street and Sacramento avenue. It was recovered.

Florals Beat Austin Bears in 3d Period Drive, 6 to 0

A smash off tackle from the 3 yard line by Engle in the third quarter gave the Brandt Florals football team a 6 to 0 victory over the Austin Bears at the Bears' field, North and Harlem avenues, yesterday. The Florals had gained possession of the ball when Schwartz intercepted an Austin pass. Bloemsa and Engle then alternated in smashing the line to set up the scoring play.

BEARS PILE UP 29 TO 7 SCORE AGAINST DODGERS

ence. The Bears, relying for the most part on reserves, gained 354 yards, completing six of fourteen passes. The six completions netted 90 yards in addition to three touchdowns, and the running attack advanced 264 yards. Brooklyn escaped without a penalty while the Bears were set back nine times for a total of 65 yards.

Bears Take Lead.

Scoring began shortly after the Bear regulars had come into the game in the second period. Parker's punt was killed on the Bears' 37 yard line and in four plays the league leaders had established a lead. Nagurski broke outside Right Tackle Sandberg and charged thirty-three yards down the field before Maniaci forced him out of bounds on Brooklyn's 30 yard line. Manders popped through a big hole inside Left Tackle Whatley for fifteen yards on a quick opening play and added three yards outside Sandberg.

Then Masterson fired a pass to Manders for twelve yards and the score. Manders added the extra point.

Neither team was able to advance consistently after the ensuing kickoff.

Manders Kicks Goal.

An exchange of punts followed, winding up with Nolting returning Kercheval's high spiral fifteen yards to the Bears' 25 yard line, from where Nagurski led another scoring thrust. Masterson's twenty-nine yard pass to Nolting from a man in motion formation was the chief gain in this advance, which carried forty-three yards to the 29 yard line, where two passes failed. Manders then dropped back to the 35 yard line and place kicked a field goal, making the score 10 to 0.

Brooklyn elected to kick off after the field goal and Nolting brought it back twelve yards to the 34 yard line. Nagurski cracked inside the Dodgers' left tackle on the first play, bumped off tackler after tackler, and thundered forty-six yards up the field to Brooklyn's 20 yard line. Nolting got five yards on a quick opening play inside tackle and Manders cracked over guard for two.

Bears Increase Lead.

Masterson then called the same pass on which Manders had made the first touchdown and the big half back took the ball on the goal line for the score. His attempt to place-kick the extra point was blocked by Wardell Leish, former Louisiana State guard. This sent the teams to the intermission with the score Bears, 16; Brooklyn, 0, Manders having made all the Bears' points.

A daring bit of deceit fooled the Bears in the first minute of the third period and brought Brooklyn a touchdown. The Dodgers received the kickoff and Maniaci made eight yards in two plunges and Parker's pass fell incomplete, making it fourth down on Brooklyn's 46 yard line. Kercheval dropped back into punt formation, presumably to kick, but passed to Barrett, who ran forty yards down the side lines for the score. Maniaci kicked the extra point.

The Bears began a march after Zeller returned the kickoff four yards to the 43 yard line, but bogged down on the Dodgers' 10 yard line after a penalty had set them back fifteen yards and Feathers' fourth down pass to MacDonald gained only thirteen yards. Kercheval attempted to punt out on first down, but Wilson blocked the kick and recovered in the end zone for a touchdown. Molesworth added the extra point from placement.

Bears Conclude Scoring.

Molesworth set up the Bears' last touchdown by punting fifty-one yards out of bounds on Brooklyn's 24 yard line then taking Kercheval's return kick back thirty-nine yards to the Dodgers' 27 yard line. Buivid's first down pass failed, but Molesworth made a shoestring catch of his second one for five yards.

Buivid's third consecutive pass was taken by McDonald for eighteen yards putting the ball on the 6 yard line. Buivid picked up three yards on an off tackle smash, then passed to Plasman in the end zone for the touchdown. Molesworth's attempted place kick for extra point was wide.

ARONSON-ROOP FINISH FIRST IN ROLLER DERBY

Beware, Big 10, of Those N. U. Sophomores!

with the possible advantage of Indiana's overconfidence and letdown following the Hoosiers' triumph over Ohio State, outplayed Indiana. But Iowa couldn't score and George Miller's placement, his second in two games, provided the winning points. Iowa now has finished its conference schedule with five defeats. Chicago will share the cellar berth in the Big Ten unless the Maroons, who won their first game of the year Saturday by beating Beloit, 26 to 9, can whip Illinois.

Two Games to Decide Title.

The Big Ten title hinges on the results of the Minnesota-Wisconsin and Ohio State-Michigan games this week. If the Gophers lose and Ohio State wins, then the Buckeyes would have a mathematical advantage resulting from a six game schedule. Although Michigan defeated Pennsylvania Saturday, 7 to 0, for its fourth victory of the season, which includes Big Ten conquests of Iowa, Illinois, and Chicago, the Wolverines scarcely can hope to halt a superior Buckeye machine which thoroughly trounced Illinois Saturday, 19 to 0.

Wisconsin assured itself of a tie for a first division position in the final standings by tying with Purdue Saturday, 7 to 7. Cecil Isbell, Boilermaker star back, fumbled to present the Badgers with a touchdown when Dorsch recovered the misplay in the end zone and Eckl place kicked the point. Purdue retrieved those points when Isbell shot a remarkable fifty-five yard forward pass to Jim Zachary, who then ran seventeen yards to the goal and Isbell converted.

This does not tell the story of Wisconsin's early threats nor describe a wide open offensive centered on passes. And ten fumbles, seven by Purdue, touched an all season high for the Big Ten.

Duke Is Beaten.

Since Duke was beaten Saturday, 14 to 6, by North Carolina, Alabama, Pittsburgh, and Fordham remain outstanding possibilities as the eastern representative in the Rose bowl. Alabama rallied in the final minutes to whip Georgia Tech, 7 to 0. Fordham did not play. Pittsburgh, duplicating its fourth period rally against Notre Dame, came from behind to give Nebraska its first defeat of the year, 13 to 7.

Fighting as courageously on defense as they did against Minnesota, the Cornhuskers turned back Pitt for more than three periods and also scored seven points on Dodd's sixty yard return of a Panther kick after he had received a lateral. Pitt completely outplayed Nebraska, holding the Huskers to a net loss from scrimmage, but not until the fourth quarter was Pitt able to march to the goal. Frank Patrick scored, but Frank Souchak's placement for the point struck the posts and bounded back.

A Nebraska fumble started a second successful assault which covered thirty-two yards in six plays, and Stapulis scored. Pitt had a net gain of 250 yards to compare with Nebraska's net loss of nine yards.

Army Is Brave, Anyway.

Notre Dame followed precedent by whipping Army in New York, 7 to 0. The game was decided under miserable weather conditions and before 80,000 rain drenched spectators. Army's valiant goal line defenses which turned back the Irish five times within the Army 10 yard line, prevented the contest from becoming a rout. Notre Dame gained 217 yards to Army's 89 and had an advantage in first downs, 13 to 3.

If the Irish, who now have played five consecutive games with only one touchdown a game, can finish the season with victories over Northwestern and Southern California—not an unreasonable hope—they will have established a far better record than seemed possible after the scoreless tie with Illinois and a defeat by Carnegie Tech. Pitt owns the second decision of the year over Notre Dame.

POLOISTS PLAN TO START INDOOR PLAY NEXT WEEK

Herbert J. Lorber announced yesterday that the indoor polo season will open a week from next Saturday night at the 124th Field Artillery armory instead of on Jan. 8.

Advance in the date is due to the scheduling of a pair of games for the benefit of the Hines Memorial hospital patients' fund.

Lorber announced that the revised schedule calls for regular Saturday night competition on Dec. 5, 12, and 19. The league campaign will be resumed on Jan. 8.

Chicago Stars Win, 3-2, from Internationals

BY OFFSIDE.

The Chicago league All-Stars defeated the International league All-Stars, 3 to 2, yesterday at Sparta stadium in the first of the two game series for the Cermak Memorial trophy.

International, favored by a strong wind, opened the scoring after fifteen minutes as Keberle drove into the net from a well placed corner by Hampson. Chicago tied it up fifteen minutes later on Ogilvie's goal, then went ahead a short time later as Al Waldron drove into the net with a hard overhead kick. International tied it up near the close of the half as Absil scored on a pass from Hampson.

Playing with the wind in the second period, Chicago scored the winning goal after twenty-five minutes as Riebe, International goalie, fell and the ball bounced over his arm into the net. International missed a chance to get even as Absil, with a clear goal, shot over the bar in the final minutes. Lineups:

PACKERS' AERIAL BARRAGE BURIES EAGLES, 37 TO 7

15,000 See Herber and Hutson Collaborate.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Green Bay Packers buried the Philadelphia Eagles under a barrage of passes before a crowd of 15,000 today, to register their seventh straight National league football victory, 37 to 7.

Arnold Herber, the Packer passing ace, led the assault, tossing passes for three of the five touchdowns. Two were to Don Hutson, the former Alabama star.

Pass Produces Touchdown.

Bob Monnett, Packer half back, passed to Eddie Jankowski for 12 yards and the first Green Bay touchdown. In the second quarter Clarke Hinkle, full back, kicked a 23 yard field goal. Hinkle then raced sixty yards to place the Packers in scoring position again and a short pass from Herber to Hutson netted the touchdown. Hinkle added the extra point with a place kick.

In the fourth period a pass from Herber to Bernard Scherer, end, was good for seventy-eight yards and another touchdown. Engebretsen added the point. Buckets Goldenberg intercepted a pass and ran twenty-seven yards for another score and again Engebretsen kicked the point. After the next kickoff, Keen, Philadelphia back, passed fifty-three yards to Carter. Carter caught the ball on the 33 yard line and ran to score. Reese added the extra point.

Packers Count Again.

The Packers' final score came on a Herber to Hutson pass that was good for thirty-four yards.

The Packers completed eleven of their nineteen passes for a gain of 243 yards. Lineups:

★ MORE THAN FOURTEEN 3 TON TRUCKS WOULD BE NEEDED TO CARRY THE 74 TONS OF POTATOES, PEAS AND CARROTS USED IN THOMPSON'S CHICKEN PIES LAST YEAR. IT TOOK 84,900 POUNDS OF DOUGH TO MAKE THE FLAKY PIE CRUST.

★ IF ALL THE YOUNG AND TENDER MILK FED CHICKENS USED IN THOMPSON'S CHICKEN PIES, LAST YEAR, WERE REPRESENTED BY A SINGLE BIRD IT WOULD WEIGH MORE THAN 16 FULL GROWN ELEPHANTS.

★ YOUNG, TENDER MILK-FED CHICKEN, POTATOES, PEAS AND CARROTS, EXPERTLY SEASONED, RICH WITH GOLDEN CHICKEN GRAVY—COVERED WITH A CRUNCHY, FLAKY PIE CRUST AND INDIVIDUALLY BAKED. WITH ROLL OR BREAD AND BUTTER—30¢

★ In 1936, Thompson's 114 Restaurants in 37 cities baked and served 475,622 individual chicken pies (computed on actual chicken poundage used), 170,000 pounds of selected, tender milk-fed chickens were used in these delicious chicken pies, as well as peas, carrots, potatoes, rich chicken gravy and flaky pie crust in proportion. MOTORIST SETS SHINING EXAMPLE AND WINS PRIZE

Politeness Is in Contrast with Faulty Driving.

Reinhy Pawly, 4062 Kenmore avenue, a painter employed at the Palmer house, was informed yesterday that he is the winner of THE TRIBUNE'S weekly $5 politeness award for courteous driving in the week-end traffic rush. He was awarded the prize for extra consideration shown other motorists in the heavy Saturday afternoon traffic at Ogden and Harlem avenues, Lyons.

Reinhy Pawly.

A reporter who drove over city and county thoroughfares Saturday and yesterday in search for motoring courtesy, found several instances of improper and discourteous driving.

Road Hogging is Noticed.

Signals for a left or right turn, required by the Illinois motor code, were not properly given by many of the drivers. A few cases of road hogging—driving at a slow pace on the inner lane of a four lane highway and retarding traffic—were noted.

An automobile with Illinois license 46-231 [issued to Mrs. Mildred Korfist, 231 Lawton road, Riverside] was being driven slowly by a man on the inner lane of Harlem avenue, near the junction of route 66 [Joliet road] while motorists honked their horns in protest.

Denies Driving Improperly.

A. J. Korfist, husband of the owner, later said that he had been driving the car in the vicinity but denied driving improperly.

Another automobile bearing license 759-488 [issued to Phil W. Berkowitz, 4820 North Springfield avenue] a short while later was noted driving north on the inner lane, causing the same inconvenience to drivers. Berkowitz later said that he did not recall the incident.

An automobile with license 970-418 [issued to William E. Kendall, 4021 Park avenue, Brookfield] going west in Ogden avenue, turned into a side street in the suburb without warning drivers behind him.

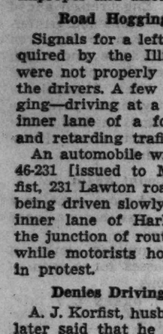
Few Comply with Law.

Section 65 of the motor code provides: "A signal of intention to turn right or left shall be given not less than 100 feet before turning."

Pawly was one of those who followed the code. Driving with his wife and daughter, Miss Louise Pawly, he was seen to lower the window of his car more than 100 feet from the intersection and extend his hand horizontally as a signal for a left turn.

'ALBERT J. BUNGE, COAL MERCHANT 50 YEARS, IS DEAD

Albert J. Bunge, head of the Bunge Brothers Coal company, died yesterday after a week's illness at his home, 422 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park. Mr. Bunge was 70 years old. He had been in the coal business for 50 years and was one of the charter members of the Chicago Coal Merchants association. Surviving are his widow, Edna, and one sister, Miss Emma Bunge, of Oak Park.



Albert J. Bunge.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. from the chapel at 523 Lake street, Oak Park, to Grace Episcopal church, Oak Park. Burial will be at Waldheim cemetery.

Walter Dennison, 77, Active in Republican Party, Dies

Walter W. Dennison, 77 years old, who was for many years active in Republican affairs in Chicago, died yesterday at the home of his son-in-law, Charles N. Goodnow, 8102 Paxton avenue, former judge of the Municipal court. Mr. Dennison was a deputy bailif of the Municipal court from 1906 to 1919 and a deputy sheriff from 1919 to 1927. He is survived by three daughters and two sons. Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's of the Lake church at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Nine Accused of Raising and Selling Marihuana

Charged with having raised and sold marihuana in violation of a federal law which went into effect Oct. 1, nine Mexicans will be arraigned today before United States Commissioner Schuyler C. Dwyer in Hammond. They were arrested Saturday near Plymouth, Ind., by federal narcotics agents from Indianapolis and East Chicago police following complaints by teachers that the weed was being sold to school children.

Tim Biever, Aurora Bank President, Is Dead at 73

Tim Biever, president of the Aurora National bank, died last night in St. Charles hospital in Aurora after an illness of several weeks. He was 73 years old. Until five years ago, when he became president of the bank, Mr. Biever owned a furniture business in Aurora, which he had conducted for 50 years. Surviving are his widow, and three sons, Clarence and Carl of Aurora and Elmer of Des Plaines.

SWAMI, TEACHER OF HINDU BELIEF, IS DEAD AT 44

Swami Gnaneswarananda, teacher of Hindu philosophy, died yesterday in his apartment at 120 East Delaware place. He had been suffering from a heart ailment for the last six months. He was 44 years old.

The swami [a Hindu title of respect] was founder of the local Vedanta society, concerned with Hindu thought. The society had a membership of 400 men and women and met weekly at 32 West Randolph street.

Gnaneswarananda was one of ten monks of the Hindu order of Ramakrishna, a Hindu saint, in the United States. He had spent nearly 20 years as a missionary at the Ramakrishna mission near Calcutta, India. Funeral arrangements are being delayed until his nine colleagues have been notified of his death. The swami was born at Dacca, India, and educated at the University of Calcutta. He came to Chicago in 1930.

Woman Chokes to Death on a Morsel of Food

Miss Charlotte Korssell, 37 years old, 2132 Morse avenue, choked to death on a piece of food Saturday night, a coroner's investigation showed yesterday. She was found dead near a telephone, which she apparently had tried to reach, by her sister, Mrs. Clinton D. Hollins.

OBITUARY.

NICHOLAS PANTAGES, 45 years old, 1244 North Dearborn street, who had operated a restaurant in the La Salle-Wacker building since 1931, died suddenly last night at State and Lake streets. Heart disease apparently was the cause.

BERTHA HEGNER DIES; PIONEER IN CHILD TRAINING

Mrs. Bertha Hofer Hegner, 74 years old, a pioneer in kindergarten work in Chicago, died yesterday at her home in West Chicago following a long illness. In 1896 she founded the Pestalozzi Froebel Teachers college, 410 South Michigan avenue, and the first kindergarten at the Chicago Commons Settlement.

Mrs. Bertha Hegner.

Born in Clermont, Ia., Mrs. Hegner studied at the Pestalozzi Froebel Haus in Berlin. On her return she founded the college and remained its head until 1936. Her successor as president is her son, Herman Hofer Hegner.

Mrs. Hegner was a charter member of the Central Council of Childhood Education in Chicago, a member of the Chicago Woman's club, and founder of the Mothers' club at the Chicago Commons Settlement. Other organizations with which she was associated include the Columbia College of Expression, the International Kindergarten union, and the Illinois State Kindergarten-Primary association.

She is survived by her husband, the Rev. Herman Frederick Hegner, retired Congregational minister; the son, and two daughters, Hazel Wilma Hegner and Mrs. Bertha Marie Janvrin, both of Wheaton. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1820 South Michigan avenue, with burial in Graceland cemetery.

ROBERT B. PARKER, PAPER COMPANY PRESIDENT, DIES

Robert B. Parker, 42 years old, 4940 East End avenue, president and chairman of the board of the Dwight Brothers Paper company, died yesterday in the Passavant hospital. Mr. Parker, who was a native of Topeka, Kas., came to Chicago in 1915. He served in the 333rd Field Artillery during the world war. In 1919 he became connected with the J. W. Butler Paper company, which he left in 1933 to head the Dwight company, which has offices at 626 South Clark street. Mr. Parker is survived by his widow, Frances.

JOHN A. JAMESON, FORMER CHICAGO ATTORNEY, DIES

John A. Jameson, former Chicago attorney, died yesterday at his home in Santa Barbara, Cal., of complications that followed an operation. He was 69 years old. Mr. Jameson was the son of Judge John A. Jameson Sr., who was for many years on the Cook county Circuit bench. He left Chicago in 1920 to live in California. Surviving are his widow, a daughter of the late Gen. Henry Strong, who was president of the Santa Fe railroad; two sons, Colin and Owen, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Catharine Tudor. Funeral services will be held today in Santa Barbara.

AUTO WORKERS ASK ELECTIONS IN PLANTS OF GENERAL MOTORS

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The United Automobile Workers of America rejected a proposed new agreement with General Motors corporation today and moved instead to obtain plant elections through the national labors relations board. Details of the proposed agreement were not given out.

Taking a militant stand toward a corporation proposal which reportedly turned down their every major demand, delegates from 60 General Motors locals at a special meeting of the C. I. O. affiliate unanimously disapproved the suggested agreement, then recommended elections.

In an election the union would hope to win sole bargaining powers for General Motors employés, a demand the corporation has refused. The union bargains only for its membership under the existing agreement, outgrowth of the 43 day strike in General Motors plants last winter.

KINDLIER MOOD OF WASHINGTON HELPS MARKET

Traders Wait Deeds to Back Words.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 14.—Stocks improved considerably last week in reaction to the week's most notable event in financial quarters—Washington's offering the olive branch to business. The offering was accepted happily, but not without reservation. Wall street still awaits some more tangible evidence of good faith.

The Dow-Jones averages showed a net gain for the week of 7.80 points in industrials, 2.59 in rails and 2.22 in utilities, but these advances only partially offset the losses sustained this fall.

The advance for the week was paced by coppers and utilities, followed by steels, building shares and chemicals. Metal shares were aided by improvement in the copper price structure. Utilities responded to the "peace offering" of the administration to the power industry.

Expect No Sudden Change.

Traders do not expect any sudden improvement to develop from this indicated change of heart by the administration, even if accompanied by definite legislative or administrative action. The rebuilding of confidence in business and finance will take time, they claim. As far as they are concerned, the winter outlook remains the same and any noticeable effects probably would not come into play until early spring.

There is the business situation which needs restoration. Indices continue to show a recession. Last week steel operations dropped. Railroad freight car loadings declined slightly under the preceding week and the corresponding week of last year. Automobile production has been curtailed, with several companies going on a 4 day week basis.

So far, retail trade is holding up well and wage scales have not yet begun to crack.

First Sign of Peace.

First indication of a desired treaty of peace by the administration came when Chairman William O. Douglas of the securities and exchange commission invited the holdouts against registration under the public utility act of 1935 to register under the act and let by-gones be by-gones.

Strength in utilities for the week also developed from President Roosevelt's assurance that private companies would not face government competition in their districts if they would revise their method of evaluating properties. There was some question concerning this, however, as for more than forty years the present method of valuation has been upheld by the Supreme court about fifty times.

Middle West Makes Report on Earnings

Consolidated net income of the Middle West corporation, successor to the Middle West Utilities company, and subsidiaries in the third quarter of 1937 amounted to $1,024,843 before deducting unearned dividend requirements on preferred stocks of direct subsidiaries. This compares with $1,079,877 on the same basis in the corresponding quarter of 1936.

After allowing for unearned dividend requirements, profit this year totaled $902,227, against $1,010,165 a year earlier. The figures exclude operations of the Central Illinois Public Service company and the Lake Superior District Power company, which are not majority owned because their preferred stocks have voting rights.

Earnings for Nine Months.

Consolidated net income before unearned subsidiary dividend requirements for the first nine months of this year aggregated $1,721,879, compared with $1,648,219 for the first three quarters of 1936. After allowance for dvidend requirements, profit was $1,321,847, compared with $1,285,657.

The statement said provision for depreciation or retirements was increased $357,194 in the third quarter and $1,127,722 in the nine months' period. Total taxes, including federal and state normal income taxes, rose $451,333 in the quarter and $1,053,457 in the nine months.

Tax Provisions Explained.

Provision for federal and state income taxes in 1936, the report said, reflected deductions from taxable income by certain subsidiaries of the unamortized bond debt discount and expense on bonds retired during that year through refunding operations, together with premiums and expenses in connection with redemptions. The absence of these nonrecurring deductions in 1937 accounted largely for the increased provisions for taxes this year.

The Columbia Gas and Electric corporation reported yesterday net profit for the 12 months ended Sept. 30 of $13,669,649, equal after preferred dividends to 57 cents a common share. This compares with $12,442,512, or 47 cents a share, in the corresponding period a year earlier.

The Columbian Carbon company and subsidiaries for the nine months ended on Sept. 30, 1937, report net profit, before provisions for federal surtax on undistributed profits, of $3,686,067, equal to $6.85 a share, against $2,654,104, or $4.94 a share, for the like period in 1936. Surplus as of Sept. 30, was $6,147,962, against $5,045,143 on Jan. 1, 1937.

Over Four Billion of U. S. Securities Due in Year

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Obligations of the United States government in the hands of the public which will mature within twelve months amounted to $4,347,780,500. They consist of treasury bonds, notes and noninterest bearing discount bills.

WHEAT OUTLOOK BELOW EQUATOR GOVERNS PRICES

Market Responds to Argentine Damage.

The crop outlook in Argentina and Australia remains the chief price influence in the Chicago wheat market. The degree to which the price level is influenced by the outcome of the southern hemisphere crops was emphasized by the market reaction to the reports of severe frost damage to the Argentine crop last week. A swift upturn in prices occurred in all the world markets.

The first reports of damage to the Argentine crop appeared to have been greatly exaggerated. The estimated damage was gradually reduced to a figure of moderate size as later reports were received. However, European wheat importers were given a severe scare by the first news of the frost damage in Argentina.

American Exports Expand.

The reports were followed by the largest export sales of wheat from Canada and the United States in weeks. European buyers have been withholding purchases of American wheat pending clarification of the crop outlook in the southern hemisphere. Sales by the United States in the last few months have been meager in relation to the anticipations of a few months ago. This postponement of purchases has been based on the belief that when the Argentine and Australia crops were ready for market after the turn of the year, prices would be more favorable to the European importers.

When the news of damage came from Argentina there was a rush to buy wheat in North America and large export sales were closed. The buying fever cooled somewhat when the damage reports were moderated.

Russia Cuts Export Sales.

Russia, whose unexpected rôle as a substantial exporter has cut into the sales of the United States this year, is gradually reducing her export sales.

The range of prices in wheat and other grain futures for the week follows:

Standard of Indiana Raises Gasoline Price Slightly

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced yesterday that prices of petroleum products would be advanced slightly beginning Wednesday because of the one cent per hundredweight increase in freight rates which becomes effective today. The gasoline price advance will be one-tenth of a cent a gallon at many points, the company said, but at some points would not be raised at all because of the method of figuring freight rates.

British Blame U.S. Policy for Money Upset

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14. — Excitement over the recent dollar slump and the scramble for gold appeared to have subsided somewhat today, but the circumstances in which the "scare" developed still were subject to much discussion in banking circles.

Reviewing the situation the London Financial News blamed the absence of any official American denial of dollar devaluation rumors as one of the main causes of accentuation and prolongation of the movement. According to one theory the United States authorities deliberately refrained from making any reassuring statement because they did not wish to discourage the outflow of "hot money" [money temporarily invested abroad] from New York.

"Thus even if they did not deliberately engineer the 'dollar scare' as a method of driving out 'hot money'," said one writer, "on this theory they made use of it for that purpose."

At the same time Swiss authorities made arrangements during the period to divert the flow of such money from Switzerland. The Swiss measures, which will become operative Dec. 1, amount to a refusal to accept any new deposits for less than three months, nonpayment of interest on deposits, and charging of a commission of 1 per cent per annum on all deposits for a period of less than nine months. The chances are, according to information in London, that the Swiss example will be followed by Holland, in which case London will remain the only center encouraging the influx of "hot money."

With prospects of a rush of foreign funds seeking refuge in London, monetary authorities were being urged to induce the banks to adopt measures similar to those of Switzerland to discourage the inflow. The alternative, it was pointed out, would be that the British exchange equalization account would have to acquire big stocks of additional gold and finance it at the expense of the British taxpayer.

STEEL OUTPUT FALLS; LOWEST SINCE JULY, '35

Buying at Minimum, Journal Reports.

Steel ingot production last week dropped 8 points to 39 per cent of capacity, the lowest since July, 1935, the magazine Steel reported yesterday. Operations for the week were scheduled at 41 per cent last Monday, according to the report of the American Iron and Steel institute, but further reductions were made during the week.

The rate declined or remained stationary in all steel making centers except Buffalo, where operations were 8 points higher at 30 per cent of capacity. The Pittsburgh rate dropped 9 points to 32 per cent. Chicago was 7 points lower at 35, Youngstown, 8 lower at 43; Cleveland, 19 lower at 35; Cincinnati, 29 lower at 15; Detroit, 8 lower at 82, and St. Louis was off 9.1 points at 33.3 per cent.

Other points were unchanged with Wheeling and Birmingham at 54 per cent, eastern Pennsylvania at 38 and New England at 30.

"General buying of steel continues at a minimum and occasional awards of important tonnages are not sufficient to maintain production schedules," Steel said. "Consumers seem intent on reducing steel inventories and keeping them at a low point. Sentiment is increasing among steel makers that the remainder of the year will offer little major improvement in demand."

Scrap steel prices continued to decline last week, but quotations were mostly nominal. Railroads have rejected bids on their scrap offerings in many instances, the trade journal said.

Steel's composite scrap price dropped 63 cents last week to $13.41 a ton, the lowest since the last week of July, 1936.

COL. AYRES CALLS SLUMP PART OF OLD DEPRESSION

Cleveland O., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Col. Leonard P. Ayres, economist, said today a new depression was not getting under way in the United States. The current business recession "is not a new depression," he said, "but is another serious decline in the recovery phase of the old depression that has been with us since 1929."

"This is the sixth serious setback since the bottom was reached in 1932," he said. "We have never completed the recovery from the great depression."

The economist said the cause of the latest recession is "that business men have again lost confidence in the prospects for profits. Trade and industry prosper only when employment is general and pay rolls are large. These conditions exist only when the prospects for profits are bright.

"The cure cannot be successfully sought in monetary and credit stimulants, but it could be found through removal of business barriers," he continued. "A restoration of railroad and utility purchasing power would do it.

"The imperative requisite for recovery is a renewed flow of corporate financing for expanding enterprise.

"We need much new construction, but building costs are too high to justify most contemplated projects. The materials for construction of a real prosperity are here in abundance."

BRAZIL OFFERS TO PAY HALF OF BOND INTEREST

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Dillon, Read & Co., special agent, announced today Dec. 1 coupons on United States of Brazil twenty year external gold loan 8 per cent bonds, due in 1941, would be paid at the rate of 50 cents on the dollar, face value. In each case the holder must agree to accept such payment in full satisfaction of the debt. The same procedure will be followed with coupons on the 30 year 7 per cent bonds, due in 1952.

J. P. Morgan & Co. and the Guaranty Trust Company of New York announced, as sinking fund administrators, that the Belgian government external loan 30 year sinking fund 6 per cent bonds, due in 1955, have been drawn by lot to the extent of $1,667,000 principal amount for redemption Jan. 1.

31 RECEIVERSHIPS OF BANKS ENDED DURING OCTOBER

J. F. T. O'Connor, controler of the currency, yesterday announced the completion of liquidation of thirty-one receiverships during October. This makes a total of 857 receiverships closed or restored to solvency since the banking holiday of March, 1933. Total disbursements, including offsets allowed, to depositors and creditors of the 857 receiverships, exclusive of the forty-two restored to solvency, aggregated $315,943,544. This was an average of 79.35 per cent of total liabilities. Unsecured creditors received an average of 66.85 per cent of their claims.

Canadian Cattle Growers Gain $2,000,000 from U. S.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Canadian cattle producers are $2,000,000 better off this year by reason of having access to the United States market than they were before the trade agreement cut the customs duty by $9 a head, it was estimated in official circles tonight.

Dixie-Vortex.

Investors' Guide: Please send me all the information you have on Dixie-Vortex stock.—F. W.

Answer: The Dixie-Vortex company makes a complete line of cone-shaped and flat bottom paper drinking cups, soda fountain dishes, ice cream containers and like products. Principal plants are located in Chicago and Easton, Pa., with a third one soon to be opened near Los Angeles.

The company was formed in 1936 as a merger of the Vortex Cup company and the Individual Drinking Cup company, manufacturer of "Dixie" products. The merger was described as benefiting both concerns in that each supplemented the line of the other, filling in missing products. Economies also were expected to be reflected in increased profits.

Half of the new company's 202,916 shares of no par common stock went to stockholders of each of the predecessor concerns. Holders of $2.50 dividend class A stock of Vortex received 70,000 shares of identical stock in the new company. Dixie Securities corporation, sole holder of Individual Drinking Cup stock, received 108,650 class A shares plus $975,000 in bonds secured by a mortgage on the Easton plant. Exchange of Vortex stock was on a share for share basis. Former capitalization of Individual Drinking Cup, ranking as a private company, was not disclosed.

Vortex reported net income of $606,000 in 1931, $352,000 in 1932, $349,000 in 1933, $423,000 in 1934, and $312,000 in 1935. Individual had net of $541,000 in 1931, $297,000 in 1932, $384,000 in 1933, $357,000 in 1934, and $333,000 in 1935. Cool weather in May and June cut sales of more profitable items in 1935.

Combined operations produced net income of $876,000 in 1936. This was equal to $2.11 a common share after class A dividends.

Current assets were $3,405,000 and current liabilities were $780,000, reflecting good financial position, on Sept. 30, 1937.

Regular dividends of 62½ cents quarterly on the A stock and 37½ cents on the common are being paid —the same as on the old Vortex stock. The least paid on Vortex common in any recent year was 75 cents in 1933. The A is convertible into common on a share for share basis.

CHICAGO TRADE CONTINUES DULL IN LAST WEEK

Retail and wholesale trade in Chicago last week continued dull, according to a report by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Unseasonal weather held back sales of winter merchandise.

The most disquieting news in Chicago business was the action of several companies in reducing manpower. One large company which had been increasing its forces for several months announced a one per cent reduction in personnel, and another company made even larger reductions.

Automobile manufacturers were reported to be encouraged by the results of the Chicago auto show.

Halsted Exchange National Adds $50,000 to Its Surplus

The Halsted Exchange National bank has transferred an additional $50,000 to surplus, bringing the total surplus account to $150,000, R. E. Law, president, announced yesterday. Transfer of a like amount to surplus was made from 1936 profits.

Corn Yields Compared.

November 14, 1937.

WHEN workmen shut off their tractor motors and stopped the grind of mechanical pickers Saturday night they had practically completed the harvesting of nearly 400 acres of corn raised on the Tribune's Yorkville farm. Hybrids were grown on all but a few acres. Yield comparisons are now being made by men at the farms.

There were seven different hybrids produced—numbers 119, 93, 97, 235, G-8, G-55, and G-57. All of the corn will be used on the farm. Figures taken from the farm manager's note book show that the corn has been harvested for use in several different ways as feed for live stock. Several hundred head of steers will be finished for market from this year's crop.

Approximately 16,100 bushels of ear corn is being stored in cribs on the farm. This was produced by about 300 acres and averaged slightly more than 53 bushels an acre for the crop picked and cribbed. A little more than 40 acres were cut and blown into the silos, producing approximately 430 tons of silage. This was an average of about 10 tons of silage per acre. In the neighborhood of 11 acres were cut when fairly green to be fed as fodder. About 30 acres were hogged down early in the fall.

64 Bushels an Acre.

Hybrid No. G-55 made the best showing of any of the seven hybrid strains grown at the Yorkville place this year, according to the manager's figures. One hundred acres of this hybrid produced approximately 6,400 bushels, or an average of 64 bushels an acre. It had the advantage of being grown on about the best soil used for corn this season. The crop matured in 100 days and was out of danger of frost by the first week in September. The manager noticed that the ears are of good size, cobs are of medium size, and the kernels are deep. The stalks were large and some of them lodged before the field was picked.

On a small acreage, in another field, G-55 averaged 60 bushels per acre. Hybrid No. G-8 ranked next in yield, averaging more than 53 bushels per acre on 60 acres and 55 bushels per acre on a small patch of only four acres. A third field of G-8 averaged 50 bushels an acre on 30 acres. Hybrids Nos. 93 and 97 averaged about the same, 50 bushels an acre. Fifteen acres of each of these two strains were grown for ear corn.

Silage Production.

A small field of hybrid No. 119 produced an average of ten tons of silage per acre, and a four acre patch produced an average of about forty-eight bushels of ear corn per acre.

Grubs seriously damaged a thirty acre field of hybrid No. 119, reducing the yield of ears to thirty-five bushels an acre.

Hybrid No. G-57 was among the lowest yielders, producing an average of forty-five bushels per acre in a ten acre field. A thirty acre field of hybrid No. 235 averaged 43.3 bushels an acre.

Hybrid No. G-8 turned out to be a good silage corn, producing approximately twelve tons per acre. Smith's white corn, the only pollinated variety raised on the Yorkville farm this season, also produced an average of twelve tons of silage per acre on six acres.

Hybrid No. G-57 was the highest silage producer in the group of three hybrids and one established open pollinated variety used for this purpose. About thirteen tons of silage per acre were cut from fifteen acres of No. G-57, compared with six and one-half tons per acre on a twelve acre field of No. 119.

Everyday Economics

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

Seigniorage.

Seigniorage is the difference in price paid for gold or silver bullion and the face value of the money into which the bullion is coined. Theoretically, seigniorage is a paper profit made by a government through issuing coins at a rate higher than their intrinsic value.

Under existing laws the United States may legally coin each 50 cents' worth of silver bullion into $1.29 of silver coin. Should the government choose, it could call this difference between 50 cents and $1.29—79 cents—a profit. Seigniorage, in other words, is an arbitrary markup in value of metal used as currency backing and the term is merely a polite word for inflation. Actually, this theoretical profit is not used by the United States treasury but is left inactive.

A paper dollar in the United States backed by silver has a metallic value of only 40 cents. The remaining 60 cents represents the government's promise to redeem.

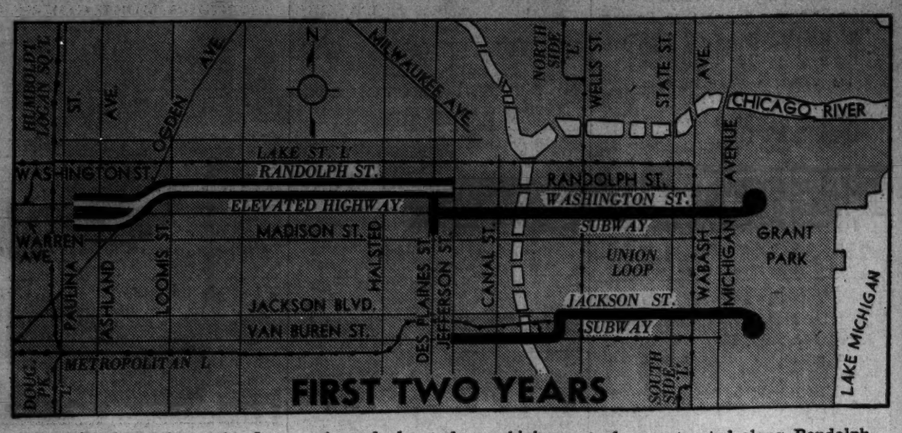
Special Train Derailed in Morton Grove—200 Beloit College Football Fans Imperiled—Fireman Is Killed

THE MAYOR'S TRACTION PROGRAM BY YEARS

Maps show proposed schedule over a six year period for construction of elevated highways and subways in rehabilitation of the city's traction system under Mayor Kelly's plan.



As shown here, the first section of elevated superhighway, to be constructed along Randolph street, would serve the west side. Motorists would have its use within twenty-four months.

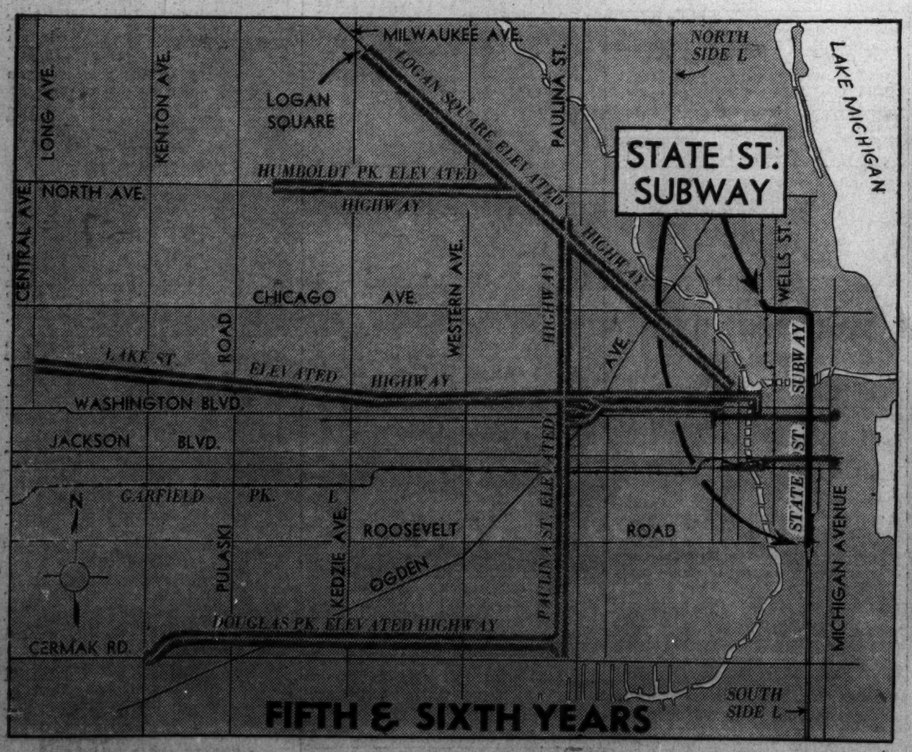
Conversion of the Lake street "L" during the fourth year is part of the program to give the west, southwest, and northwest sides transit and trafic relief.



The State street subway, scheduled for construction during the fifth and sixth years, would carry the north and south side "L" lines under the downtown business district.

WRECKAGE OF FOOTBALL SPECIAL IN MORTON GROVE—Locomotive, tender and baggage car of the Milwaukee railroad's football special after accident in Morton Grove last night. Two hundred students were imperiled when the train struck a stalled auto just south of the Lincoln avenue intersection in the suburb and plowed on for more than 200 feet. Two of the four passenger cars also left the rails. The fireman was pinned under the tender and fatally injured. The locomotive tore up rails and ties as it plunged down the track. (Story on page 1.)

A HUG FOR WIFE NO. 2 BEFORE HE MARRIES NO. 5—As a prelude to his lively wedding in St. Petersburg, Fla., to Mary Louise Uhlmann (right), J. Leslie Younghusband of Chicago embraced Mrs. Shirley Stoller (left), who was his second wife. Last night the lipstick king was abed, suffering, his bride said, from the first stages of pneumonia.
